FIRE DESTROYS PHOENIX POOL HALL LAST NIGHT

At 1 o'clock this morning fire broke out in the pool hall at Phoenix, completely destroying the building and contents, which were owned by N. R. Walters. The property is covered by insurance.

It is not known how the fire started, but it is supposed that a fire was left burning in the stove, and that a high gust of wind caused a blow-out. The building adjoins the post office, and when the fire department got to work on the burning building it was quickly realized that it would be impossible to save the pool hall, and every energy was devoted to saving the adjoining building, and this they succeeded in doing.

CAR RUNS WILD BREAKS WINDOW

Adopt car driven by J. L. West ran wild last night about 8:30 o'clock down East Main street, and jumped the curb in front of the C. J. Perrine store on the Plaza, breaking out the plate glass windows in front of the store and knocking a large hole in the brick wall between Perrine's and Simpson's hardware store.

In the machine with West was L. H. Carr, a railroad man who has been in the city working on the new round table. Both men were under the influence of liquor, and it is said they had been driving about town for some time before the accident occurred.

The car was badly damaged, both front wheels being practically demolished and several spokes broken out of one rear wheel. The front end of the machine was badly battered. West had just traded for the car and, upon investigation, it was found that the change of license had not yet been made.

Both men were locked up for the night and appeared in Justice Gowdy's court this morning. They were fined $75 each and released.

WOMAN CLEARS 75-ACRE RANCH; INCOME IS $2,500

GRANTS PASS, Or., April 17.—There are two factors in the life of Mrs. Jennie M. Beveridge that keep her in possession of this world's riches and good health. One is her grapes and the other is her turkeys. She is undecided which she loves the best. At any rate she is greatly wrapped up in her little ranch which nestles against the foothills of the Siskiyou mountains.

Starting with nothing but the virgin timber ten years ago, Mrs. Beveridge has, through her own efforts, cleared about half of a 75-acre tract, much of which she has brought into bearing. Though all the work was done under her supervision, she, herself, has done much of it, and today she has an income of $2,500 a year, the majority of which is derived from the sale of grapes from eight acres.

LONDON, April 17.—All England and Ireland, on the tiptoe of expectation during the past 24 hours, in the expectation that Easter Monday, the sixth anniversary of the uprising of the Sinn Feiners, would usher in a reign of bloodshed, were agreeably disappointed. Not a ripple marred the surface today, and for the first time in several weeks, not a single clash was reported in Ireland.

Before an adjournment of the board the employers, who had contended that they could not make a profit on an eight-hour schedule, were called upon to produce their books for the last year in order that their statements might be substantiated. This they at first refused to do, but later asked that they be allowed time to confer with the real owners of the mills.
