ONE HOT MUSS SCHEDULED FOR L. OF N.'S MEET

By HENRY WOOD

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
GENEVA, Aug. 29.—Without doubt, the bitterest fight to come before the second general assembly of the League of Nations, which convenes here on September 5, will be that made in Bolivia's request that the league revise her 1904 treaty with Chili, which marked the close of the great Pacific war.

The fight which Chili has already made known she will put up will have two phases. First of all Chili has challenged the right of the league even to put the question on the program for discussion.

Secondly, should the assembly decide that the president and the secretariat were right in placing the item on the agenda, Chili will then attack the competency of the league to revise such a treaty as that of 1904.

At the time Bolivia first appealed to the league last November, her action was combined with that of Peru, which demanded equally a revision of her 1883 treaty with Chili. Both treaties marked the close of the same war with Chili, but the treaty with Bolivia was only finally concluded twenty-one years after the end of hostilities and the signing of the treaty with Peru.

For the time at least, Peru has withdrawn her request that the league take up the famous Tacna-Arica affair, which would be involved in a revision of the treaty. As a consequence the request of Bolivia, which was only put on the agenda of the coming assembly over the formal protest of Chili, stands for the moment alone.

In Bolivia's original request that the league revise the treaty, the following justifications were given.

First: That the treaty was imposed by force.

Second: That through Chili's fault, certain fundamental articles of the treaty were never fulfilled.

Third: That the existing state of affairs involves a permanent menace of war.

Fourth: That as a result of the treaty, Bolivia is shut off from all access to the sea.

To each of these four allegations, Chili has filed with the league flat denials.

In response to the first, she points out that the treaty was concluded only twenty-one years after the close of hostilities and that no pressure whatsoever was brought to bear upon Bolivia.

To the second charge, she has replied that Chili has carried out all obligations under the treaty.

To the third charge Chili replies that since 1883 she has never dreamed of going to war with Bolivia.

Finally, to the fourth charge, Chili has replied that Bolivia spontaneously surrendered the territory between the original northern boundary of Chili and the province of Tarapaca; that Chili has repeatedly offered Bolivia access to the sea; that for the purpose she has already constructed at her own expense the railway between Arica and La Paz, and that, as a matter of fact, Bolivia has sea-access both at Arica and Antofagasta.

In addition to this refutation of the Bolivian charges, Chili has strongly attacked the competency of the league to undertake the revision of the treaty.

WORKING ON FARMS CURES SHELL-SHOCK

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 29.—Figures from a survey gathered here indicated that country life was the surest cure for shell-shock.

The percentage of shell-shocked soldiers settled on the land, who have completely recovered, was far greater than among those who staid in cities. The Canadian government has put 25,000 soldiers on the land and assisted them to equip their farms with stocks, buildings and farm machinery.

Though many of these soldiers were suffering from wounds and other effects of the war, the average soldier farmer today is in ruddy health as well as sound finance.

"Speaking of Women"

IRVIN COBB points out that feminine shopping does not necessarily imply buying. It means hard work for every one concerned—but seldom results in a transaction involving money.

As a country minister once declaimed: "King Solomon said, and I partially agree with him..." We only partially agree with Mr. Cobb on this subject.

It is true there are still some aimless shoppers left. But they are in the minority. Today most women—as well as most men—are well informed buyers, with a sound basis for comparing stores and values. By buying goods of recognized merit they save themselves the throes of old-time "shopping trips" and at the same time get a better and bigger money's worth.

Most women read the advertisements that appear every day in their newspapers. They make a practice of keeping strictly up-to-snuff on new developments, innovations and improvements. They know just where to go for "this" and who in town keeps "that."

When they shop they generally know just what they want, where to find it, and how much to pay. Their knowledge saves them endless trotting, wearisome questions and haggling.

The advertisements have taken the "hop" out of shopping.

Isn't that worth while?
