Phone Service "Unsafe"—

The present telephone equipment and service in the city is unsafe according to a statement made before the city council recently by an inspector of the state telephone company. He stated that the company would share half of the expenses incidental to making improvements which would conform with the state regulations if the city would take the matter up. The matter was referred to a committee with power to act.

WORLD HAS CHANGED LITTLE

Marked Similarity in Certain Newspaper Advertising Today and That of Many Years Ago.

Newspaper advertising of 160 years ago differed greatly in form from that of today, but the difference in substance and intent was rather small. In the columns of the New York Mercury of that period one finds the following articles offered for sale and extolled for their particular qualities:

"Godfrey's General Cordial," which was the opiated soothing syrup used in that day for peevish, teething babies; the "Princely Beautifying Lotion," by use of which the ladies "made up" for the street; "Turlington's Original Balsam of Life," which must have been disappointing since all the users are now dead; "Dr. Ryan's Incomparable Worm Destroying Sugar Plums," "White Drops for the Scurvy," "Red Pills," "Sweating Bowler," "Dr. Raddcliffe's Only True Specific Tincture for the Toothache," "Essence of Balm of Gilead," "Potter's Water, for the Safe, Easy and Specific Cure for the Stone and Gravel," "Key-ner's Pills," "Golden Tincture for Hysterical Diseases," "Genuine Harlequin Ointment," "Levine's Well Known Eyewater," "Bloom of Circassia" for off-color complexions, "Lady Molyneux's Italian Paste," "Best Corn Plasters and Lip Salve," "Venetian Paste for Enameling the Hands, Neck and Face."

The bottle of Stoughton Bitters by which old toppers used to give an additional tang to their nips of whisky stood behind every public bar up to about 50 years ago. Long after its use had been abandoned it persisted in "standing like a Stoughton bottle" because the common expression for immobility.

Rex Ingraham, who directed "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" for Metro will make "Turn to the Right" for the same company. No, Louella, it is not a preachment aimed at the erring ball-players!

Alma Rubens will be featured in "Find the Woman," which Tom Terris is making for Cosmopolitan Productions. Mr. Terris ought to employ King Solomon as his assistant director; that old bird sure knew how!

The first picture that the exquisite Irene Castle has made in quite some time will soon be released by Hodkinson. There's a little discussion as to what the title will be, but on one point everybody's agreed: It's a bully picture!

There is absolutely no truth in the rumor that a screen version of "Tea for Three" is to be presented with Bull Montana, Ben Turpin and Flora Finch in the leading roles!

"The Face of the World," Johan Bojer's famous novel, has been pictured by Irvin V. Willat and will soon reach the screen via Hodkinson. And, believe me, it's something to look forward to!

Pedro de Cordoba is playing the "heavy" in "The Young Diana," starring Marion Davies. He weighs about 140 pounds—which makes him the lightest heavy on the screen!

Herbert Brenon will direct Norma Talmadge in "The Voice From the Minaret." Elvira, you surprise me! What makes you think a minaret is a new-fangled talking machine?

"Rip Van Winkle" has awakened from his slumbers and will soon step onto the screen for the delectation of motion picture patrons everywhere. Hodkinson woke him up.

The facile pen of Katherine Hilliker will write the titles for "Theodora," the famous Italian screen spectacle which Goldwyn is soon to release.

READ BIBLE TO GET PENNIES

Woman in State of Washington Has Found That Scripture Study May Be Purchased.

There is complaint that people no longer read their Bibles. Mrs. Gaches of La Conner has found a way to popularize Bible reading. A few weeks ago she offered to pay a penny a verse to every child or adult who committed to memory verses from certain chapters in the Bible. And now she is receiving the heaviest mail in La Conner—reports from the children and brethren who have earned their pennies and want them at once. Glen M. Foley writes in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. It would require one person's time to answer all the letters and mail pennies. Requests have come from all parts of the United States and there have even been applications from foreign countries.

Hence, general Bible reading, we note, is only a matter of going out and buying it. Mr. Rockefeller and others of his fatness might make Bible reading the avocation of the whole country by detaching a few million dollars and turning them into pennies. But will that variety of Bible reading do any good? Will it stimulate the readers who are after pennies to follow the Christian life? Or is it simply estimated that nobody can read much in the Bible without some of it sticking to him?

VINING THE THEATER BEAUTIFUL

Friday-Saturday Double Bill

A two-fisted frontier gambler—and a freckle-faced kid--

That's Bob Hampton of Placer, the man who was "always searchin' fer someone," and Buddy, the boy scout, who roamed the West with him. Inseparable pals. But the pair became a trio when Bob snatched a timid white girl from the Indians, and came mighty close to the "someone he was always searchin' fer." But Buddy sure did hate that dame!
