school was turning to baseball, and they find themselves with a scarcity of suits. He said if any arrangements could be made to procure suits, he was sure it would be appreciated.

Mr. Beeson asked that further improvements be made on the tennis courts in Lithia Park.

Mr. Vining then explained some of the work being done by the state chamber of commerce, that the body had been divided into 14 departments, each department to carry on certain work. Mr. Vining was of the opinion that the same plan would work out in our local organization, thus getting the benefits of the state chamber. He also suggested that the local chamber need not be afraid to ask aid from the state chamber, explaining that only those who asked would receive that help. He further stated that the president and the entire state chamber expected to make a trip to southern Oregon this summer.

ARBUCKLE TRIAL TO BE FIGHT TO FINISH, SAYS ATTY.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.— Dr. William Ophule, urology surgeon, was sharply cross-examined yesterday on the evidence he gave in the Arbutle manslaughter case, that Miss Rappe's ruptures of internal organs were probably caused by external force and led to peritonitis and her death.

"This is going to be a fight to the finish—none of the no decision affairs this time," declared District Attorney Matthew Brady. "At the second trial we would have secured a conviction had it not been for one or two persons on the jury. We have a stronger case each time we go into court. This time, I believe, the matter will be settled."

"There is no doubt as to Mr. Arbutle's innocence," said Gavin McNab, chief counsel for the big comedian. "He is a victim of circumstances. We have a fair-minded jury and will prove to its entire satisfaction that Mr. Arbutle took no life—that he tried to minister to a stricken girl, and has been driven near to ruin for his reward."

PARENT-TEACHERS GIVE A PROGRAM

The Civic Improvement club held a meeting at the parish house on Second street Tuesday afternoon and were entertained with a program given by the members of the Parent-Teachers association.

Mrs. Gordon MacCracken gave the origin of the Parent-Teachers association, and a few of the things that were responsible for the forming of the national organization.

Mrs. Dodge spoke on what the club is doing today in connection with the schools, and how various matters are worked out to the satisfaction of both parents and teachers.

Mrs. Galey, president of the school board, was present and gave a talk about Ashland's schools. She said the spirit of co-operation was greater at this time than has ever been known in the school work of the city. She urged the parents to stand back of the schools, both in athletics and in the study rooms, and thereby build up a still better school than we already have. She especially urged that more parents visit school and see what is being accomplished there and when something is said in regard to conditions in the school that are not advantageous, to ascertain if the conditions actually exist before the information is turned over to some other individual, for it is by such means that the schools are damaged.

In speaking of the criticism that has been directed against the school board for maintaining the practice house to train girls in the art of housekeeping, Mrs. Galey stated that last year, the board loaned the practice house $1200, and that the entire sum was repaid during the year. That the house, instead of being an expense, was making money for the school district, as four teachers reside there, what they pay for the privilege more than paying the rent and all expenses.

Referring to the increase in the number of school children in the city, Mrs. Galey quoted the following figures: In 1912 there were 1237 children in the various schools of the city, this being the record year up to that time, as there was much work going on in the city. The war and other causes kept the attendance below that mark until 1921, when the figure went up to 1350. It will probably go above that mark before the present year is finished.

There a few more than 340 scholars in the high school at present, and 16 high school teachers to care for them. The total number of teachers in the city schools is 41. A vote of thanks was extended to the Parent-Teachers association for the excellent program presented. The program was brought to a fitting conclusion by a vocal solo by Mrs. J. Shortridge. Afterwards a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served.
