HIGHWAY HOODLUMS

Frequent complaint has lately been voiced by Ashland women of the men employed on the Pacific highway a short distance north of Talent. According to the complaints of the women, the men spend a large share of their working day watching women passing in automobiles. The men exercise all their vocal powers in an effort to attract attention by shouting rowdy remarks. Such a condition should not be tolerated by the officials in charge of the work. Such characters are not big enough for their jobs and should be replaced by real men.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM

Editor Tidings:
 I hear on the street and was told by the city attorney, that I showed a lack of information in saying what I did about the city's funds; that these funds were not left in the banks; that the funds of these departments were invested in high rate interest bearing bonds or securities. Now, if that is true, it only makes the matter appear worse. To illustrate: Now, you take one of these high rate, interest bearing securities of your own, providing you have one, and need the money on it, down to one of the banks and ask them to give you the money, you having paid one hundred cents on the dollar when you bought it. When they hand it to you it will appear on its face that the teller has made a mistake in the change, but just stick it in your pocket and go away, honey. That teller ain't made no mistake in the change; it's the exact amount that he is giving you for the thing. Now, if the city duds had the funds of the different departments of the city invested in high rate, interest bearing securities, how could they have spent all these funds making up the $18,000 asked for in the bond issue, without giving up about the same rate of discount that you give up when you sold your bond? Would not this discount sheet, if they showed it to you, reveal a worse condition than the other, if they are telling the truth.

TRIAL OF ACCUSED BOOZE DEALER HAS TRAGEDY REMINDER

MEDFORD, Or., Nov. 4.—The defense in the trial of John Goodwin, charged with selling intoxicating liquor began yesterday morning, and a note of tragedy crept into the proceedings.

Goodwin testified in his own behalf and told of his war service overseas, and of driving A. B. Gates, star witness for the state, to the Applegate, and the purchase of a bottle of liquor through the medium of a third party, who drove alongside the Goodwin car and received $20 for the bottle.

"Who was that man?" asked Attorney Boggs for the state.

"That man is dead," replied the witness.

The witness refused to give his name until ordered by the court, and then in a low voice said it was Wig Jacks. Jacks was the victim of a shooting affray at Eagle Point last September.

Goodwin denied that he had made any offer to Special Officer Sandifer to plead guilty if the charge was reduced to aiding and abetting the sale of liquor, and stoutly maintained that he had always insisted that he was innocent.

P. C. Bigham, night officer Charles Adams and L. M. Schermerhorn appeared as character witnesses for the defendant, testifying solely to his reputation.

Bryan Pierce was called and testified that Goodwin's reputation for truth and veracity was bad. Pierce, under cross examination, could give no definite testimony as to time or place.

S. B. Sandifer, Glenn O. Taylor, and Sheriff C. E. Terrill testified to evidence given by A. B. Gates at the preliminary hearing. Attorney Boggs began the opening argument for the state at 11 o'clock.

After spending most of Wednesday in selecting a jury, the state opened its case in the trial of John Goodwin, charged with violation of the prohibition law in selling intoxicating liquor.

Chevrolet Pilot Claims Gas, Oil, Mileage, Record

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—"It can't be done," received another body blow when Julius Dusevoir pulled into the Ferry building in San Francisco Wednesday evening, October 5, in his five passenger Chevrolet after hanging up a record of 1116 miles on 37 gallons of gasoline and less than five quarts of lubricating oil.

Less because Dusevoir left for Los Angeles with oil still in his crankcase, after making the Seattle to San Francisco run. At Seattle the crankcase of Dusevoir's Chevrolet was filled with Zerolene No. 5 and Douglas A. Shearer, secretary of the Automobile club of Western Washington, sealed the breather pipe and the four clamps on the Chevrolet hood. Upon arrival at San Francisco, Dusevoir refused to have his breather pipe seal broken and left Thursday for Los Angeles with the original oil still in his crankcase.

Seattle to San Francisco—1116 miles on one filling of Zerolene oil No. 6. Crank case sealed by A. A. A. Using Red Crown gasoline.

Dusevoir's record run was not a speed record, but as an economy run it stands out brilliantly among the many economy runs completed on the Pacific coast highways. Eight gallons of Red Crown gasoline were poured into the tank of his Chevrolet at Seattle, eight gallons of Red Crown were added at a Portland Standard Oil station, two gallons Eugene, Or., nine more at Roseburg mountains, eight gallons added at Redding, Calif., and seven more at a Standard Oil station in Sacramento—a total of 42 gallons, and Dusevoir pulled into the Ferry building in San Francisco with five gallons of Red Crown gasoline in his tank. This established an average of 30 miles to the gallon of Red Crown on the 1116 mile run.

Five quarts of Zerolene No. 5 were poured into the crankcase at Seattle. The breather pipe was sealed by the secretary of the A. A. A., and when upon arrival at San Francisco, with the seal unbroken, Dusevoir found he still had oil in his crankcase, he decided to push on as far as possible toward Los Angeles. By all the averages known to motorists, Dusevoir should have been out of oil on his arrival in San Francisco, for that would give him an average of 224 miles per quart of lubricant or 900 miles per gallon.

 But it is not enough merely to insure.
 Let us issue the policy so that it will pay your wife an income of $100 or $200 a month as long as she lives, instead of a lump sum for her to invest.
 This makes sure that your life insurance will always provide her a living—and will not go to some oil stock promoter or advising friend who may unwisely invest the money for her.
