ing 42 to 5. The boys' game did not begin till about 9:15. The locals did not show as well in practice as the visitors, but, after a few minutes of play, they found themselves and turned in a score of eight or ten before the visitors had a look in. When the first half ended, the score stood 28 to 8 in favor of Ashland, the only extraordinary shot up to this time having been made by Roseburg.

The locals played well in the early part of the second half and had a good lead. It seemed that they had enough to win and did not play so hard, resulting in the Roseburg quintet running up the score more than in the first half. With three minutes to play, the first team was called from the floor, and the second team took their places. While they prevented the visitors from annexing any additional points, they were likewise unable to make a basket in the remaining time.

The game ended with the score standing 59 to 24 with Ashland on the long end. One of the Roseburg boys came in contact with one of the posts along the side of the floor and had to quit the game near the end.

The line-up was as follows: Ashland—Heer, forward; Guthrie, forward; Ramsey, center; Young, guard; Weisenberger, guard. Roseburg—Hunt, forward; Burr, forward; Abraham, center; Rapp, guard; Thurston, guard. Substitutes: Ashland—Taylor, Beeson, Chapman, Wentner, Hobson; Roseburg—Singleton, Hutten, Hawn. Referee—Durno.

THREE TREATIES READY FOR SENATE; REST NEXT WEEK

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 25.—The first step in pushing the conference treaties through the United States senate was accomplished when the foreign relations committee ordered three of the seven pacts reported to the senate. They are: The four-power Pacific treaty, replacing the Anglo-Japanese alliance, with the Brandagee-Harding compromise reservations attached. The submarine and poison gas treaty between the five leading powers, abolishing the use of gas in warfare and limiting the usages of submarines. The five-power naval treaty between the United States, Britain, France, at lydnaj d 5Tr'going T France, Italy and Japan.

Senator Lodge announced that as soon as the Chinese treaties were ordered reported, which he expected to done early next week, he would report all seven treaties to the senate.

seen in latest reports a desire to speed up production in Russia in some lines.

Banks Are Opening 3—Banks are opening in Russia, stores that have been closed for years have re-opened, there is more active bargaining among individuals, and there is less fear apparently that all a Russian makes or acquires will be taken to support the well known Red army.

Of course, officials here do not take at their face value the statements made by Lenine, or his pronouncements contained in the lengthy statement of economy of policy which he promulgated.

Nor do officials accept the word of those who control the soviet press, for they have been shown to be grossly misleading and in the past apparently circulated for effect, or for propaganda, rather than through a desire to disseminate news events truthfully.

This government is not depending however, upon wild statements, or those that are clearly inspired. Its own agents are keeping the government informed of the trend of things in Russia. And the outlook is not so dubious as it was several months ago.

Russia Big Storehouse

The fact that Russia is one of the big storehouses of the world, that her prosperity would at once help to lift the whole world out of the financial and commercial pool of despond encourages the belief that the signs now noted are those of permanent change toward a more stable system whereby other nations safely may deal with Russia and with Russians.

These signs of changes are not so pronounced that officials here are willing to hazard a guess that Lenine's plans, or the changes he has

—and Father did the Washing Once

This incident was told of a local man, in a local home.

The laundress failed to show up—his wife was indisposed—something simply had to be done about the washing, so of an evening he decided he'd be laundress himself.

For an hour he sloshed and lifted and lugged—and in the morning called us.

We have been calling regularly ever since—his hour in the cellar convinced him that washing is indeed no work for a woman.

But we do more than lighten labor—we give saving, sanitary service—cleanse everything sweetly in rainsoft water and suds of pure, mild soap—iron daintily—call promptly and deliver punctually. In a word, we give you modern laundering service.

Try this service and you'll want no more of the old. Phone us today.

effected, have the element of permanency.

Russia's demand for American goods, if met with cash, or with credit that Americans would accept, would of itself largely solve some of the more pressing American economic troubles. It is recalled that Russia was not only one of the biggest producers before the war, but was one of the largest buyers of American goods.
