Lourey had just completed his collections from a dozen stores in the city. The bandit jumped into an automobile and escaped.

ting tank and a reservoir were similar. He said that the lower intake dam in Ashland creek had to be frequently cleaned out because of the fact. Water Superintendent Hosler said that from six to eight inches of mud and debris was sluiced out of the lower intake every two years.

clusion of the last school term. The organization now has a membership of thirty-eight women interested in school and child welfare in Ashland. Reading Course Aids Children
The reading course initiated in the schools last year had a marked effect in encouraging reading among the children, according to Mrs. Dodge, and information obtained at the library where more than 30 per cent of the circulation of books is among juveniles. The percentage, which is said to be exceptionally high is claimed to be a direct result of the reading courses. Interest in the courses was pronounced among the children of the fourth to the sixth grades inclusive. Those who took prizes for the reading of the twelve book course during the last school year were: Margaret Higgins, who completed four courses; Aileen Inlow, Daisy Yaryan, Chester Stokes, Hazel Walters, Neil McKinney, Edna Chapple, Lucile Voss, Dorothy Wertz, and Norman Landseth. All of the children attended the Hawthorne school.
The officers of the Parent-Teachers association are, Mrs. Louis Dodge, president; Mrs. W. E. Blake, vice president; Mrs. H. E. Joy, and Mrs. W. G. Prescott.

SHOOTING AFFRAY AT EAGLE POINT: ONE IN HOSPITAL
vers, with the words:
"This is my gun, and this one is Wigs."
According to Deputy Glenn Ter-rill, one shell in the revolver, claimed to be Jacks', had been fired, and one snapped. Two empty cartridges were found in the Matthews gun.

Says Jacks Threw Rocks
Matthews told the authorities that Jacks met him yesterday morning and engaged in an argument. When he started to ride away, he alleges that Jacks threw rocks at him, hitting him in the back of the head. He also claims that Jacks hit him across the shoulder with a club. Matthews has a bump on the back of his head. He also avers that Jacks ran after him, and that in fear of his life, he fired after a warning.
It is also charged by friends of Matthews that Jacks in his auto met him on the desert Monday afternoon while he was riding his horse, and tried to run over him.
Matthews is about twenty-three years of age, of husky build, and came to Medford accompanied by his father, Green B. Matthews. He laughed and joked with friends and ate his lunch with the officers at the Optimo cafe, and did not seem to regard the incident in a serious light.
Culmination of Feud
The shooting is the culmination of bitter feeling between the two, that has been at fever heat for about a year, and was predicted freely by residents of Eagle Point. Jacks accused Matthews of breaking up his home, and threats and counter-threats were exchanged. Last winter the men engaged in a fist fight at Eagle Point, during a dance, and Jacks was worsted in this fray.

Self Defense Plea
Matthews' friends say that he has been in fear of Jacks for months, and that his plea will be self defense. Friends of Jacks say that he had been driven to the point of distraction by Matthews' alleged attentions to his wife, and that friends of both men have interceded for a reconciliation.
About six weeks ago, Jacks was arrested and bound over to the grand jury for alleged possession of intoxicating liquor, as a result of raids in this county by prohibition enforcement officers. He was at liberty on $1000 bonds furnished by Rufus Woods and T. W. Gregory. Officers searched for him at this time, in the wilds of the Huckleberry Mountain district, but he was apprehended upon his return to Eagle Point from an auto trip with his wife along the California coast.
The shooting created considerable excitement in Eagle Point, where both principals have lived for several years, and are well known.

Ford News

We have just received the following telegram from the Home Office regarding effect the recent price reductions are having on sales of Ford Cars and Trucks:

"Branch telegraphic reports indicate daily retail sales of Ford cars and trucks increased 50 per cent the first week since price reduction, with corresponding reduction in dealers' stocks. Marked shortages particularly of the enclosed type of cars are already being felt in many sections. Unfilled orders for all types of Ford Cars and Trucks are gradually accumulating. Our production has not been increased over regular monthly schedule of one hundred thousand cars."

This telegram proves conclusively the truth of a recent statement made by Mr. Edsel Ford that "people are interested in prices, and are buying when prices are right."
