"Setting" Colors.

All colors cannot be set by the same method. Salt, for instance, is extremely effective in setting blues, pinks and some reds. A large tablespoonful is required to a gallon of lukewarm water. Black cottons or black-and-white checks need stronger salt water to be effective, and sometimes a little turpentine may be added to the water. Soak the materials in lukewarm water and tans in a solution of one cupful of vinegar to a gallon of lukewarm water to set the color. When the lighter shades of yellows and tans become faded, the color can be restored by adding strong coffee to warm rinsing water.—From the Designer.

Car Needed It Most.

The little librarian sat at her desk, surveying the row of solemn-eyed Italians before her. Tony had brought all his little brothers and sisters to see the "teacher." "My goodness," she said, "how many of you are these altogether?" "Eleven," said Tony, and the entire row grinned broadly, exhibiting beautiful pearly teeth. "What beautiful teeth! I suppose you all brush them well every night?" A nervous shuffling. Tony cleared his throat. "Well," he said earnestly, "we did have a brush once, but father needed it to clean something in the car and after that it wasn't much good."—Chicago Journal.

A Curie of Radium.

Mme. Curie's modest autobiography omits mention of one single honor that more than anything else will help make her name immortal. The official scientific designation of the unit of radioactivity is named in her honor the "curie," and the degree of radioactivity is expressed in millicuries, centurics and so on up the metric system scale. In selecting Mme. Curie's name scientific bodies have followed the well-established custom that accounts for the introduction of such words as ohm, watt, ampere, etc., into our language—all of them the names of inventors or discoverers.—Delineator.

MRS. L. SCHWEIN ENTERTAINS CLUB

Mrs. Louis Schwein was hostess Monday evening to the members of the Monday Afternoon Study club. The large hospitable home of the Schwein's was inviting with decorations of daffodils. The hostess costumed as Queen Scheherazade, of Arabian Nights fame, met her tastefully gowned guests as they arrived.

Mrs. Myer, in the artistic dress of a Sultana, gave an interesting talk on the harems of the Far East. Mrs. Brown, in a lavender Japanese kimono decorated with sprays of wisteria, with a band of lavender ribbon and almond blossoms as a head decoration, made a most winsome Japanese lady and gave an account of the sacred ceremonial of tea drinking. Mrs. Leslie wearing a filmy yellow veil that covered her head and shoulders, looked the poetess of the romantic country of India. She read selections from Tagore and gave a sketch of his life.

Miss Greer in a white tunic and turban gave an historical sketch of Asia. Mrs. Schuerman, looking as if she had stepped out of China, in a handsome black Chinese costume, embroidered and beaded, gave an account of the recent successful expedition for seeds from the chaulmoogra tree, which scientists have found to be a cure for leprosy. Mrs. Dill, as Bluebird, of nursery book fame, gave a history of this well-known character. Mrs. French, in a handsome quilted silk coat of black and lavender, tripped daintily in Japanese shoes sporting blue pompons, and told most interesting news of that country.

Mrs. Everton, dressed as a Russian lady with the characteristic head dress of flowers and leaves and the hair twined about the ears, gave an historical sketch of the Ukrainians. Mrs. Maxey, dressed in white with a coquettish veil covering the lower part of her face, made a most lovely Turkish lady and gave some interesting facts regarding Turkey. Mrs. Sackett, in blue Chinese costume, gave a sketch of life in that country. Mrs. Putnam told interestingly of the care of the silk worm and the manufacture of silk cloth. Ramona Wise delighted the forelign guests with several piano selections and also played a waltz as an accompaniment to a short pantomime which Mrs. Myer and Mrs. Putnam gave, entitled, "There's a Reason."

There never was tasted in any country more delicious chop suey than the hostess served on beautiful hand-painted china plates with the guests seated about the dining table. Rye bread, crackers and pickles were served with the chop suey, and a second course of cinnamon rolls and coffee followed. Perfectly lovely hand-painted place cards artistically portraying the people of the countries represented at the party, the work of Miss Molly Clary, together with gaily decorated Japanese napkins added to the festivity of the occasion.

The party was given complimentary by Mrs. Schwein to the members of the club as a bit of pleasure in the midst of the routine of study work.

Our First Blossoms—

The almond trees are now getting out in bloom about town. The lateness of the blossoms would indicate a good fruit year, according to those who claim to be authority on fruit.

Men like girls who are sweet and simple, but not girls who are just simple.

When a man has the big head, it is seldom a level one.

A PAGE FROM HISTORY YOU WILL NEVER FORGET

Sappho charmed even the gods themselves with her love songs; Cleopatra won Caesars with her charms, yet a more wonderful love than theirs was Theodora's, who gave a kingdom—and in vain, for the commoner she loved.
