FEDERAL ACTION IN MINE WAR AWAITS REPORT

ZERO HOUR OF PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION ARRIVES — MINERS RUSH REINFORCEMENTS TO FOOT OF BLAIR MOUNTAIN.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 1.—The federal government will not take steps to proclaim martial law or intervene in the West Virginia disorders until General Bandholtz renders a report on the conditions, Secretary of War Weeks announced this afternoon.

Major Thompson, intelligence officer in the troubled section reported that the situation was quieting and that up to 3 o'clock none of the predicted acts of violence had occurred.

MADISON, W. Va., Sept. 1.—(From within the miners' lines)—The zero hour in President Harding's proclamation issued Tuesday requiring that the miners return to their homes by 12 o'clock noon today, was marked by feverish activity on the part of the miners to rush all possible reinforcements to advance the guards now holding the foot of Blair mountain.

Officials believe that a general engagement for possession of the mountain is only a matter of a few hours.

May Always Need Armed Forces Says Harding in Speech

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 1.—President Harding, addressing the entering class of the army war college, declared, "No matter where the best aspirations of the world may lead us, there may never be a time when there will be no necessity for armed forces."

"There's coming a time," Harding said, "when the burdens of armament will be diminished. I wish it with all my heart, but it is perfectly futile to believe there may never be armed conflicts."

BOY SCOUTS NEWS TO GO OUT BY RADIO

The United States navy has generously offered to handle official Boy Scout messages by wireless. This will make it possible for national headquarters, Boy Scouts of America, to reach the entire scout field with its half million membership in the shortest possible time, in case of emergency. It will also give scouts an opportunity to become the recognized distributors of weather forecasts, reports of the United States bureau of markets, correct time, Scout news and other information of general interest. In many cases the Boy Scouts of America will be the only connecting link between the navy radio stations and thousands of towns and cities.

Waive Prohibition For Delegates To Disarm Confere

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 1.—Prohibition officials will not make any attempt to keep the disarmament conference "dry," treasury department officials announced today.

Prohibition officials hold that liquor for delegates to the conference must be permitted due diplomatic immunity and all recommendations of the state department for permission of shipments of liquor to enter the United States will have the approval of the treasury department.

Ashland-Talent Highway Contract Work Is Awarded

Contracts for highway work awarded yesterday include: PORTLAND, Or., Sept. 1.—Widening Pacific highway between Ashland and Talent; Albert Anderson, lowest bidder, $5,758.50.

Scenery Exploitation Of Jackson County, Portland Confere

If the people of Jackson county have their way, at least one section of the state will be prepared for the horde of tourists expected to visit the state during the exposition year, 1925. The opening of the rim drive around Crater lake, the decided improvement in accommodation at Crater Lake lodge, and lastly, the visit of Secretary Fall's party, have stimulated the people of that section to a realization of what they have to offer the traveler in the way of scenic attractions.

A connecting road between Crater lake and Diamond lake, to be a section of the skyline route along the crest of the Cascades, is being prepared for, the forestry service having already given orders for the construction of the section outside the park boundaries. The national park service has indicated its willingness to build from the park line to the present rim road. This road, in all probabilities, will be ready for travel in the spring.

A fifteen-mile stretch of the Crater Lake highway has just been graded and rocked on a co-operative basis between state and county. The county's funds allotted, under the terms of the authorization of a bond issue, to this section of the highway will not be exhausted by about $90,000. The county court of Jackson county is now in Portland conferring with the highway commission, proposing a continuation of this co-operative work to the extent of available county funds.—Portland Oregonian.

WRITEUP GIVEN PETRIFIED LADY OF CRATER LAKE

Anne Shannon Moore, the Oregon authoress, contributes an article to the last Sunday issue of the Portland Oregonian, on the "Mystery Lady of the Woods," known locally as the "Petrified Lady," and discovers that this attraction of Crater Lake park was chiseled by the hands of man.

Telling of a microscopic search of the "Lady," the authoress says: "On the main boulder out of which the figure is cut, and just in front of the foreleg, we found what looked like a date—'1843.' The 'one' was clearly discerned, the 'four' and the 'three,' the latter two being cut in old style figures and as plain as print. The 'eight' was more a matter of conjecture, parts not being perfect, but the space was there for the extra figure and the curves more nearly suggested an 'eight' than anything else. Continuing our search, we found the letters 'M. A. Y.' repeated twice, irregularly on the stone, and that was all.

The above facts were heretofore unnoticed or unpublished in the many accounts. Neither Will Steel, the father of Crater Lake, or Alex Sparrow, park superintendent, had ever discovered the markings though they were frequent visitors.

Audrey Scoffs Cowboy Hermes From Texas

Audrey Munsorn

(By International News Service) SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 1.—The Texas Hermes, Cleavor Wood, who stepped right up forward and said he was willing to claim Audrey Munsorn, perfect artist's model, as his bride, and start a line of Greek Venuses and Apollos, will meet with disappointment in his eugenic aspirations, it was indicated today, for Miss Munsorn, who several days ago said she would not marry unless she could find a man with the outlines of Hermes, has retired in deep silence, from which she refuses to be withdrawn.

She has literally gone to the country to rest on the farm of John Bailey, two miles from Mexico.

She was visited by her father, Edwin Munsorn, a real estate man, who asked her if she intended to be married. She replied she did not want to and sent a message that she would not return to Syracuse for some time. Miss Munsorn said she had received no answers to her strange proposal to marry a perfect man and establish a pure Greek colony which would follow the traditions of classic

WHOLE BAND OF MINERS IS WIPED OUT OR CAPTURED

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 1.—Reports from the Logan and Boone county battle line received here indicate that three deputies and from one to twenty miners were killed or wounded in the fighting yesterday and last night. The fighting continued today according to reports reaching the governor's office.

NEAR MADISON, W. Va., Sept. 1.—(From within the miners' lines)—Fifty miners are reported to have been killed or badly wounded in the renewed fighting at Blair today. The report was brought back from the front by the men, both wounded, who had participated in the fighting. The entire force, with the exception of the two making the report, is said to have been either wiped out or taken prisoners.

Reinforcements are steadily going forward to the miners massed about the Logan county border. The fighting front extends from about four miles above the city of Logan to five miles below that place. Three separate engagements took place on the line yesterday. Fighting broke out yesterday shortly after 12 o'clock on Crooked creek, five miles below Logan.

Special trains from Huntington and other southwestern counties have arrived at Logan, bearing 500 men for reinforcement of the citizens' posse, bringing doctors, nurses and ambulances with them. Preparations against civil war is being rushed by the citizenry. Women are doing the work on the farms, volunteering to drive automobiles carrying ammunition and supplies to the battle front.

Haz Kik

Did you ever notice how some folks bring criminal action on inconsequential cases that could be settled in police court, or by civil action? In criminal cases the attorney for the plaintiff (the district attorney), and all the court costs are paid by the state—the taxpayers—while in other suits the plaintiff has to hire his own attorney and make good all court costs when he does not make his charge stick.

Anyhow, if I started out deliberately to hunt a fight, I would try to stay with it long enough to discover whether I was being spanked with a teacher's ferule or being pounded with one of the iron policemen that usually stand in the middle of the street, marked "Turn to the Right." If I thought my legs wouldn't stand long enough for that, I would go horseback, or send a substitute.

HIGHWAY COMMISSION TO PLACE NEW SIGNS ON THE PACIFIC HIGHWAY

PORTLAND, Or., Sept. 1.—Signs guiding tourists on the highways of Oregon will be placed in the next few months, the state highway commission announced. Contracts aggregating $1,000,000 for road and bridge work in twenty counties were awarded or referred to the highway engineer with power to act. Much of the work will be done during the winter east of the Cascades.

There is now available a combination golf and traveling bag.

Charge Is Changed By Enders; Greer Gets Satisfaction

H. G. Enders finally concluded yesterday evening that Mr. Greer had not assaulted him with a "dangerous weapon," and changed his complaint to common assault, alleging only that Greer had given him a beating, whereupon Mr. Greer pleaded guilty before Justice Gowdy and was fined fifty dollars and costs, total $56.50. Greer paid the fine, thinking it was worth the money. Thus ends the controversy. Enders came to the Tidings office hunting a fight, and got it.

C. of C. to Start Forum Luncheons September Sixth

By JOHN H. FULLER (Chamber of Commerce Secretary)

Tuesday noon, September 6, will be held at the Hotel Ashland what may be considered the opening forum luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce, for the fall season. It is desired to make this the largest gathering of this character that has been held here for a long time, for several reasons:

First, as an opportunity to bring before the public the greatly improved character of our hotel accommodations, and to encourage the management in the same.

Second, to review the work of the Chamber of Commerce for the first half of the year.

Third, to present plans and outline a program for the next six months.

Fourth, to afford an opportunity to invite and welcome newcomers to Ashland. It will of course not be possible to carry out the above program in complete detail at this one hour meeting, but printed reports will be furnished and brief speeches made by several members familiar with the details.

Chamber of Commerce members plan to attend the noon luncheon Tuesday, and bring a newcomer with you.

ROSEBURG TO FIGHT PARK EXTENSION OF CRATER L. PROJECT

ROSEBURG, Sept. 1.—A special meeting of the Roseburg Chamber of Commerce called Monday night to discuss the bill now before congress which proposes to include Diamond lake and the surrounding territory within the bounds of the Crater Lake national park. After considerable discussion, most of which was strongly against the bill, a set of resolutions were read and adopted, of which the following is the conclusion:

"Now, therefore, be it resolved by the Chamber of Commerce of Roseburg, Oregon, that the inclusion of Diamond lake and its vicinity within Crater Lake national park would be injurious alike to the development of the immense power of the North Umpqua and tributaries and for grazing within said proposed extension of said park and adjacent thereto, and to the use of said Diamond lake and vicinity for hunting, fishing and other sports and pleasures, and that this Chamber do all within its power to prevent the inclusion thereof within said park; and

"Be it further resolved that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the United States senators and members there of the house of representatives from the state of Oregon and to Hon. Albert B. Fall, secretary of the interior, and to the press."

DRIFTING SHIP SAVED WITH CREW OF 40

DISCOVERY ENDS SEARCH OF SEVEN DAYS—CREW IS SAFE AND IN GOOD HEALTH—TOWING TUG IS NEEDED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Sept. 1.—After a seven days' search for the Canadian Importer, disabled in the rough seas the morning of August 25 and believed to have been lost off the coast of northern California after floating for several days with a crew of forty officers and men, has been found, according to a wireless message received here today.

It is assumed from the brief message that all the men on board the disabled craft are safe and nothing but a powerful tug is necessary to bring the Canadian Importer into port.

NO NEWS OF MISSING LIFEBOAT AND 11 MEN

NORTH HEAD, Wash., Sept. 1.—Wireless messages received at the government radio station here today stated that all members of the crew of the Canadian Importer, who remained on board the vessel, are safe and apparently in good health.

No messages have been received indicating the whereabouts of the missing lifeboat containing eleven members of the crew has been received at this port.

The finding of the Canadian Importer has ended a week's search for the ship, following the report of its being in a sinking condition after disablement 400 miles off the coast from Eureka, Calif. the morning of August 25. A heavy sea was running at the time of the ship's distress, and the Cordova, a freighter running between Honolulu and Seattle was forced to abandon the sinking ship after rescuing several of the crew who had managed to launch lifeboats. A lifeboat containing the eleven men shoved off from the Canadian Importer and were lost in the darkness of early morning before they could be reached by the Cordova. The remainder of the disabled craft's crew remained on board. The steamer Manukai made an unavailing search for the disabled vessel and the lost lifeboat.

The Canadian Importer, in command of Captain Bisset, was heavily loaded with lumber and with engines and wireless disabled was drifting toward shore when discovered. Hope for the ship and its crew was practically abandoned early this week, as it was thought probable that it had failed to weather the rough seas off the coast of northern California.
