What Constitutes Advertising
In order to allay a misunderstanding among some as to what constitutes news and what advertising, we print this very simple rule, which is used by newspapers to differentiate between them: "ALL future events, where an admission charge is made or a collection is taken IS ADVERTISING." This applies to organizations and societies of every kind as well as to individuals.

All reports of such activities after they have occurred is news.
All coming social or organization meetings of societies where no money contribution is solicited, initiation charged, or collection taken IS NEWS.

Entered at the Ashland, Oregon, Postoffice as Second-class Mail Matter.

SOLOMONITES

- ◆ If you know of a thing that will darken the joy
- ◆ Of a man or a woman, a girl or a boy;
- ◆ That will wipe out a smile or the least bit annoy
- ◆ A fellow, or cause any gladness to cloy;
- ◆ It's a pretty good plan to forget it.

It's not the work, but the worry, that breaks the heart of a man.

Sunday, May 14th, is "Mother's Day." Don't forget to write that letter home.

Monday will be May day. Back east it is "moving day." The people born on that day have been kept everlastingly on the jump ever since.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon is indeed a remarkable man. He is one politician who knew when to retire instead of waiting to be beaten.—Eugene Register.

The Girl: "Did I ever show you where I was tattooed?"
The Boy: "No."
The Girl: "Well, we can drive around that way."

A news item tells of a woman who horsewhipped her dentist because her gold teeth failed to add to her good looks. A patient out of patience, as it were.

Conditions in Mexico promise to arise at an early date. A crisis in Mexico is all that is lacking in a troubled world. For two years Mexico has been running a race with Jacksonville for the being quiet medal.—The Smudge Pot.

The bees are busy working. They are very foolish to do it under the present capitalistic system of government, which is so oppressive that the hellraising rights of foreign residents are unrestricted, and any native can run for office if he has the modest filing fee in hand.—Mail-Tribune.

The state board of conciliation has handed down its findings in the dispute between the workers and the mills in Klamath Falls. It finds that eight hours is long enough to work and advises that a settlement be arranged on that basis, with overtime compensation to be fixed in accordance with the exigencies of the situation. The report takes up 700 pages and leaves the whole matter just where it started. The operators and the workers are no nearer a settlement now than they were in the beginning.

FIX SPEED LIMIT

From the gathering of city officials and citizens, which came together in the city hall last night, much good is likely to eventuate, and it is probable that out of it may come a solution of the vexed problem in connection with the traffic regulations, the enforcement of which has already done a great deal of harm to Ashland.

Unless prompt steps are taken to check the misrepresentations made in other towns in regard to our traffic laws, it will mean a loss of thousands of dollars to this city, by the diversion of the tourist traffic. While the mayor has not yet had time to prepare a definite schedule for the tourists, which will limit the speed of vehicles to 20 miles an hour, it has been decided that less than this is not practicable.

There will be a big gathering of the Pacific Northwest Tourists association in Tacoma today, and Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce Fuller has sent a telegram to the convention announcing that 20 miles an hour within the city limits had been fixed for the speed of tourists through the City of Ashland, and asking that the same be given conspicuous notice. This is a good move and will do much to offset the harm done by the misleading publication in the current issue of the Oregon Motorist.

In the matter of signs, it was the sense of the meeting last night that large overhead signs should be erected over the highway, in such manner as to compel the attention of the tourists. The trouble with the signs as displayed at present is that they cannot be seen until the motorist is almost on top of them, and it is then too late to slow down. Another matter which was given attention was the hours during which the "slow down" rules should apply to the public schools. It was thought that if it was enforced during school hours only, it would meet all requirements. It is expected that whatever change in the regulations that may be made by the mayor to meet the present conditions and recommendations of the meeting last night, will be quickly announced and steps taken to give them the widest publicity possible.

SHORT CHANGE ARTISTS

WORK REDDING MERCHANTS

REDDING, Calif., April 29.—Two short-change artists, a tall and a short man, both dressed in brown, "worked" women cashiers in Redding yesterday, obtaining $10 at each of these stores, McCormick-Saletzer company, Jacobson Grocery company and the Valley market.
They tried James Anderson at his soft drink parlor, but he discovered the fraud in time to make the sharpers return his $10.
The short-changers made their escape, but the officers are looking for them.

Censor Fox Trot? Never! It Keeps Flapper Slender

A "Delayed Resolution" In Music Thins Stoutest When Taken With New Dances

NEW YORK CITY.—Too fat? Lots of people are—but not many have the thrilling experience of Fanny Watson, who awoke one morning to find herself getting thinner and getting paid for it.
Fanny does a stunt with her sister in vaudeville, and of course she's always adding new quirks and turns to her act. The other day she—but let her tell it.
"Of course I knew I was too fat," she admits frankly, "but I was lazy—like a lot of women. I hated exercise and I loathed dieting. So I went on my sugary, near-obese way until that glad morning when my dress bands began to overlap and I had the merry whim to get weighed. Maybe you won't believe it, but as near as I could figure I had lost ten pounds in two weeks!

Finds Reducing Painless
"I wasn't going into a decline, that was evident, for I looked and felt better than I had for ages, but I consulted a doctor anyway and he explained the whole thing.
"It was my new act, a burlesque fox trot to 'Stealing' sung by my little sister, Kitty. I say 'burlesque' but I really mean exaggerated because there was nothing burlesque about the effort I put into my trotting, and according to the doctor, that effort was literally 'stealing' away my pounds.

Delayed Resolution Does It

"You cover a mile and a quarter in every twenty minutes you fox trot," he explained, "and if you have a song with a constantly recurring delayed resolution, you'll get a certain agitation that keeps you constantly on the go all the time you're dancing."
"Well, I never heard of delayed resolution before, but 'Stealing' has it all right. We tested it to see. Everytime Kitty starts:
'Stealing, stealing, with your eyes appealing,
There's a tender feeling in my heart for you'
I figure off goes another pound. That's why one part of my act won't be changed for many months.
"My friends say I'm the luckiest woman in the world. Instead of torturing myself to get thin, I draw my salary for painless reducing."
