Pell's Powe ful Plowing-

Emil Peil has just finished plowing seventy acres of "black sticky" land for Frank Perry on the Amfrom Talent. Mr. Perry has a couple of tractors of his own, but he says they are too light to stir the ground sufficiently deep. Peil's big Heider tractor loosens the soil to a depth of seven or eight inches, pulling a gang of disk plows which weighs a ton. In order to make the disks cut sufficiently deep when the ground is dry, as it is now, a 500 pound weight is placed upon the gang This style of plowing costs five dollars per acre, and Peil gets enough of it to keep his titani. tractor busy.
