Husbands Root for Greatest Woman's College

The new million-dollar building of the Woman's Institute of Domestic Arts and Sciences, of Scranton, Pa., has just been dedicated. The Institute teaches dressmaking, millinery and cookery, and, with its record of contact with more than a million women in all parts of the world, is the largest woman's college in existence.

Mrs. Mary Brooks Picken, Vice-President and Director of Instruction of the Woman's Institute of Domestic Arts and Sciences, of Scranton, Pa.

IF ALL the husbands in the world could manage to get out the same eight and form a Husbands' Beneficial and Protective Association— And, if all the members of the Association could contribute to hold back about a quarter a week from their pay envelopes to found a great fund— And, if they should make of their fund a kind of Pulitzer Foundation or Nobel Prize, to reward annually the single agency dedicated to the relief of suffering among married men— Then, the Woman's Institute of Domestic Arts and Sciences, would win four prizes without a dissenting vote.

The home ties long enough to organize. And the basis suggested for its financing is probably impracticable. But in case these things were possible and such an incredible association could be formed, the fund would certainly go to an institution that has taught 150,000 women to make their own clothes, trim their own hats and cook real meals. The Woman's Institute of Domestic Arts and Sciences, of Scranton, Pa., has just dedicated a new million-dollar building. Guests of national distinction attended the ceremonies, including Governor Spruill, of Pennsylvania; Admiral Austin M. Knight, of the United States Navy; Miss Nevea McMein, the magazine artist, who recently painted President Harding; Mrs. Sally James Farsham, who did a bust of the President in clay;...

Mistletoe Window—

One of the finest collections of mistletoe ever seen in Ashland appears in one of the windows of the new Dew Drop Inn, on the Plaza. Beautiful bottles of lithia water nestle invitingly amid the green foliage and waxy white berries, suggesting a Christmas gift that would bless both him who gave and the recipient. Mrs. G. L. Bullen, the hostess of the dainty inn, believes that a good business might be built up in shipping Christmas greens from Ashland. "In Seattle I have paid twenty-five cents for a small sprig of mistletoe," says Mrs. Bullen "and in Los Angeles I was charged $3.50 for a small fir tree not five feet tall."

erintendent, is now negotiating for the purchase of a screen to be installed at the city power plant for that purpose. According to a bid made by a Portland firm, such an improvement would cost approximately $2000.

Action was taken by the council to acquire a lot or lots in the city for the purpose of conducting experiments to ascertain the actual amount of water needed for agricultural development of the Ashland granite soil, a matter which had been a point of much contention. Efforts will be made to obtain the assistance of Prof. Reimer, of the experiment station at Talent, to act in conjunction with a committee appointed by the faction supporting the reservoir project.

A SERIES—No. 2

IF THE WORLD WENT DRY

IF you awoke some morning to find there was no water, you would call a plumber. But suppose you found there were no plumbers, and not a drop of water in the world—what then? You would realize that death had squatted on your doorstep. Next to air, water is the most important thing in life. And of all the world's work none is more important than that of plumbing. The plumber is a craftsman, a business man, a scientist. He practices the science of sanitation. That is, he causes water to flow into the home and waste to flow out. The water that comes in brings with it health, energy, happiness. The waste that goes out takes with it poisons which breed death. You see the plumber is more than a man in overalls who carries a bag of tools. He is the community doctor who promotes health by preventing disease.
