The Way the Poor Boss Felt

Oldest Leatherneck Sees Mr. Denby

Sergeant H. B. Kallowell, United States marine corps, eighty-two years of age, the oldest leatherneck in the world, calling on Secretary of the Navy Denby, who served in the marine corps during the late war. Sergeant Kallowell served as an orderly at the White House under President Buchanan and is a veteran of many wars on both land and sea.

MEDFORD MAYOR DEFENDS RIGHT TO SELL CITY'S LOTS

MEDFORD, Or., Nov. 29.—The fact that the city council and Mayor Gates have sold seventy-five lots on paved streets, which the city had taken over for delinquent assessments, to ex-service men at 25 down and $5 a month, has drawn the following from A. C. Barber, head of the state of Oregon real estate department:

"Information has been obtained in this office that you are attempting to negotiate the sale of real estate. We do not find you are a licensed real estate broker, and would thank you for an explanation of your activities."

After he had cooled off somewhat Mayor Gates dictated the following reply, in part:

"In reply I will state that as mayor of Medford I have offered to the ex-service men any lot in the city, which is owned by the city, at the cost of improvements, and on very easy terms.

"The city has a right to sell its own property without asking anyone's permission, or taking out a license to do so. Seventy-five of these lots were sold within the first forty-eight hours after they had been offered for sale."

COLLEGE MAIDS DISCOURSE ON MARRIAGE COST; $100 A WEEK MEN DEMANDED

Miss Jean Donohue, freshman, who said it all depends upon the man and the girl. They may have an income of $1,000 a week and still not be happy, or they may have to get along on $50 a week and still make their marriage a "go".

Miss Virginia Kendal, Waverly club; said $50 a week was enough; two could live modestly on that sum.

"Yes," added Miss Adelaide Scanlan, "fifty dollars a week is enough—but his father should be well-fixed."

The lowest estimate of what two could live on and be happy was made by Miss Evelyn Carlson, freshman, who thought $35 a week "would do." A referendum of fifteen other co-eds disclosed estimates varying from $50 a week to $350 a week, and with one girl—and exceedingly pretty, too—asserting she wouldn't marry any man no matter what his salary.

Aviators in Europe have found that their planes sometimes cause clouds to form when they are flying at high altitudes in atmosphere saturated to the point that all that is needed is some disturbing influence.

First "Santa" Letter Arrives At Postoffice

The children of Ashland are becoming interested in Santa Claus, and the first letter to that important personage was mailed yesterday evening, and addressed to "Santa Clause, N. Pole." The sender wrote as follows: "Dear Santa Claus: Please bring John one street car that goes and a steam engine and a blackboard with a desk and a bucking horse. John Denton." The letter was completely and correctly addressed and was started toward its destination by the first mail.

All letters addressed to Santa Claus by the children of Ashland will go directly to that place, as Postmaster General Will H. Hays has made special arrangements for the proper disposal of all these letters and results are guaranteed.

John indicates that he believes in the "mail early" campaign of the post office department, and had some idea about time and distance. The local post office trusts the grown-up children of Ashland will be moved by the same instinct of putting across early the desires of their hearts.

Disks of glass that can be revolved by a motor have been designed in England to be inserted in automobile wind shields, the idea being that they will shed rain and snow and provide clear vision for drivers.

By a Japanese process ornamental windows, lamp shades and other articles are being made by attaching filaments of colored glass to plain glass with transparent cement.

WHY IT SUCCEEDS

Because It's For One Thing Only, and Ashland People Appreciate This.

Nothing can be good for everything. Doing one thing well brings success. Doan's Kidney Pills are for one thing only. For weak or disordered kidneys. Here is Ashland evidence to prove their worth.

Mrs. L. Wertz, 129 5th St., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills helped me when my kidneys were out of order and I am glad to recommend them to others. I had dull aching pains across the small of my back that made it hard for me to do my work. My kidneys acted irregularly, too. Doan's Kidney Pills soon freed me from the backaches and put my kidneys in good order."

your correct address," and "if you wish your mail delivered by carrier, have it addressed to street and house number, or rural route and box number." In cases where there was a delay by reason of incomplete or erroneous address there is stamped on that piece of mail the words, "delivery delayed on account of incomplete address."

These campaigns are carried on periodically by the Ashland post office and invariably brings some response and improvement.

The campaign just before Christmas, however, gets far the best results according to the local post office clerks and carriers, as every family understands that it means much to them as well as the kindly disposition to co-operate with the postal system at the great peak-load hour. In addition to notifying correspondents and publishers to provide complete and proper addresses the patron in taking the inventory of his mail should also advise them in case of erroneous spelling of name and initials. The errors in this respect are numerous. It will only require a postal card and a few min-of the Daily Tidings will be issued Saturday, December 3. It will contain between thirty and forty pages, and carry a cover printed in three colors.

Big Winter Fair and Jackson County Christmas Edition

It will be the largest Christmas edition ever printed in Ashland, both in point of number of pages, circulation and general appearance. It will be well printed and will be distributed over the entire county.

We hope to have one or two sections featuring the Winter Fair, and will devote much of the space to boosting that enterprise.
