Haz Kik

Your letter to Haz Kik, published yesterday is filled with true philosophy. However, the merchants, of whom you speak, stood loyally by the Tidings in the production of the Winter Fair edition. The trouble is with the Chamber of Commerce, backed by a few leading spirits that allow their prejudices to overcome their loyalty to home enterprises, and all of the community-building logic which attaches to your trade-at-home philosophy.

He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace W. H. Gowdy, who set his bail at $1000, and upon his failure to supply this amount, he was locked in the city jail. At 2 o'clock this afternoon, Ballenger had been unable to raise the amount, and arrangements were being made to transfer him to the county jail at Jacksonville.

PLAN TO HALT USE OF SUBS FIGHT CENTER

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 29.—(I. N. S.)—Opposition of unexpected origin and with strength developed in the secret meeting of naval powers today against principles formulated by Elihu Root to govern the future use of submarines in warfare. Sponsored by the American delegation and strongly endorsed by the British delegates, the proposed restrictions were fought by Japan, Italy, and France. After two hours of somewhat warm debate, the session broke up to meet later in the afternoon to resume the discussion.

WINTER FAIR CLEARS $230 FINAL PROFIT

TOTAL RECEIPTS $1810 AND EXPENDITURES $1580 TO DATE; 150 PERSONS PAID $620 IN CASH PREMIUMS.

Livestock Exhibitors Get $230 in Prizes; City Council and County Court Double Appropriations, and Merchant Displays Bring $300.

Receipts of the Winter Fair were $1810, and the expenditures to date, $1580, leaving a profit balance of $230. Final figures may modify these amounts slightly. One hundred and fifty persons were paid $620 in premiums, the poultry people getting $169 and the exhibitors of livestock $230. The poultry entry money amounted to $101. Sixty-seven dollars was paid for Armory rent, $60 for the Natatorium, and $50 for Smith's barn.

Most Work Donated
The managers of the fair are reluctant to make public the fact that the project shows a small financial profit, due to the fact that practically all the work in connection with the enterprise cost the organization nothing, fearing that some will jump to the conclusion that the management should have paid salaries to all helpers, or that larger premiums should have been paid. A much larger livestock display would have put the association in debt, since the total premium offerings amounted to $1350, which is $730 more than the amount actually paid—$620.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS PLAN TO COMPILE CENSUS OF CITY

Ashland people who feel that this city did not get a fair count in the government census taken a year ago, should give every possible assistance to the Ashland Sunday School union, which plans to take a census of the city in the near future, for the purpose of making a church directory. This list is to include the name and street address of every resident, church membership or preference, if any, and attitude toward Sunday school and other questions relating to community life.

The decision to take up the census project and push it through to a successful conclusion was reached Tuesday evening, at a meeting of the following Sunday school superintendents: H. E. Badger, Presbyterian; G. W. Gregg, Methodist; O. F. Carson, Baptist; T. S. Wiley, Nazarene; H. C. Galey, Congregationalist; Frank Patterson, Christian.

Plans will be perfected at the next meeting of the Ashland Sunday school union, which is to be held at the Congregational church Monday evening, January 9, at 7:30 o'clock. The program decided upon is as follows: The first fifteen minutes will be given over to opening exercises, during which Mr. Gillmore, chorister of the Baptist Sunday school, will take charge of the singing. A musical selection is to be rendered by Mrs. Florence Allen, Miss Eva Poley, and Mrs. Esther

Santa Visits Local "Hello" Girls OPERATORS RECEIVE GIFTS Holiday Spirit Rules Phone Office

If anybody thinks that a telephone girl's life is just one "Hello" after another, that idea would have been dissipated Saturday evening by a peep into the room where the chief operator and her assistants sit enthroned at the switchboard. The Christmas spirit had thoroughly permeated that sacred apartment, judging by the beautifully decorated tree, the piles of presents and the jolly, friendly spirit which prevailed every nook and corner of the sanctuary.

Wire Chief H. S. Aiken officiated as Santa Claus, distributing gifts with lavish hands to the other employees, who were more accustomed to receiving phone calls than presents. In addition to things which were useful and beautiful, there were a number of things which were supposed to be peculiarly appropriate to the recipient. Thus, Mr. Aiken received rattles, baby toys and a jumping frog; S. F. Kelly, janitor, a toy broom, pick and shovel; Mildred Carleton—athletic doll, duck and other feathered things; Lola Coney—a Dickey doll and cock-eyed manikin; Alice Craig—little baby dolls; Bessie McMillan—rag dolls; Bertha Smith—monkey and other comical things; Gladys Inlow—man dolls; Norma Williams—sailboat and similar naughty nautical toys; Myrtle Otterdale, "Bob" sled, put-and-take top; Mrs. Dora Hubbard—

Katzenjammer kids, scale and bank. After the merriment which these gifts occasioned had subsided, other and more valuable presents were handed out. Each girl gave a present to every other girl in the office, mostly caps, jackets, towels, aprons, and other things dear to the feminine heart, and which showed the personality and handiwork of the giver.

The traffic department presented Mr. Aiken with Elks' emblem cuff links. Mr. Kelly also received a pair of fancy cuff links. Beautiful boxes of candy were received from each of the following business houses: H. F. Norton Co., E. R. Isaacs Co., Price's Confectionery, Porter's Confectionery, and Mack's Taxi. Dr. F. G. Swedenburg gave each girl a box of candy, and S. F. Kelly sent up two dozen lovely carnations from the greenhouse. Mrs. Sugg, milliner, gave each operator a corsage bouquet which will not wither. There were oranges and other good things too numerous to mention. Bert Hinthorne appeared at just the right time and took a flashlight photograph of the tree, presents and pretty girls. Ashland is the only place in southern Oregon where the Christmas spirit in the telephone employees blossomed out into a company tree and appropriate festivities, but already others are planning to follow their example.

GIFTS SHOWER EVER TRIPLETS

Baby Daughters in Ewer Family Are Remembered by Many Persons

It pays to be triplets, especially at Christmas time, says the Portland Oregonian. This was demonstrated in the case of Florence Emma, Elizabeth Adell and Laura Ethel—the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ewer, born November 23. The triplet daughters attracted quite a bit of notice at the time of their coming, and they weren't forgotten by Santa Claus and his aides.

Mrs. Ewer said that her daughters had been deluged with gifts from many friends and persons who were interested in them merely because they were triplets. Most gifts came in sets of three. One of these sets was sent by the Santiam Woolen mills, and consisted of three small woolen blankets and one big one, presumably to go over all three babies.

Then there were silver cups in sets of three, rattles, rings, linen and many other things. One contributor sent three banks with money in them.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewer were formerly of this city.

THOMAS OUT FOR JUDGESHIP

State Senator to be Candidate for Circuit Court Judge

C. M. Thomas, of Medford, will be a candidate for circuit judge of this county at the spring primary, according to a statement issued to Portland newspapermen at Salem Saturday, and confirmed by Mr. Thomas Wednesday. He is now a state senator from Jackson county, and the new candidacy marks his retirement from Oregon legislative halls.

The announcement is the confirmation of political rumor prevailing for some time. According to political gossip, Attorney Gus Newbury and Attorney O. C. Boggs will also make the race for judicial honors with Attorney Thomas, all on the republican ticket. It is also said that Attorney Porter J. Neff will be the democratic candidate for the post. The election of judges is supposed to be a non-partisan affair. Another competitor mentioned on the last named ticket is Judge W. E. Crews.

So far no candidate has been rumored or announced for Senator Thomas' place in the state senate.

It is said that Judge F. M. Calkins, present incumbent of the circuit court bench, will not be a candidate for re-election, though many of his friends are urging him to make the race.

PRESIDENT SAYS PLAN VALUELESS

Hughes and Harding Discuss Problem

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 29.—(I. N. S.)—Prospects of another limitation of armament conference being called to consolidate the accomplishments of the present conference and offering a possibility to renew attempts at submarine limitation, began to fade rapidly today, following Secretary Hughes' visit to the White House.

President Harding and Secretary Hughes held a long conversation over armament conference developments and the failure of the meeting to limit submarines and auxiliary craft ratios of the big naval powers.

Following Hughes' visit it was viewed the administration holds the view that very little could be accomplished by having a second conference immediately following the present one.

The only excuse for such a conference, it was said, would be the adoption by the powers here now of a program of rules which Elihu Root proposed for the future governing of submarines in warfare. If the powers agree to the restrictions of submarine uses, then the powers would be asked to subscribe to them. But even this, it was pointed out, would hardly warrant summoning another conference, as the matter could be handled through the exchange of notes.

ASHLAND QUINTETS WIN OVER TALENT

The Ashland Epworth League boys' and girls' basketball teams enjoyed another victory by defeating the Talent League boys and Talent high school girls Wednesday evening in exciting games played at Talent. The Ashland and Talent supporters were expecting fast, close games, but no one had anticipated such exciting games as were played. The Ashland boys won 34 to 33, and the local girls were victorious, 32 to 24.

The girls started their game by sending the ball back and forth from end to end of the court, keeping the rosters yelling and guessing as to the first side to score. No one seems to remember much about the scoring except that the ball flew back and forth like a tennis ball dropping through the hoop fast enough to keep the scorers busy. The first half saw a score of 14 to 18 in Talent's favor. The Ashland girls came back strong in the second half and the final score read, Talent 24, Ashland League 32.

Close guarding was featured the boys' game, and a number of fouls were called, due largely to the small court on which the games were played. The Ashland boys forged ahead of the Talent five and the first half ended 21 to 13. The second half showed Talent scoring with a convincing regularity, until the score was tied. For fully fifteen minutes neither team was over three points ahead. It was a game in which seconds and not minutes were to end the hopes of either side of winning. The final score read 33 to 34 in Ashland's favor.

Mr. Hughes, of the Marcy-Overland garage, refereed both games in a manner to satisfy the most exacting fan, and the Ashland Leaguers expressed admiration for the spirit manifest by the Talent young people. Refreshments were served to the Ashland visitors after the game. Ashland players are planning a return game to both teams in Ashland.
