WHY GO TO BROADWAY TO SEE PEACHY SHOW GIRLS? CIRCUS HAS 'EM

There are over two hundred wom en and girls with Sells-Floto circus, it is said, and that's not counting the sixty chorus girls in the ballet of the opening pageantry, "The Birth of the Rainbow," which will start the afternoon and night performances when the "second largest show on earth" comes to Medford tomorrow, September 24.

And everywhere Sells-Floto raises its great tents, the attractiveness of its women performers is commented upon. And they are good to look at, are the Sells-Floto girls. Many of the best known stars are beauties -nothing less. Take Elizabeth Hanneford, girl star of the Riding Hannefords, for instance. Her's is the sweetest type of English beauty, with wholesomeness, demureness and a winsomeness in appealing combination. Then, there is Victoria Codona, the lovely wire dancing star. Whis chic, laughing girl is Spanish. but her type of beauty is American. Nothing of the langorous about her. No, indeed. You see her prototype U in the Fifth Avenue tea places every afternoon. Clara Codona, her sister-in-law, is a flyer in the big Codona casting troupe. Clara's American, but she is a type that one associates with the beauties of Seville, of Madrid, of Barcelona. Then there are Grace Hanneford, Juanita Nelson, Blanche Wells, Stella Rowland, Ethel Hamilton, Ruth Hendricks, Blanche La Fleur, Bee Sweeney, Margaret Beeson, Nina La Pearl, Elaine Harris and scores of others. They are all pretty, with a quality of sweetness that registers most pleasantly with the audiences. In the ballet, one will see many good looking show girls from the musical comedy stage.

They're trying the circus this year and they like it. "It's great funa regular picnic," said Viola Couvault, well known coryphee from Hitchy Koo, telling her former pals about the white tops the other day. L
