There is more joy in accomplishment than in promises and bragadocia, even if folks don't appreciate your efforts. There's a heap of satisfaction in building a creditable monument and feeling that you have accomplished something that will prove a lasting good to a community, even though you are compelled to run a long gauntlet of crimination and inuendo by those afraid to fight in the open.

Rich Gold Strike Is Made By Two Kirby Farmers

KIRBY, Or., Sept. 10.—A rich gold find has been made on the headwaters of Lightning gulch on the headwaters of Canyon creek, fifteen miles west of Kirby. It was made by Mansfield and Lofland, farmers residing near Williams, Or., in this county. They have brought in some very fine ore running into the hundreds of dollars a ton in gold.

In the early days of mining it is said that the Lightning gulch diggings were the richest and most extensive in this region.

A thirty-five foot shaft has been sunk on the new discovery and gold can be seen in the ore all the way down. The discoverers are experienced quartz miners.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN IS GIVEN BODY GUARD OF POLICE

LONDON, Sept. 10.—A welcome exceeding anything ever given to members of the royalty, was accorded to Charlie Chaplin, America's famous screen comedian, when he arrived here today from New York.

The movie star wept at the cordiality of the tremendous ovation and finally had to be rescued from the immense crowd that had collected at the dock by a detachment of police.

Despite the large force of police, the crowd broke through the barrier when Charlie arrived at the Waterloo railroad station. Thousands of men, women and children surged forward, attempting to embrace the comedian and shake hands.

When the crowd of "star" worshippers made passage on the streets impossible for the man "with the funny walk," a detachment of police took Charlie under their protection and carried him through the crowds on their shoulders.

Four more teachers are employed this year than formerly. Fifteen of the teachers are new additions to the staff and are equally divided between the grades and high schools.

Wife of Frisco Hotel Man Sees Tourist Future

Mrs. D. M. Linnard, wife of a prominent hotel man with headquarters in San Francisco and operating a string of houses on the Pacific and Atlantic coasts, is high in her praise of Ashland as a prospective tourist center. Mrs. Linnard and party stopped at the Hotel Ashland last night, en route to San Francisco where she will end an extended motor trip through the Northwest, as far north as Vancouver, B. C. Mrs. Linnard was accompanied by Mrs. L. L. Malaby and Mrs. R. C. Bartow, of Pasadena.

Mrs. Linnard expressed the opinion that a chain of hotels through Oregon maintaining a uniformly high standard of service would be a great advantage in establishing the state as a tourist center.

D. M. Linnard operates the Fairmont hotel at San Francisco, the Ambassador hotels at Santa Barbara, Calif., and Atlantic City, N. J., and the Maryland at Pasadena, Calif.

Over 2,000 Pears Now Displayed At Pear Show

The pear show at Medford opened this morning, and although growers were requested to bring in their exhibits yesterday, there were many who made entries during the past few days.

Growers who did not find time to send in their pears yesterday are permitted to enter them today, as the judging will not take place until Monday. The growers' names will not appear on any of the exhibits until after the prizes are awarded.

Pears not listed for premiums should be entered and if entitled to an award in their class, they will be given a special prize, as a number of premiums are available for that purpose.

As a matter of convenience to the general public, the exhibit will be open on Saturday evening. Growers are advised that there is no fee charged to make entries to the pear show and admittance to see the exhibits is absolutely free.

Over 2000 pears are now on exhibition, and over 150 ranchers were represented yesterday afternoon.

CUT PRICE GERMAN GOODS MENACE TO U. S. MERCHANDISE

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Sept. 10.—Quick to realize the danger of home industry by the importation of low-priced German merchandise, England, Australia and Canada have provided adequate protection to their manufacturers so that the workers in those countries would not have to lower their standards of living, but America is yet to act, according to a statement issued today by the American Valuation association, an organization composed of the manufacturers of this country.

Congress now has before it a tariff bill, the statement continues, which, if adopted with the American valuation plan for assessing ad valorem duties on imports, will afford the best relief to the evil which today threatens several of the leading industries of America with extinction.

When Australia placed an embargo upon German goods, that government said: "Our boys fought against the Germans and we are going to see when they come home they have jobs, and we are not going to allow Germany to rehabilitate herself at the expense of our own people."

Canada, instead of allowing German merchandise to be valued at the present rate of the market, has arbitrarily determined to value imports from that country at 50 per cent the normal exchange rate of the mark or seven and one-half the present rate. England has placed a duty against German goods for the protection of its people, but with the proviso allowing for the return of that duty if the goods are shipped to the United States. In other words, the duty is adequate to protect the fish industry, but the British premier can take in these goods the duty on them, and then pass them over here and get a profit on his duty plus a profit on the action. And the American is thrown into competition with the low-priced German.

With the German mark fifteen times below normal, as compared with a depreciation of little more than one dollar in the English pound sterling, two cents in the Japanese yen, and about ten cents in the French franc, America faces a problem in arranging a schedule of tariff rates that will provide adequate protection against Germany and not act as an embargo against other foreign countries if the present system of assessing duties on foreign valuation is used.

But by determining all ad valorem duties on the American valuation plan, or wholesale market value in this country, no discrimination is shown and all countries will be treated alike in the amount of duty imposed on imports.

"If the American valuation plan is not made a part of the tariff bill, the lawn mower industry in this country, giving employment to more than 4000 people at an average wage of $5 per day and producing 800,000 lawn mowers annually, will be destroyed," J. M. Lontz, president of the F. & N. Lawn Mower company, says in a statement to the secretary of the American Valuation association. "I have recently received a

SAN ANTONIO DAMAGE RUNS TO MILLIONS

FEDERAL TROOPS ASSIST IN RESCUE—FLOOD CAUSED BY UNPRECEDENTED RAINFALL—BUSINESS SECTION WRECKED.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 10.—Revised figures of the damage wrought here by the flood which swept this city last night and today place the property loss in the neighborhood of $15,000,000. Although an exact count is impossible until the wreckage has been cleared away, it is figured that about 150 are dead.

The fact that the loss of life was not double the toll that has already been taken is due to the heroic work of the soldiers that were rushed to the city shortly before dawn. The enlisted men, risking their own lives in their rescue attempts, are credited with pulling more than 500 from the rushing waters.

Hundreds of houses were swept from their foundations in the south section of the city and were dashed to destruction against one another.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 10.—With estimates of the dead running as high as 500 and property damage believed to exceed $10,000,000, San Antonio is in the grip of the worst flood of its history.

Every building in the business district stood in ten feet of water during the high water mark today when a vast section of the residential part of the city was submerged.

Five bridges spanning the San Antonio river in the center of the city have been destroyed by the rushing waters. Telephone and telegraph service is impossible and trolley service, electric light and power systems are out of commission.

Soldiers from Camp Travis and Fort Sam Houston have been rushed here to prevent looting of homes and business houses that have been abandoned during the flood.

The rise of the river began at 10 o'clock last night and before citizens had realized the danger of the impending flood, a huge wall of water in the midst of the rushing waters. The great loss of life is due to the fact that the river rose so suddenly during the night that no warning could be given the inhabitants. An unprecedented amount of rainfall caused the flood.

The greatest loss of life was in the Mexican settlement where the waters engulfed hundreds of homes before the occupants had a chance to make their way to higher ground and safety.

The scene of misery, desolation and destruction disclosed by the receding waters beggars any description. The business section was a mass of mud and water-soaked wreckage. On one corner three automobiles were stacked on top of one another and partly jammed into a plate glass store window.

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 10.—Families in the lowlands in and near this city are rushing from their homes to seek safety from the rushing waters of a cloudburst which broke with great fury over the city and the surrounding territory today.
