WEAR BRIGHT RED

Hats, Purses, Shoes Are of the Most Brilliant Hue.

Shade is Pronounced in the Newest Offerings Being Shown in the French Shops.

To those who cannot go to Paris and stroll along the Rue de la Paix, where some of the most beautiful novelties in the world are shown, as well as many of the interesting hats which eventually find their way to the millinery shops in this country, the novelties and millinery fresh from Paris are especially interesting. They represent the newest offerings of the exclusive French shops.

The bright red straw hats come first in this abbreviated review of styles. They are harbingers of spring after the long winter days. Some one has said that when it comes to the matter of taste in dress women are divided into two classes—those who wear red hats and those who do not. It is more than likely that the former will be in the majority this year.

Leather in the brightest of reds, verging on the scarlet hues, is used for hats that do not savor of country roads and golf courses, as one might expect, but are made in designs quite appropriate for town wear.

In colonial days both men and women wore shoes with red heels, so the shoes of today with scarlet heels and tongues are a revival of a fashion prevalent in times when all dress was more frivolous and much more picturesque than it is today.

NEW NOVELTIES IN HANDKIEFS

Attractive Lines of Embroidered and Otherwise Decorated Kerchiefs Now on Display.

An exceedingly attractive line of handkerchiefs is composed of those of hand spun, hand woven linen, with delicate, elaborately embroidered trims. The linen is very fine, almost gauze-like in appearance, with brilliance that is due to the process of the old women who make it. The embroidery is often along the spoke stitch line, many rows of openwork making a wide border, while medallions intricately worked out are also noticeable. These handkerchiefs are hard to get now, and are on that account distinctive. Some irregularly shaped scallop borders are also worthy of note, being combined with the embroidery.

Some hand embroidered animal handkerchiefs are pleasing. They are both in white on colored linen, and in colors on white. While they may be primarily attractive for children, they are by no means impossible for grownups.

Another group takes in the printed models. These employ wide colored borders frequently relieved by white polka dots. Elaborate landscape designs are also to be had, one showing a moonrise. Sometimes instead of a colored border the color square is in the center.

Flannels Are Favored.

Beautiful plain color, striped and checked flannels are very much used for all manner of spring and summer sports apparel. The materials that are recommended are guaranteed not to shrink or fade if carefully washed, and there is certainly a freshness about these flannels that is very pleasing. Many sport skirts are developed from the striped fabrics, and a popular finish for the bottom of the skirt is self-fringe—that is, the material is simply raveled to form a fringe and the edge overstepped or whipped with a fine thread so that it will not continue to fray and ravel. Sometimes a slip-over smock or a little coat matching the stripe will accompany the skirt, the two making up a clever little sport suit.

A Paris Suggestion.

Paris offers this suggestion for spring. The entire dress is made of black chiffon, even the three roses at the waistline. It will be just as effective, however, if you select crepe fabric, however, if you select crepe satin, canton crepe or taffeta, or combine satin and cloth. The underskirt and draped tunic are joined to a camisole lining. The overblouse and girdle are attached, closing at the left side. Lower edge of skirt is about one and five-eighths yards.

Let a want ad sell it for you.

Every Little Dance Frock Has a Cape All Its Own

cape matches in color and material, carrying out the rosette motif all around the bottom, boasting five in number. This is a good flapper model.

Below in the small sketch is a suggestion for a taffeta hooded cape, with hood and scarf ends edged with silver-peccod taffeta frilling. This is a model that can be made up to match the taffeta frock already in the wardrobe.

In the photo above is a novel wrap of orchid taffeta shot with pink, and orchid net. The net is silver edged, and cascades down the front in no less than nine ruffles! And beyond this fluffy trim are five taffeta folds that might turn into ruffles themselves if they were urged a bit more into gathers! Verily a cape that would delight the heart of Pierrette. It is worn by Leatrice Joy, leading woman in Paramount pictures, and May dances. The bodice is draped across the waist precisely as the latest models from Paris are. Two panels on either side flaunt enormous rosettes of self-material, frayed at the edges. The

When one selects a dance frock for the coming summery evenings, the matter does not end there. A cape to match it must be chosen as well, for fashion has decreed that a cape of the same material, or trim, as the frock, must accompany it.

In the upper sketches, the one to the left shows a frock and its matching cape. The frock is of praline taffeta, "praline" being the newest shade of mauve-pink. It is a simple model with the youthful broad shoulder, just the thing for the young girl's coming spring school dances, class parties, and May dances. The bodice is draped across the waist precisely as the latest models from Paris are. Two panels on either side flaunt enormous rosettes of self-material, frayed at the edges. The

Breaking The Shackles of Time

CLOCKS are as much a matter of course as suspenders or sausages. But it took energy and initiative to get the first clock on the kitchen shelf and start it going. The Yankee pack peddler was sole distributor and transporter. His lean, lanky, loose-jointed legs set the limits for most distribution problems in those days.

Modern transportation with progressive sales methods—and advertising—have broken the shackles of time. They make a quick job of what used to take years. Through advertising, many an article has been introduced simultaneously in stores all over the country.

The Tidings does you a two-fold service. It not only brings you news of the world, but also news of what to buy, where to buy and how to buy.

The advertisements are news columns of merchants and manufacturers who have important stories to tell you.

Take advantage of them. Read the latest news of good things to be had—and where to get them.

Make sure you get all the news
