

THANKSGIVING

The three hundredth anniversary of the Pilgrim's first Thanksgiving gives a peculiar interest to this year's recognition of Thanksgiving Day. The people who established Thanksgiving Day had little bounty and many dangers. How much more have we to be grateful for! America today has greater security and greater bounty than at any time before. That all of us may partake of the season's good things, merchants now make their most attractive offerings. Profit by these announcements, so you too may have good cause for Thanksgiving.

THANKSGIVING TURKEY

The most important part of the Thanksgiving Feast is the Turkey, of course. But it is equally important to know that your fowl is good and healthy, so the family may have no after-effects from the "big feed."

A big quantity of freshly-killed Turkeys has just arrived. The prudent housewife will lose no time in choosing one of these fine birds. Prices are lower here than elsewhere.

in places. Thus the igneous mass is now exposed to view in the south part of the district, and extends thence northeastward past the Chisholm mine, and it seems probable to Diller that it underlies at considerable depth a large part of the Gold Hill district.

This igneous intrusion and intense folding seem to have elevated the region enough to cause a new erosion and the formation of coarse sediments which could not be transported far by ordinary agencies. Therefore conglomerates were produced, and these were succeeded by felspathic sandstones during part of Cretaceous times. Rocks produced in this way are now found in the south part of the "Meadows." Along Evans creek from the Meadows northward these Cretaceous sandstones are overlain by a considerable thickness of Tertiary sandstones which contain some thin beds of coal.

The latest rock formation in the district consists of stream deposits, some of which are valuable on account of gold and platinum they contain. They are formed along the streams of the district, but are not abundant along the Rogue river in this district, because the latter is here in a narrow rock-cut portion of its course to the sea.

In a study of the smoke nuisance at Salt Lake City an aeroplane was used to collect samples of air at different levels.

er formations. It is probable that the Paleozoic sediments are also overturned, and that limestone found in the district is probably of early Paleozoic age, and fossils found in limestone lenses indicate that they are not Devonian: Diller would suggest that they are Silurian rather than Carboniferous in age.

Long after the formation of these Paleozoic sedimentary rocks, the region was intruded from below by a mass of molten igneous rock; at about the time and perhaps by the same agency the bedded rocks were closely folded and overthrust to the westward. The intrusive rock solidified beneath a considerable thickness of sediments or other rocks, which has since been removed
