KLAMATH FALLS TO MEET A.H.S. LOCAL GRIDIRON

GAME TO OPEN AT 2:30 O'CLOCK TOMORROW AFTERNOON AT HIGH SCHOOL GROUNDS; LOCALS SET FOR A WALKAWAY.

By GRANT SELBY (Tidings High School Reporter) Ashland and Klamath Falls high school football teams meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for the first pigskin game to be played on the local field this year.

Members of the squad that expects to "bring home the bacon" are: Capt. Leslie Heer, Rush, Ramsey, Young, Aubry, Taylor, Hill, Snyder, Raymond Bowers, Hobson, McWilliams, Knapp, Evans, Ruger, Wertz and Woods.

Following a tryout the early part of this week, the yell leaders for the school were elected at a meeting of the student body. Grant Selby was elected the chief leader of noise with power to appoint assistants later as they may be needed.

The musical number probably will be supplied by boys' and girls' glee clubs and orchestra. The final tryouts for the plays were made this week. Those chosen in "A Woman's Won't" are Marjory McEvanly, Grant Selby, May Beebe, Lile Wintmer, Margaret Campbell and John Gailey.

Considerable work on the plays has been done in the oral English classes and the casts have been chosen from them.

TED THYE AND THOR OLSON TO WRESTLE OCTOBER 21

George V. Adams, of the A. W. Walker Auto company, has matched Thor Olson, of Athens, Ohio, world's middleweight Olympic champion, and Ted Thye, of the Multnomah club, claimant to world's middleweight championship, to wrestle a finish match at the Medford Nat for a $500 purse.

Tickets for the match will be on sale at the Ashland Elks' club and Irwin's cigar store. Olson will arrive in Medford for final training Sunday, October 15.

'Big Game' Take To Tall Timber Avers Hunters

Bob Warner and Andy McCallen have returned from a week's hunting and outing trip at Lake o' Woods in the former's car. They said all the big game saw them firts and hiked to the tall timber, but they got any amount of small game, such as wild ducks, mud hens and even a ground squirrel or two.

The hunters want to inform the public that they investigated the water question at Buck lake, and are satisfied that, regardless of the demand, they are sure the supply would equal all of a gallon per day for this city.

Bob and Andy also tested Professor Vining's culinary ability, and reached home just in time Wednesday night for the big storm, which struck them amidships, and nearly capsized their craft.

Grand Champion Hog '20 Pacific International

PORTLAND, Or., Oct. 14.—A hog is a hard thing to photograph. To begin with, it stands low on the ground and it is difficult to get a background which makes it "stand out."

or not—it has no pride in its own beauty, and that beauty is real enough to those who breed and produce swine—beauty in line, in type and in detail.

Last year Cass A. Nichols, a young breeder, came from Salem to the Pacific International with his champion sow at the Pacific International. She had a hard fight to win, but she does not seem to show the strain.

Club boys and girls are coming to the front. The older breeders are most generous with their advice and assistance, and it is probable that they showed and felt as much pleasure in the winnings of Nichols as Nichols did himself.

The Pacific International Livestock exposition will be held at Portland this year, November 5-12.

PROSECUTION TO CLAIM FOUR HUSBANDS OF MRS. SOUTHARD WERE POISONED

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, Oct. 14.—Evidence concerning the manner in which the three former husbands of Mrs. Southard, alleged woman "Bluebeard," on trial for the murder of her fourth husband, Edward Myer, met death, may be admitted at the present trial, the court ruled today.

The ruling, made after a vigorous fight by the defense to exclude the evidence, was a severe blow to Mrs. Southard and her attorneys. It is the contention of the state that all four husbands of Mrs. Southard met death by arsenic poisoning. The collection of life insurance is declared by the state to have been the motive for the alleged slayings.

Ashland Apple Shipments Double That Of Last Year

CAMPAIGN AGAINST BOOTLEGGING COSTS THE COUNTY $1684

MEDFORD, Or., Oct. 14.—The series of raids last August against bootleggers and illicit stills cost Jackson county $1,684.64, and a warrant for same has been issued by the county treasurer and approved by the county court.

The principal item in the enforcement bill is $756 for the salary of six men at $6 per day from August 1 to 21. For auto hire and railroad fare, a bill of $376.49 was submitted and paid. This embraces the expenses of an auto trip to Crater lake and Prospect, taken by one of the special agents, chauffeur and lady companions.

The hotel bill of the special agents (board and room) amounted to the sum of $312.05.

Evidence and miscellaneous expenses cost $335.90, the evidence being the whiskey, a large portion of which was swigged to determine if it was.

The smallest item on the bill was $4.50 for a telephone message to Salem.

The raids resulted in the arrest of two Applegate and one Evans Creek ranchers on charges of having stills in their possession, for which they are now serving sentences in the county jail.

James ("Shine") Edwards and John Goodwin, taxi drivers, were arrested on charges of selling liquor and bound over to the grand jury. Ernest S. ("Dud") Wolgamott was arrested in Portland on the same charge. John ("Shine") Edwards, for whom a warrant has been issued, has not been seen since. Several other warrants were issued and never served, owing to the flight of the suspected citizens. "Wig" Jacks, bound over as a result of the same series of raids, was the victim of a fatal shooting affray.

Haz Kik

The Tidings has no fight on John Fuller as a citizen. To be a fine citizen and a competent community leader is an entirely different thing. The Tidings is opposed, not to the man, but to the Methods, to the lack of tact, of secretarial ability, of knowledge of the situation generally and the requirements of the situation, of a proper sense of advertising value, of knowledge how to handle men to get the best out of them for the community, of amiability; in short, of all those qualities that go to make up a successful community leader.

Adequate community leadership is a specialized business of which we think John Fuller has not the remotest notion. The need of an effective chamber of commerce is too important to Ashland to longer remain silent. If the Ashland chamber of commerce is killed, the present secretary will kill it by arbitrarily hanging on to the job against the judgment and desire of nine out of ten of the contributing membership. From what they say to The Tidings, many of them have already gone the limit.

WARN AGAINST MOONSHINE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—Prohibition officials have issued a new warning against the public consumption of "bootleg" liquor. The most of the stuff now being dispensed merits the name of "coroner's cocktails," the officers claim. "Less than 2 per cent of the stuff now being peddled is real whisky or gin."

Leith Abbott Is Elected Head of U. of O. Seniors

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Oct. 14.—The only university woman who has ever been president of a senior class, Helen Nelson, of Pendleton, resigned at a senior meeting today. Leith Abbott, of Ashland, was unanimously elected president.

Accused Douglas County Distillers Will Face Trial

MEDFORD, Or., Oct. 14.—The work of securing a jury to hear the case of the United States against Isen Walleck and Brumfield, Douglas county residents, started yesterday. The defendants are charged with maintaining a still in the mountains near Roseburg. The contraption, made of copper and huge in proportions, was exhibited in court as part of the evidence.

Walleck, one of the defendants, has turned state's evidence and will be a witness for the government. The defendant, Brumfield, is no relation to the dentist now on trial for his life at Roseburg, though he knew him well and was from the same town.

The defendants were tried in Portland at the last term of court on the same charge and the trial resulted in a hung jury. The jury in the federal court hearing the evidence in the civil action of the government against Silas W. Kilgore for alleged trespass on the grazing precincts of the Fremont National forest reserve, began its deliberations this morning at 11 o'clock. The government seeks actual damages of $108 and punitive damages of $125.

It was contended by the defense, represented by Attorney Manning, of Klamath Falls, that the defendant had exercised care to keep his stock off the Fremont reserve, and that whenever notified of a trespass he took prompt steps to remedy it. The defense intimated that stock running on the Modoc reserve in California, which adjoins the Fremont reserve, had been driven so they would naturally drift into this territory, and the court's instructions were that the defendant was not to be held responsible, if it was shown that this was without his consent or knowledge.

STATE HOPES TO END CASE AGAINST BRUMFIELD TODAY

ROSEBURG, Or., Oct. 14.—The state expected to complete its case against Dr. R. M. Brumfield, charged with the murder of Dennis Russell, laborer, whose headless body was found with the wreckage of the dentist's car near here, today.

Two women took the stand against the accused doctor during the morning session. Florence Currie, Lake Louise telephone operator, testified that Brumfield visited her office late in July, giving the name of Norman Whitney, and left $100 with her, saying that he would be away for a few days and that his wife would probably telephone from Seattle for the money. The witness stated that she had returned the money because no telephone call had been received.

CONFERENCE ON WAGE SCALE AND FREIGHT RATES

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY RAILROAD OFFICIALS TUSSEL WITH PROBLEMS OF EMPLOYEES' WAGES AND FREIGHT RATES.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—With strike threats emanating from the "enemy camp" in a nearby hotel, 150 high executives of the railroad companies throughout the United States, including practically all the presidents, began an executive conference here today to discuss the policies to be pursued regarding the wages of railroad employes and freight rates.

Simultaneously, the Brotherhood of Executives and the general chairman of the Federated Shop Crafts union met in secret session. The greatest secrecy surrounded the deliberations on both sides. It was generally conceded, however, that the big subject for both conferences was the looming menace of a strike that would tie up the nation's transportation system.

On behalf of the six big railroad unions which have voted to strike, Warren Stone, the grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, requested a conference with the railroad executives now in session here. The executives notified Stone that they would consider his request at their meeting.

The crisis was rendered more acute when the railroad labor board handed down the decision providing for the restoration of piece work.

HARDING PAVES WAY TO POSTAL JOB FOR FORMER WAR SERVICE VETERANS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—President Harding has made the way easier for those who served during the world war to secure appointments in the government postal service. Today he issued an executive order providing that five points be added to the earned rating of all young men and women who had seen war service and who are now seeking presidential postal appointments.

The order also waived all age limits for those persons and permits the time they spent in the service to be counted in the rating as "business experience."

MAN DIES ON S. P. TRAIN; TAKEN OFF AT MEDFORD

MEDFORD, Or., Oct. 14.—John Erickson, a native of Norway, 36 years of age, was taken sick Wednesday evening in Ashland while on board Southern Pacific train No. 54, en route from San Francisco to Vancouver, B. C., and upon arrival of the train in Medford was found dead in the toilet. Death is attributed to heart failure or apoplexy. Erickson was a member of the Seamen's union and of the Fishermen's union and carried an alien seaman's identification card, which showed that he arrived in the United States at the port of San Francisco in April, 1919.

A wire was received by John Peri, who, as county coroner, is in charge of the body, stating that he would receive directions regarding the disposal of the body. The wire was from Jack Erickson, brother of the deceased.
