HAPSBURGS FIGHT FOR HUNGARIAN RULE

EX-SERVICE MEN TO HAVE CHANCE PRESENT CLAIMS

ADVANCE AGENT OF CLEAN-UP SQUAD OF VETERANS' BUREAU CONFERS WITH LOCAL POST OF AMERICAN LEGION; TO HEAR CLAIMS NOVEMBER 7-8.

An opportunity is to be offered ex-service men of Ashland and vicinity to present their claims directly to government representatives. The Oregon clean-up squad of the United States veterans' bureau, which is covering the state to reach personally veterans who have service claims of any kind, will be in Ashland two days—November 7 and 8, with headquarters at the public library.

A. C. Kinley, advance agent for the squad, is in Ashland to confer with Glenn E. Simpson, commander; Donald Spencer, adjutant, and other members of Ashland post No. 14, American legion, relative to arrangements for the coming of the squad. The active co-operation of the local post has been secured in endeavoring to inform all veterans with claims of the visit and purpose of the clean-up squad.

"The visit of the clean-up squad to this city is part of the nation-wide campaign of the United States veterans' bureau to secure and place in process of adjustment ex-service men's claims of all kinds, including compensation, hospitalization, vocational training, insurance, allotments, travel pay, etc.," said Mr. Kinley. "In addition to handling new claims, the squad will make every effort to straighten out old claims upon which final action has not been reached."

A physician is included in the personnel of the squad. He will make medical examinations and in emergency cases is authorized to order immediate hospitalization or medical treatment. If any veteran is not in as good physical condition as upon entering the service and believes his condition to be of service origin, he should not fail to appear before the squad for examination and file his claim.

Men should bring their discharge certificates, or certified copy of same, and any other papers which may have a relation to claim.

Advice will be given on the reinstatement and conversion of war risk insurance, and the new provisions of the Sweet bill governing the same will be explained.

Harvest Dance Proves Success At the Armory

Harking back to the days of corn-husking bees and the "days of real sport," merry dancers gathered at the Armory yesterday evening, draped in bucolic trappings that matched smile-wreathed faces made up for the occasion, and held revelry until 1 o'clock in the morning. The occasion was the annual harvest dance given by the First company, coast artillery.

It is estimated that 115 couples, dressed in bungalow aprons, overalls and other apparel symbolic of harvest time, participated in the dance.

KLAMATH FALLS VISIONARY MAN RECLAIMS LAND

Speaking of pioneers and men of vision, it is well to know that Ashland has a visitor sojourning here for a rest who has pioneered in the Klamath country and had the unusual foresight that marks financial success.

This man is L. Jacobs, one of Klamath county's most prominent citizens, business men and large land owners.

Mr. Jacobs was active in business for twenty-five years in the Klamath country and years ago he saw the possibility of draining the tule lands and reclaiming that volcanic lake bed of rich soil for agricultural use, vast areas of which were covered with shallow water and a heavy growth of tules.

He insisted that the water running out of Klamath river into the marshes could be dyked off and the miles of level swamp bottom drained. To do this was a big job and a slow one, as he had to go to the government with his project and unravel miles of red tape. But he did it, and after several years he got his title to a large tract of this land.

For a long time it looked like the acquiring of this land would be impossible, and friends of Mr. Jacobs discouraged him, but he persisted.

The Merrill country had fine alfalfa and grain farms and got their water for irrigation from the marsh and lake that covered the coveted land. If Jacobs shut off the flow of water and dried up the lake, the Merrill land owners would be deprived of irrigation waters. But Mr. Jacobs and his associates went to the government and contracted with it to furnish water out of the government canal for these farmers by having this acreage of reclaimed land taxed 26 cents per acre per year for twenty years under the state drainage law.

The water was then shut off and thousands of acres of rich land reclaimed, similar to the Michigan reclaimed land which made A. M. Todd, Kalamazoo mint man, a millionaire.

This land is well supplied with volcanic ash, decayed marine life and vegetable matter, and while it is dry on top, there is a flow of water at the right depth to thoroughly submerge and insure immense crops of alfalfa, celery, mint and any root or tuber vegetables or grains.

A Mr. Taylor, of Algoma, reports sixty-six bushels of first-class hard wheat per acre, rye 6,000 sacks from 300 acres of this reclaimed land; so it can be seen what reclamation of the tule lands has accomplished.

It was Mr. Jacobs' intention to colonize the land and help families to locate and improve the land, but his health broke and after an operation in a local hospital he was advised to rest in Ashland for a time, so he is forced to give up active work on the land and will probably put it on the market and retire.

Railroad Shopmen Will Disregard Strike Order

Haz Kik

I am glad to learn that I am not the only "kicker." The last two weeks I have been complimented by hundreds of people on my constructive kicks. They say it is about time that somebody was doing some kicking about a good many things. One of the ladies who lives near the corner of Helman and Laurel streets says she has a kick. Notwithstanding the folks thereabouts have tried for several years to have proper drainage put in to take care of the flood waters, the last big rain brought down tons of earth and deposited it on her sidewalk and under her house, and that the proper authorities should get busy and make some arrangements to take care of the flood waters. I think so, too. HAZ KIK.

Six Hundred Texan Trainmen on Strike Despite Board's Orders

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 22.—The railroad shopmen will not walk out when the strike of railroad employes is called by the "big four" brotherhoods and switchmen, it was learned authoritatively today.

The decision of the shopmen not to quit their jobs makes the strike, if one develops, a strictly "brotherhood" affair. Although the maintenance of way and one or two other unions voted to favor the strike, it is considered to be certain that they will defer action in view of the position taken by the shop employes.

PORTLAND BASEBALL CLUB, PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE, IS SOLD FOR $150,000

PORTLAND, Or., Oct. 22.—The Portland baseball club of the Pacific Coast league was sold to William H. Klepper, former president of the Seattle club, by McCredies. The price paid for the franchise, players and equipment was $150,000. Klepper will incorporate the club, taking in about forty Portland business men, he announced after the purchase. He said that he would spend considerable money for new players and for improvement of the park unless a new location is secured.

LUMBER COMPANY PRESENTS STRONG CASE IN DEFENSE

MEDFORD, Or., Oct. 22.—Good progress was made in the civil action in the federal court between the McComber-Savidge Lumber company and the Big Pines Lumber company for the recovery of approximately $29,000 for alleged non-fulfillment of contract.

The principal witness and first one for the defense was Bert Theirolf, who told the jury that the Big Pines Lumber company had made every effort consistent "with good sawmill practice" to meet the demands of the contract and that when all efforts to secure shipping orders from the plaintiff company for the timber cut, it served notice an effort would be made to sell it on "the open market."

Theirolf underwent a long cross-examination, but his straightforward story was unshaken. At one juncture the court again called attention to the conflict in the clauses of the contract under dispute, bringing spirited arguments from both sides. Much of Theirolf's testimony was in rebuttal of that offered by Mr. McComber and Mr. Savidge.

A. L. Hill, president of the Big Pines company, was a witness this morning, but was only on the stand for a short time.

Thomas E. Mordhoff, a grader for the Weed company, was called as an expert witness by the defense and testified regarding the lumber in the Southern Oregon Lumber company's yard, and said it was well manufactured. Other employes of the lumber company will be called to refute the allegation of the plaintiff that the timber was not cut according to specifications.

The case will probably go to the jury today.

Nurse Springs Sensation; Hits Rappe Character

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 22.—Sensational information bearing on the early life of Virginia Rappe, beautiful Los Angeles movie actress who died shortly after a party staged by Roscoe Arbuckle in the St. Francis hotel in San Francisco several weeks ago, was given today in a deposition made by Virginia Warren, Chicago nurse.

Miss Warren declared that she was a private nurse in attendance on Miss Rappe in 1908. At that time Virginia, then only 14 years old, was in a delicate condition and was in the care of a midwife.

A reception given at the Methodist Episcopal church yesterday evening and attended by more than 150 people, and the double duty of honoring Rev. Charles A. The address of welcome was given by M. C. Reed on behalf of the church. He was followed by Rev. C. F. Koehler, pastor of the Presbyterian church, who also delivered a welcoming address.

Musical entertainment was supplied by the men's chorus. Two solos were given by Mrs. W. M. Denton and Mrs. Knapp. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the entertainment, which lasted from 8 o'clock to 10:30 o'clock in the evening.
