RUSSIAN TRIED FOR BURGULARY

The trial of William Miller, who is charged with the burglary of the F. J. Huber tailor shop at Medford, was begun in the circuit court yesterday. Attorney B. F. Lindas represented the defendant, who is a Russian and who has resided in this country less than a year. Some of the jurors were asked if they were members of the American Legion, if they served in the world war, and if they were prejudiced against foreigners.

The jury includes three women—Olive Swendenburg and Mrs. Luella Applegate, of Ashland, and Mrs. Ethel M. Sears, of Eagle Point.

The case hinges upon the robbery of the Huber tailor shop and Mrs. Horace L. Bromley was the first witness called for the state. She was seated in an auto in front of the store when the defendant is alleged to have kicked out the plate glass in the door, and fled.

Horace Bromley, who was on the roof of Huber's, fixing an electric ad sign when the burglar escaped, testified that while near the backdoor, some one in the shop said, "How do you do," and reached in his pocket for his keys. The witness said he opined that the man mistook this move as one for his gun, and took fright. A map of the scene was introduced as evidence after Bromley had made notes thereon.

F. J. Huber testified that his tailor shop had been broken into fore and aft, and testified that he was apprised of the crime by telephone and found the glass door broken, with cloth scattered over the floor. Mr. Huber said the defendant had been in the store in October for an overcoat he had made for him. He also told of finding an iron bar the state expects to identify as coming from the Allen blacksmith shop on Bartlett street, where the defendant was employed. Mr. Huber under cross examination, said that three bolts of woolen cloth and two overcoats were stolen and never returned.

J. R. Watkins, an employee of the Union Oil company, testified that he saw a man lurking in the passageway at the rear of the tailor shop. The witness positively identified Miller as the man.

The jury as selected is as follows: Ernest Applegate, Ashland; W. H. Boren, Medford; H. F. Platt, Medford; Kenneth Beebe, Central Point; Nels Erickson, Ashland; C. C. Beale, Butte Falls; Helen M. Sears, Eagle Point; C. L. McKinney, Ashland; C. W. Fraley, Ashland; L. C. Charley, Medford; Olive E. Swendenburg, Ashland; Luella Applegate, Ashland.

THRONGS AT START OF TEX RICKARD'S TRIAL

NEW YORK, March 22.—Trial of Tex Rickard, boxing promoter, on an indictment charging criminal assault on 15-year-old Sarah Schoenfeld began Monday in a courtroom so crowded that hallways had to be locked with benches to handle the spectators.

Assistant District Attorney Percora was late in appearing and the crowd grew restless. Finally, however, examination of 120 talesmen began.

The prospective jurors were asked if they knew John Ringling, connected with the Madison Square garden, in which Rickard is interested, or at any time had been connected with any sporting projects.

Before he was called to the bar Rickard said he was anxious to have the trial proceed quickly, so that it would soon be "over with."

Wishing for sleep is a poor way to get it

A LITTLE wisdom in the daytime is a better assurance of rest than any amount of anxious wishing when nerves are a-jangle at night.

What you do at noon often has more influence on sleep than what you want and hope for, at midnight.

Coffee's drug element, caffeine, whips up the nerves, and when its use is continued there's usually a penalty which no amount of mental effort can avoid.

The part of wisdom, as so many thousands have found, is to turn away from nerve-stimulation and adopt rich, delicious Postum as the mealtime drink. Postum delights the taste, but brings no disturbance to nerves or digestion. Even the little children can share in the enjoyment of Postum at any meal.

It's better to anticipate warnings than to be driven by them.

It's better to encourage and preserve sound nerves and complete health than to listen to the clock ticks at night and say, "I wish!"

You can get Postum wherever good food or drink is sold and served. An order today may be the beginning, for you, of the great satisfaction and comfort which so many others have found in Postum.

Your grocer has both forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.
