MORE WAYS WITH DRIED FRUITS

When you have a cupful or less of plump stewed prunes, you have the beginning of a most tasty salad.

Prune and Pecan Salad.—Drain the fruit and cut in pieces length-wise and mix with one-quarter of a cupful pecan meats cut into small pieces. Mix one-third of a cupful of olive oil with three tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, one-half teaspoonful of salt, and a few dashes of paprika and cayenne. Toss the nuts and prunes into the dressing and add one-half teaspoonful of powdered sugar. Serve in nests of lettuce with roast fowl. If a large plat-ter is used they may be placed around the fowl for a garnish.

Parisian Sandwich Filling.—Soak one cupful of prunes over night, drain, re-moove the stones and put through a meat chopper with one cupful each of dates and figs. Add enough orange juice to make a paste that will spread easily. Butter graham or whole wheat bread and spread with the filling. This will keep some time in a covered jar and is good for cake filling.

Stuffed Prunes.—Wash one-half pound of large prunes, cover with cold water and simmer for 15 minutes. Drain and steam until tender; remove the pits carefully from the prunes by a slit in each, then set aside to chill. Mash one cream cheese with one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth tea-spoonful of paprika and enough may-onnise to moisten. Fill the cavities with the cheese mixture and serve with crackers, or arrange in a bed of lettuce and serve as a salad.

Prune Pie.—Bake a pastry shell, and into it pour one cupful of stewed prunes with some of the juice, sprinkle thickly with chopped pecans, add another layer of prunes and more nuts. Cover with a meringue and bake until brown or cover with stewed and flavored whipped cream.

Another great assistance that patrons can render carriers is by keep-ing themselves supplied with and us-ing stamps instead of placing un-stamped mail, with money for the purchase of the required postage, in the boxes. This delays the carrier and sometimes imposes a great hard-ship on him, especially in cold or stormy weather. If preferred, stamp-ed envelopes, either printed or plain, may be obtained from the carrier, are of good quality, and cost but lit-tle more than the value of the stamps upon them, and are redeem-able at the value of the stamps if damaged, but returned in a practi-cally whole condition. If necessary to place money in a box, it should be put in a coin-holding receptacle or be properly wrapped so as to be eas-ily picked up by the carrier.

Money for the purchase of money orders should not be left in the boxes but should be handed to the carrier and a receipt obtained.

Wives and children of the strand-ed men will also be brought to the United States by the government. The bill authorizes the secretary of war to furnish necessary trans- portation.

PATRONS ASKED TO CO-OPERATE WITH RURAL MAIL CARRIERS

By direction of the post office de-partment, postmasters throughout the country have recently made an inspection of the rural routes from their offices. The purpose was that they might ascertain by personal ob-servation and make report whether the roads were in good condition for travel, the routes well arranged, the boxes properly erected, so as to be easily reached by the carriers without difficulty and without ob-structing traffic, the carriers serving their routes as officially prescribed, the schedule observed, and whether the families served were satisfied with the service rendered, or there were improvements which could be suggested in the interest of the pa-trons or the department.

It became necessary, in connection with the inspections, to request many patrons to take action to the end that their boxes might conform with the regulations as to kind, condition, location, or height, and in having the name of the owner plainly printed on them. Also, to bring to the attention of road overseers or other respon-sible persons the need for improve-ments in roads or repair or construc-tion of culverts or bridges.

It is the desire of the department and its purpose, to provide adequate and convenient service, so far as may be possible, to all persons residing in rural communities, but this end can not be attained without the full co-operation of the patrons in the efforts of postmasters and carriers to serve them promptly, regularly and satisfactorily.

Whatever facilitates the work of the carrier is of direct benefit to the patrons, for the greater the ease and speed with which a carrier may cover his route, the earlier and better the service afforded.

So, patrons of rural delivery can greatly help themselves by helping their carrier, seeing to it that roads are kept in good condition and promptly opened after storms, by keeping the approaches to their boxes clear, and by promptly and will-ingly correcting any irregularities af-fecting their boxes when asked to do so.

Another great assistance that pa-trons can render carriers is by keep-ing themselves supplied with and us-ing stamps instead of placing un-stamped mail, with money for the purchase of the required postage, in the boxes. This delays the carrier and sometimes imposes a great hard-ship on him, especially in cold or stormy weather. If preferred, stamp-ed envelopes, either printed or plain, may be obtained from the carrier, are of good quality, and cost but lit-tle more than the value of the stamps upon them, and are redeem-able at the value of the stamps if damaged, but returned in a practi-cally whole condition. If necessary to place money in a box, it should be put in a coin-holding receptacle or be properly wrapped so as to be eas-ily picked up by the carrier.

STRANDED MEN TO BE HELPED HOME

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 13.—Hundreds of destitute former service men, who were stranded in Europe after the armistice was signed, are to be brought home by the govern-ment, under the provisions of the relief measure just passed by the senate.

Wives and children of the strand-ed men will also be brought to the United States by the government. The bill authorizes the secretary of war to furnish necessary trans- portation.

JUNIOR Y. M. C. A. LEAGUE BASKETBALL PLAYERS IN SOME GOOD GAMES

Teams	Played	Won	P.C.
Methodists	3	3	1000
Presbyterians	3	2	666
Christians	3	1	333
Baptists	3	0	000

The fifth and sixth games in the Junior Y. M. C. basketball league were played Saturday afternoon at the high school gymnasium. Both were warmly contested. In the first the Baptists and Methodists faced each other. Carson, Ramsey and Frulan were high point winners, Ramsey leading with 12 points, all from field goals. Carson, for the Baptists, was particularly deadly on foul shooting, converting all of the fouls on the Methodist team into points, thereby netting four extra tallies. Butterfield, for the Baptists, also came up from guard and hooped two field goals. The Methodists won by a 24 to 16 score.

The line-up: Methodists—Heer, forward; Ram-sey, forward; Frulan, center; Wolcott, guard; Chattrin, guard. Baptists—Cotter, forward; Gilmore, forward; Carson, center; Os-lin, guard; Butterfield, guard. Substitutes—Heer, Tilton, Elmore, Edwards, for the Methodists; Cotter for the Baptists.

Referrees—Marske and Wood. The second game of the afternoon was between the Christians and the Presbyterians. Roy Parr and Law-rence Wagner were high point men, the midget, Wagner, netting three field goals for the Presbys, and Parr four for the Christians. The score was tied at the end of the first half and the game looked like anybody's most of the time. However, the Pres-bys headed their opponents with an extra basket and the game ended with a score of 14 to 12 in the for-mer's favor. The usual team work of the Christians was off color during the entire contest.

The line-up: Christians—R. Parr, forward; Kanasto, forward; Hoxie, center; A. Parr, guard; Miles, guard. Presbyterians—Leslie, forward; Wagner, forward; Moore, center; Wilcox, guard; Pittenger, guard. Referree—Marske.

FARM REMINDERS FROM O. A. C.

Early Spring Seeding; Selected Hens Pay; Examining the Bees

Early spring seeding of grain gives the best results, but when planted in rather cold soils the rate of seed-ing should be increased. Spring oats should be planted not less than three bushels per acre, and spring wheat and barley at about two bushels per acre for western Oregon conditions.

Why not set eggs from a selected flock of the best hens, rather than from the whole flock? Wouldn't it pay to raise the average production

Examination of the stands of bees should be made from the middle of February to the first of March. Choose a time when the bees are fly-ing well and make sure that the hive has a good laying queen. The amount of honey store may be determined at the same time.

Attend O. A. C. Canning Course

Cannerymen to the number of 19 who have come from points in Ore-gon and Washington all the way from Olympia to Medford are en-rolled in the canner's short course now being given by the department of horticultural products at the Ore-gon agricultural college. The men are enthusiastic over their work, says E. H. Wiegand, who is giving the course. The course includes practi-cal work in the well equipped labora-tories and lectures, many of which are given by men brought to the col-lege for this special occasion.

CALEF HAS NO TAIL; HOPS LIKE A RABBIT

JEFFERSON, Ga., Feb. 13.—A heifer calf recently born here has only one eye, no tail, and, although she boasts four well-developed feet and legs, hops like a rabbit instead of walking as heifers are generally supposed to walk. Outside of that her owner, George Williamson, says she is a pretty good calf.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE

A regular feature department edited by Mrs. Belle DeGraf

Domestic Science Director California Prune & Apricot Growers Inc.

BEVERAGES—HOT AND COLD

are all satisfactory materials for a teapot.

Except for the sugar and cream that may be taken with it, tea pos-sesses no nutritive qualities. It is somewhat stimulating and very mild-ly exhilarating. The principle and the essential oil which give the frag-rance are the desirable elements. Tannin, a bitter, astringent sub-stance, is the undesirable element. The problem in making tea is to bring out the stimulating qualities and fragrant oil and to avoid the tannin.

This can only be accomplished by pouring freshly boiling water over the tea for five minutes. Water un-der the boiling point will not devel-op the flavor, and if the leaves re-main in the water over five minutes the tannin is apparent. If the leaves are boiled, tannin will be extracted in quantity.

By freshly boiling water is meant water freshly drawn and boiled at once. Using a tea ball is one of the best methods to make tea. It can be attached to the cover or noz-zle of the tea pot by the chain and at the end of five minutes be with-drawn. Scald the pot before setting away and again before using. The proper proportion of tea will vary with quality and taste. Usually one teaspoonful will be ample for each cup of freshly boiled water. Earth-ware, china, silver, or aluminum are all satisfactory materials for a teapot.

Like tea, coffee has no food value except when milk and sugar are used. Tannin is also present in coffee, but in less quantity than in tea and is not extracted so readily as from the delicate tea leaves. When roasting, the beans throw off moisture and de-velop flavor. Coffee also possesses a mildly stimulating effect due to caffeine and the essential oil. To make good coffee requires a pure brand of coffee and a perfectly clean coffee pot, free from discolorations.

To make coffee in a coffee pot al-low one tablespoon of medium-ground coffee for each cup of boil-ing water. Heat the pot, add coffee, then pour over the boiling water. Set over the fire, bring to the boiling point and remove from the fire. Let stand in a warm place five minutes. Add one-fourth cup of cold water to make the coffee clear. Made by this method coffee contains a minimum amount of caffeine and tannin.

The old fashioned coffee pot has been replaced by the more modern percolator. For this method of coffee making the beans should be ground very fine. Allow one tablespoonful of the finely ground coffee for each cupful of water used. Set over the fire and let percolate about five min-utes, according to the strength de-sired. Hot or cold water may be used.
