mind. The same position was taken by most republican members of the house committee, but western representatives led a successful fight for retention of the tax for this year.

Big Cut Would Result

Treasury experts have estimated retroactive repeal of this levy would cut $450,000,000 from the revenue in the next year, making the income on the basis of the house bill $2,540,000,000 for 1922. The house committee also proposed retroactive repeal of the income surtax brackets in excess of 32 per cent, estimated to cut an additional $90,000,000 from the revenue.

A new feature in revenue legislation under consideration by the senate committee would make possible speedy refunding of taxes improperly paid. Treasury experts have been asked to draft such a provision, Chairman Penrose said.

MISSING PASTOR OF MARSHFIELD ARREST IN W. VA.

been active in church and civic affairs.

At the time of his disappearance, Marshfield friends advanced the theory that he had suffered a lapse of memory, and gone to sea with a skipper friend, to get away from financial and other troubles. The pastor frequently complained of severe headaches, and it was also feared he suffered from a mental derangement. The marshy terrain near Marshfield was searched, in fear he had committed suicide or had been murdered.

Two or three theories have been advanced as the cause for Rev. Anderson's vanishment. One was financial worries, and the other was "another woman." Neither was ever substantiated.

Rev. Anderson is the father of two children, and the filing of charges of non-support by the Coos county authorities indicate all illusions regarding the genuineness of his disappearance have been dispelled.

Thursday, September 16?" says V. O. N. Smith. "That's a capital idea, Smith," replies L. F. Ferguson. "You know they sent a special train down here July 4." "Can't we have something new for an emblem to wear," says J. W. McCoy who joined in at this point, "a band around the hat like the Cherrians and the other boosters at the state fair?" "Why, sure," says Ferguson, "just a white ribbon with Ashland printed on it."

"But we ought to have some special name like the Cherrians at Salem. What can it be?" says Henry Enders. "Well, Peacherians is all I can think," replies Ferg. "Anyway you know we have ordered name plates for autos, and we hope every Chamber of Commerce member will have one on his car as soon as they arrive," says the secretary. "It's time we show our colors, crawl out of the hole and begin to boost a little. We can have all Southern Oregon and Northern California here for our great winter fair, the first week in December if we go after it strong." The start will be next Tuesday noon.

DEDICATE PEACE ARCH ON U. S.-CANADIAN BORDER

hill. It will be a concrete circle 125 feet in diameter, according to W. E. Simmons of Vancouver, B. C., who had charge of the portal's construction. Curving around it on the west and the east will be a roadway forty feet wide, and this in turn will be flanked by a parking strip.

Century of Amity

The peace arch is the realization of a dream cherished for years by Samuel Hill, who has expended much time and money in the United States, Canada and Europe in its promotion. The project was given impetus on July 4, 1915, when there was held at Blaine a celebration of 100 years of peace between the United States and Canada and their linking by the Pacific highway. On that occasion J. J. Donovan, of Bellingham, moved that a resolution be adopted asking the governments of the two countries to erect a marble arch commemorative of the celebration and the century of peace.
