Aged Man Called To Great Beyond

Levi L. Angle was called by death Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock, after an illness of eleven weeks, at the age of 90 years, two months, and nine days.

Mr. Angle was born in Herrick, Bradford county, Pennsylvania, where he lived until he came to the Pacific coast in the early eighties. He was located at various points in Jackson county for a few years after coming to the coast, but finally moved to Ashland about thirty years ago and has been living here continually since that time.

Mr. Angle was a man of temperate habits and lived a clean and manly life. Up to the time that he took his bed about eleven weeks ago, he was hale and hearty and able to get about as well as many men years his junior.

Mr. Angle leaves to survive him one son, Orra E. Angle with whom he has made his home since the death of his wife in 1908.

The funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at two o'clock from the J. P. Dodge and sons undertaking parlors and the body will be laid to rest by the side of his wife in Mountain View cemetery.

MEDFORD RED CROSS WILL GIVE PARTY SATURDAY

The Red Cross is facing a problem of relief work which is the gravest the city of Medford has ever met.

Funds are very low, so low that all money relief has been cut off from civilians since January 1, only the ex-service men receiving aid.

The women of the community are aroused to action upon realizing the condition and are rallying to the cause of the Red Cross.

They are helping to establish the Thrift Shop as a means of future income, which will need a small sum of money to start the project. But an immediate need for money to assist civilians is pressing.

In view of these facts the ladies will give a card party at the Natatorium in Medford Saturday, February 25, at 2 o'clock. Bridge and five hundred will be played. Charge of 50 cents will be made.

Everybody come and have a real community party. If you don't play cards, bring your needle work. Have refreshments and help to make it possible for the Red Cross to help the needy.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETIES HAVE BIG SOCIAL FETE

The entertainment was undoubtedly one of the largest and best ever held in Ashland, and every one who attended says that for an evening's entertainment it would be hard to beat. From the time the first games opened until the refreshments were served, there was never an idle moment, and the laughter could be heard at times for blocks away. More of these good times are planned for the future, and the young people hope that still a larger crowd than attended last night, will be present at the next gathering.

JACKSON GETS REAL DUBBING

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Charlie White of Chicago won the judges' decision over Willie Jackson in their 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden Monday night. White will meet Benny Leonard, light weight champion, in a bout for the title next month, as the result of his victory.

For the first three rounds Jackson fought like a champion. He was in and out, throwing rights and lefts to the jaw. Willie did most of his work inside. He let White throw over his head repeatedly, which shook Willie up. In the second, White landed a few tough left hooks, which shook up Willie, but the latter tore right in and repaid him with interest. When the fourth started, White rushed after Jackson and tossed his gloves at Willie's head. The Chicago lad was desperate.

Both Tear In

Jackson jumped all over him and smothered him with gloves. Then White drove in a few hard lefts. "Shuffle Along" Boone, squinting from the press stand, started to sing poems of joy in his well-known high tenor. As this round ended "Shuffle Along" chortled a song of triumph. "Shuffle" comes from Chicago.

The fifth round was a hummer. Jackson opened White's left eye in a very prominent manner. Then Charlie came back and gashed Willie's right optic. A wonderful battle, with both gladiators having good, limp orbs. White couldn't do much for his glimmer was the worst. Willie kept pounding away, as if smacking a bespattered squinter were the best thing known. Willie kept up his good work in the sixth splashing and slapping away at the slashed windows.

Jackson went along fine in the seventh, until White threw a few hard right and left hooks. Charlie really annoyed Jackson. The latter tore right in to the bell.

White Hits Cleaner

In the eighth White kept on top of Willie, sending him lefts and rights to the body in rapid succession. Willie seemed content to box at long range, but once rushed White to the ropes. Jackson made a target of White's bad eye, shooting two lefts to it, opening it again.

In the ninth they exchanged lefts to the face. Charlie sent left to the jaw, following it with the right. White seemed to be doing the cleaner hitting. Jackson kept after White, who danced out of harm's way, when Jackson let go a wicked right. The round closed with White sending a straight left to the chin.

A furious mixup took place in the tenth. Willie was the first to break ground after this mixup when they indulged in a clinch. Jackson crashed two hard rights to the jaw at the bell.

Jackson Goes Down

In the eleventh another mixup took place. White closing this round with two lefts to Jackson's jaw.

In the twelfth they clinched often. Jackson received a left and right on the jaw at the bell.

White set a fast pace in the thirteenth, and Jackson was unable to get set for an effective blow. Jackson was floored, but rose and fought back courageously.

In the fourteenth Jackson fought gamely, but his blows lacked steam. In the fifteenth round White kept pummeling Jackson's body, sending him to the ropes. They exchanged blows until the final gong, when the decision was awarded to White.

G. O. P. SENATORS ASSERT BONUS BILL WILL PASS

has fought the measure from its inception, and because a republican president ordered the bill back to committee hearing at the request, if not the command of his republican secretary of the treasury. It will be because there are not enough democratic votes, plus the eight or ten republicans who have been voting their convictions upon this question regardless of party action or party whip, to force the measure through.

What Pittman Thinks

Senator Pittman, democrat, of Nevada, has similar convictions. "I have the utmost respect for those senators who opposed the soldiers' bonus on principle; that is their right. But I have a different sentiment toward those senators who cringe in their seats every time the soldier bonus bill is mentioned, because they have promised the soldiers for over three years they were going to pass a bonus," said Pittman in debate.

"They have deceived the soldiers every hour and they know it in their hearts. They have been corralled and cajoled and whipped into line by the secretary of the treasury and the great interests of this country which are antagonistic to paying out any money except to the barons of Wall Street.

"If it takes as long to pass the next bonus bill as it did to pass the last one that came from the house, it will not be passed until about a week before the next presidential election."

DEATH LIST OF ROMA CRASH 34

LANGLEY FIELD, Va., Feb. 22.—An official army explanation blamed the crash of the semi-rigid dirigible Roma to the failure of the controls "to function."

"The bag caught fire, following the explosion caused by coming in contact with a 2500 volt transit line," said the official announcement. The navy hospital at Portsmouth was officially informed that 34 of those on board the airship were killed. Most of these were thought to have been killed from the explosion.

Eye witnesses said that the Roma was flying at a height of from 600 to 1000 feet when she was seen to be in trouble. A thin wisp of smoke appeared and the craft started downward obliquely.

Before the ship struck the barracks building, a number of men were seen to leap, some with parachutes and some without. Some of those removed from the wreckage were badly burned, while others escaped virtually without an injury.

Sinn Fein Forces Settle Troubles

DUBLIN, Feb. 22.—A fight over the Anglo-Irish treaty, which threatened to split the Sinn Fein forces, has been adjusted. The following terms of the compromise have been announced:

- 1. There will be no election in Ireland before May.
2. The constitution of the Free State shall be the campaign issue.
3. The Dail Eireann shall meet regularly.
4. No party vote shall be taken requiring the resignation of Arthur Griffith, president of the Dail, nor the Dail cabinet.

Eamonn De Valera, in addressing the Ard Pheis, the national Sinn Fein convention, at its extraordinary session yesterday, said it would be better for Ireland to have two armies, each ready to assist the other if the country was imperiled, rather than one army divided in itself.

"I would rather see the country flooded with British troops than give them the irrevocable right to be here," was one of De Valera's dramatic assertions.

"Ireland," he declared later, "is entitled to the dignity of a mother country, and I will never consent to make her the illegitimate daughter of England."

On the Streets Again—

Greeley Crosslin, who has been confined to his home for several days suffering with influenza, was on the streets yesterday and intended to leave in the evening for Weed, Calif., for a few days.

Wants Women to Vote for Own Sex

(By International News Service) NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—A "50-50" congress was demanded here today by Miss Anne Martin, of Nevada, the first woman in the country to run for United States senator.

Even feminists use their sex in politics, Miss Martin declared. She advocated the organization of women to elect only women candidates to office.

"Until women get equal participation in government, county, state and national affairs, women will be compelled to use sex as an indirect influence in lobbying men's legislatures and congress for equal rights," said the woman leader.

Sex Is Emphasized

"Even women who are strongly feminist in their views use sex now in political affairs. They use it when they lobby congressmen for legislation affecting their interests.

"It would be far more self-respecting and direct to organize women to elect selected women to congress and to state legislatures, with the objective of half and half representation in those bodies. To make things equal, congress should be composed half of women and half of men, and until it is women can do little to change laws which are unjust to their sex. Nothing less than direct and equal participation in government as well as in all the affairs of life will win women equality."

Miss Martin declared that neither women, nor labor will stand by candidates who are their friends. There is little hope for success by a third party if sponsored by labor or women, she declared.

"Can Win Nothing"

"Women and labor have not yet awakened to the fact that they can win nothing through the old parties, no matter which party or party candidate wins. As long as they remain satisfied with the shell game against them—and the political game is a shell game, as played by the old party politicians—as long as they allow themselves to be bamboozled by lip service, there is small inducement for sincere candidates.

"My experience has been that neither women nor organized labor support candidates who stand for them."

Miss Martin, who is en route for Europe, announced she had not decided whether to make a third race for United States senator from Nevada.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Numerous inquiries have been received regarding the proper interpretation of section 223 of the revenue act of 1921, which provides that each individual whose gross income for 1921 was $5000 or over shall file a return regardless of his or her net income.

Gross income means statutory gross income, defined by the revenue act to include "gains, profits and income derived from salaries, wages, or compensation for personal service... of whatever kind and in whatever form paid, or from professions, vocations, trades, business, commerce or sales or dealings in property, whether real or personal, growing out of the ownership or use of or interest in such property; also from interest, rent, dividends, securities, or the transaction of any business carried on for gain or profit or gains or profits and income derived from any source whatever."

Clyde G. Huntley, collector of internal revenue, explains that gross income does not necessarily mean gross receipts. A merchant, for instance, in computing statutory gross income, should deduct therefrom the cost of goods sold. For example, a merchant may have gross receipts amounting to $10,000, but the cost of goods sold amounts to $7000. He has no other income. The statutory gross income would be $3000. In case the other deductions allowed him for business expenses, taxes, interest, bad debts, etc., amount to $2500, his net income would be $500. No return of income is required in this case.

A lawyer who is married and living with his wife has gross receipts in the form of fees amounting to $6,000 and his necessary business expenses amount to $4200, leaving a net income of only $1800. A return will be required in this case, as taxpayers' gross income as well as gross receipts is $6000.

BRITAIN ASSERTS U. S. IS DRIFTING TO "WILSONISM"

temper of the United States in the Presidential campaign of 1920 would be the temper of the United States, if not for our lifetime, at any rate for the next ten years or so. That, I am sure, is wrong. America may be moving at no headlong pace—and that is just as well—but she is moving sensibly. A distinguished and authoritative observer of American affairs whom I saw about twelve months ago assured me that there was nothing to hope for from the United States, so far as Europe was concerned, for four years at the least. When I met him again at Washington, just after the conference opened, he acknowledged that his prediction was being completely falsified, but added that neither he nor any other man could have foreseen the change that had come over the situation in ten or eleven months.

"Back to Essentials."

"Incidentally the movement, as the whole history of the Washington conference shows, is back to the essentials, if not the incidentals, of the situation is that in our natural anxiety to establish closer ties with America we must consider not the America of 1921, no: merely even the America of 1922, but the America of 1923 and 1924. We would sacrifice a good deal that we value in order to get on terms with America. But we need not rush, to satisfy the America of 1922, into sacrifices that the America of 1923 would never ask of us.

"That applies to modifications of the structure and covenant of the League of Nations, and it applies to a great many other things as well. As regards the league, American opinion is obviously moving back toward it, and no one can say yet what the final position will be. The same thing is true in all kinds of fields. The pendulum swung violently in one direction in 1920. It is swinging back, but it has not yet reached equilibrium. After the congressional elections of November we may know a little better where we are. Meanwhile—apart from other and well appreciated arguments against dashing in to clutch at America's skirts—there is every reason, on the grounds I have tried to indicate, for restraining our impatience a little till a more settled and considered American policy has disclosed itself."

"DOPER" SAYS HE KNOWS MAN WHO KILLED TAYLOR

count at his Los Angeles bank has disclosed that he withdrew $4000 under the head of "cash" on one occasion.

A report from the jeweler testing the costly golf watch worn by Taylor when he was slain was expected to be received at the district attorney's office. The jeweler tested the watch to determine whether it was stopped by Taylor's fall to the floor after he was shot or simply "ran down." When the watch stopped the hands indicated 7:21 o'clock.

Mabel Normand has recovered sufficiently from her illness, brought on by grief over the murder, to begin work on her new picture.

A copy of a cablegram sent to Taylor by "Mabel" from London, June 26, 1921, has been found in his effects. It read:

"Dearest Bill: Powder box wonderful. Sick abed pleurisy nine days. Feel better. Miss you dreadfully. All love. Mabel."

FORMER ASHLAND MAN KILLED BY IDAHO SNOWSLIDE

Besides the beautiful floral offerings on the casket, the church platform was beautifully decorated with house plants. The bearers were ex-service men.

"At the grave, a male quartet sang the 'The Star Spangled Banner,' and selections of scripture were read by the pastor.

"The large attendance, especially of men, was expressive of the high regard for the departed, and sympathy for those bereaved."

John E. Coder is well known in Ashland, especially by the younger set, as he spent ten years in the local schools and was always active in school and church affairs.
