What Constitutes Advertising
 In order to allay a misunderstanding among some as to what constitutes news and what advertising, we print this very simple rule, which is used by newspapers to differentiate between them: "ALL future events, where an admission charge is made or a collection is taken IS ADVERTISING." (This applies to organizations and societies of every kind as well as to individuals. All reports of such activities after they have occurred is news. All coming social or organization meetings of societies where no money contribution is solicited, initiation charged, or collection taken IS NEWS.)

PUBLIC FORUM

Ashland, Or., Nov. 17.
 Editor the Tidings:

I have just been thinking about what was the greatest compliment the Creator ever passed on any of his creatures, and have come to the conclusion, that the greatest compliment he ever gave to any of them was to call them his servants. I will only have to refer to a very few instances to prove my conclusion. Take Moses, he was always a servant—never assumed the attitude of a boss. After he got into that little fistie combat, God told him to go up and marry one of Jethro's daughters. A boss would have considered this a punishment, had he been in Moses' station, but he, being a servant, thought it would be a blessing, and, so far as recorded history goes, we are not told of any one who was ever permitted to take a wife and live forty years with his mother-in-law, the fact that he was willing to act as servant of this good lady for forty years was all the recommendation that he needed, and upon her advice, he no doubt builded his great future achievements.

Take Abraham, God delighted to call him His servant, because of his willingness to serve Him, the number of his blessings could only be grasped by comparing them to the grains of the seashore. Take Job, no boss ever received such a compliment as God gave him, in referring to him as His servant. Now take a man who tried to mix his serving with bossism—Jonah, for instance. God spoke to him and told him and said that there were a certain neighboring people that were in trouble. He did not say whether the trouble was over building a reservoir to conserve the water, to enable the city to grow and prosper, or over the building of a school house in which to educate the ignorant. Owing to the condition that existed there I am rather inclined to think their immediate trouble was a school problem. God has never yet called a man to do a work, without first giving him the ability to do the job. Jonah did not act as a servant, in this part of the program, notwithstanding that, he was probably a professor in one of the schools in his home town and amply qualified to do the work that the Lord had called him to do; but instead he went down to the sea and got to studying the mechanism of sailing boats, and just the minute he took up the job of being a boss instead of a servant he got in trouble. After the storm when he came to himself and took up the attitude of a servant, he went out afoot and accomplished the greatest piece of missionary work that was ever done in so short a time in all history, but with all his great ability he never caught the spirit of his work. He sulked; he got under a gourd vine; he had not learned the spirit of repentance.

These great men that I have spoken of remind me of our city officials, not that they are like them—but because they are not. After the quoting of this bit of history, which do you think it pays the best to be: a servant or a boss—if you are supposed to be acting under delegated authority?

Pres. Ladies Are Entertained By Phoenix Society

The Phoenix Missionary society entertained the Ashland Presbyterian auxiliary yesterday, at Phoenix. Fifty-three ladies, enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Dr. Mongram.

Mrs. Norris led in the Quiet Hour in Bible lesson, prayer and a beautiful reading, developing the idea of "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto Me."

Mrs. Walter Frazer Brown gave the synodical report so vividly that all felt they had been to La Grande also.

The Ashland Guild gave a delightfully funny little play, entitled "The Clinic of a Missionary Specialist."

During the social hour following refreshments were served by the hostesses. The Ashland ladies feel that they were royally treated and hope the Phoenix society will return the visit in the near future.

Mrs. J. W. McCoy, H. B. Plummer, F. H. Johnson, and Miss Edith Robison drove their cars and conveyed the Ashland women down and back.

Circuit Court Is Occupied By Civil Suits

JACKSONVILLE, Or., Nov. 17.—Tuesday's afternoon session of the circuit court was occupied with a breach of contract suit, the plaintiff being F. L. Touville, and the defendant being the Farm Bureau Co-operative association. The testimony was very much involved, dealing with business agreements, checks, receipts, and duplicate pages of the farm bureau accounts. The case went to the jury this morning and upon consideration of the evidence the plaintiff was awarded one-half of the amount for which he was bringing suit, namely $364.50.

There are sixteen more cases to be tried before the termination of

Stories of Roy Gardner Rivalled By Auto Search

Wild tales of the exploits of Roy Gardner, rival of Jesse James and the Dalton brothers, are rivalled by the story centering about two shining badges of authority and a brace of revolvers listed among the police exhibits and used in a "north, east, south and west search," as Chief of Police Hatcher puts it, for an Overland coupe belonging to A. L. Lamb, local contractor.

The car, reported as stolen at the police station Tuesday afternoon was "recovered" within fifteen minutes in front of Frank Jordan's electric shop where it had been taken by the electrician for the purpose of installing a new battery, according to Chief Hatcher. A forgotten order by Mr. Lamb for the repair work is said to be the cause of the mixup.

According to the police, Mr. Lamb and his assistant, J. P. Ingram, reported the loss and asked for deputy police badges and revolvers to take part in the search. During the first five minutes of the search, men were detailed to points on the Pacific highway, Medford police were guarding the entrance to that city, action had been taken by the sheriff's office and the sheriff of Siskiyou county, Calif., was watching for the "stolen" auto. Police claim that both Lamb and Ingram passed the car in their rush for the police station. Chief Hatcher wants to know who is going to pay a bill of more than $11, expenses incident to the "search."

SHRINERS PLAN "BIG TIME" HERE ON DECEMBER 2

The Shrine will shine here on Friday, December 2, that date having been set for a ceremonial designated in the social calendar's entertainment events as "Hillah's Humdinger Homecoming" for the autumn season of 1921. The committee on invitation, outside of Ashland, includes North Harvey, Cottage Grove; C. O. Porter, Dunsmuir; Dr. R. T. Burnett, Eugene; George S. Calhoun, Grants Pass; J. F. Kimball, Klamath Falls; R. D. Williams, Roseburg; while the list in neighboring Jackson county towns includes Frank J. Newman and J. F. Hittson, Medford; Fred Fick and Emil Britt, Jacksonville; W. C. Leever, Central Point. In fact the membership are in general to spread the news and solicit a big attendance. Locally the executive committee consists of G. W. Dunn, F. D. Wagner and O. Winter. The traditional banquet will be in order, and T. H. Simpson, A. E. Kinney and C. C. Weisenburger will supervise the refreshment service. Carl Tengwald, of Medford, will look after the decorations while Andy McCallen and Bob Warner will see to it that musical accompaniments are supplied.

The event will take place in the Armory Friday afternoon, December 2, with a business session at 2 o'clock, parade at 3, first section at 4, banquet at 6, and second section at 8, an informal dance possibly figuring as an aftermath. Although turkeys are still roosting high, it is not beyond the realm of probability that "a portion of the light or dark meat, please, with plenty of dressing," will figure on the menu. Of course the women folks will be invited. It is the open season for the fair sex, and each member will be privileged to escort a lady to the banquet tables.
