What Constitutes Advertising
 In order to allay a misunderstanding among some as to what constitutes news and what advertising, we print this very simple rule, which is used by newspapers to differentiate between them: "ALL future events, where an admission charge is made or a collection is taken IS ADVERTISING." This applies to organizations and societies of every kind as well as to individuals.
 All reports of such activities after they have occurred in news.
 All coming social or organization meetings of societies where no money contribution is solicited, initiation charged, or collection taken IS NEWS.

Entered at the Ashland, Oregon, Postoffice as Second-class Mail Matter.

GRAND OLD MEN
 Dr. Charles W. Elliot, president emeritus of Harvard university, celebrated his eighty-eighth birthday by doing his regular day's work. Edison, cause his family was "celebrating."

Two men, both long past the age 75, confessed somewhat shyly to being a few minutes late for office because most men are useful, continue to live and work and make the world better. How do they do it? A stagnant pool is one into which no water flows, from which no water runs. A fresh, clear pool is one into which water runs and from which water constantly flows. Edison and Elliot have minds through which thoughts, ideas, pictures, conceptions constantly flow. To stay young, read, think, educate your brain. You will never be an Edison or an Elliot, probably, but you will be of use, and live long enough to make that use count in proportion to what you know, what you learn, to what purpose you use your brain.

THE WOMAN BEATER
 Indignation ran high when it was learned yesterday that a tramp had knocked down a woman who had refused to give him something to eat. Had he fallen into the hands of the irate citizens, he possibly might have fallen a victim to mob law. In the human mind there is nothing so despicable as a woman beater, and invariably it arouses the worst passions ever lying dormant in the human breast.

 Beating a woman is a horrible crime. Any man who strikes a woman is a brute, and perhaps deserves to be treated as such. There is no sympathy here for those who beat women and were themselves beaten. But how about the rest of the community. The beating is reported in the newspapers. People read of it. Children hear of it. Those concerned in the punishment, both victim and wielder of the whip, talk about it. An "eye for an eye"? Doubtless; but there was One who came with a new law, and civilization has rested upon it, and it is not, most emphatically not, to be brutal to brutes!
 Beating a woman beater is doubtless salutary to the community. But it is deadly to the community. In this year of grace 1922 we should be able to find more human corrective measures; find something else to do for brutes than brutalizing ourselves by going back to the middle ages, aye, to the Mosaic law.

Keep your eyes open! Tomorrow will be "April Fool."
 We are certainly getting the 57 varieties in the weather line.
 Nothing like scattering suggestions. Some of them may bear fruit.
 Don't fail to read the mayor's proclamation on "clean-up day," and act accordingly.

And while we are talking about cleaning up, isn't there some way we could induce the owners of the property facing the depot, and which is the first sight to greet the eyes of Ashland visitors, to set a paint brush swinging in that vicinity? First impressions are hard to eradicate.

Don't overlook the fact that the men who contemplate investing three or four hundred thousand dollars in Ashland, are to be here about the middle of April. The aspect of a clean town in a physical, as well as a moral sense, might prove a determining factor. So heed the mayor's proclamation and clean up!

And don't forget the fountains. They are among Ashland's best assets. A small, tasteful sign in front of each, showing which is lithia and which soda, would be one move in the right direction. And another sign on the top of the exposition building in the back of the fountains, letting folks know that Ashland, the "gateway to Oregon," is the home of the lithia springs wouldn't be a bad idea. That, of course, would necessitate that the exposition building take on an appearance to justify its name, by having something on display that would give visitors an idea of what Ashland produces.

WHAT MARK TWAIN SAID ABOUT MAN

Concerning man, Shakespeare said, "What a piece of work is man! How noble in reason! How infinite in faculties! In form and moving, how admirable! In action, how like an angel! In apprehension, how like a god!"
 This will serve as a preface to Mark Twain's opinion of man. Take your choice.
 Mark Twain said:
 "Man can't sleep out-of-doors without freezing to death or getting the rheumatism; he can't keep his nose under water over a minute without being drowned. He's the poorest, clumsiest excuse of all the creatures that inhabit the earth.
 "He has to be coddled, housed, and swathed and bandaged to be able to live at all. He is a rickety sort of thing any way you take him—a regular British museum of infirmities and inferiorities.
 "He is always undergoing repairs. A machine as unreliable as he is would have no market.
 "The higher animals get their teeth without pain or inconvenience. Man's come through months of cruel torture, at a time when he is least able to bear it. As soon as he gets them they must be pulled out again. The second set will answer for a while, but he will never get a set that can be depended on till the dentist makes one.

 "Man starts in as a child and lives on diseases to the end, as a regular diet. He has mumps, measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, croup, tonsillitis, diphtheria, as a matter of course.
 "Afterward, as he goes along, his life continues to be threatened at every turn by colds, coughs, asthma, bronchitis, quins, consumption, yellow fever, blindness, influenza, carbuncles, pneumonia, softening of the brain, and a thousand other maladies of one sort and another.
 "He's just a basketful of pestilent corruption, provided for the support and entertainment of microbes. Look at the workmanship of him in some particulars.
 "What is his appendix for? It has no value. Its sole interest is to lie and wait for stray grape-seeds and breed trouble.
 "What is his beard for? It is just a nuisance. All nations persecute it with a razor. Nature, however, always keep him supplied with it, instead of putting it on his head.
 "A man wants to keep his hair. It is a graceful ornament, a comfort, the best protection against weather, and he prizes it above emeralds and rubies, and half the time Nature puts it on so it won't stay.
 "Man isn't even handsome, as compared with the birds; and as for style, look at the Bengal tiger—that ideal of grace, physical perfection and majesty.
 "Think of the lion and the tiger and the leopard, then think of man—that poor thing! The animal of the wig, the ear-trumpet, the glass eye, the porcelain teeth, the wooden leg, the silver snuff-pipe—a creature that is mended all over from top to bottom.
 "If he can't get renewals of his bric-a-brac in the next world, what will he look like?"

WHITE CROSS CIRCLE HOLDS INITIAL MEETING

The White Cross circle of the Baptist church had their initial meeting at the church Wednesday afternoon, and ten ladies of the church were present to participate in the meeting. The purpose of the circle is to make bandages for the Baptist hospitals in Europe, and the ladies began that work at the meeting, completing thirteen rolls during the afternoon and found it very interesting work. It is the hope of those who initiated the work to get all the ladies of the church interested in the work in order to accomplish as much as possible.

NEEDED IMPROVEMENTS TO BE MADE ON GARAGE

Mack's Garage, on North Pioneer avenue between B and C streets, is being worked over and some much-needed improvements are being put in. Some of the floor, which had been improperly supported and had broken through is being repaired, which will protect customers from possible injury from the source. The doors to the storage room are being repaired and will be placed in condition so that there is no danger of anyone from the outside taking things from cars stored there. In addition to this the front of the building is to be painted and placed in good repair.

HAD MONEY, BUT PROVED HE WAS NOT BANK BANDIT

DOWNIEVILLE, Calif., March 30.—After making a trip to Auburn, S. H. Sherwood, bank cashier of Loyalton, was unable to identify a man held here as Rees, who, with a man named Mahoney, held up the Sierra Valley bank last October, and escaped with over $22,000 of the bank's funds.

 The man was arrested by the sheriff of Placer county on a minor charge and on being searched $500 in bills was found sewed into the lining of his cap.

 He answered the description of Rees closely, but the cashier decided he was not one of the bandits.
