TO ESTABLISH TOURIST BUREAUS IN NORTHWEST

IMPROVING COUNTY ROADS A county road gang is at work improving the Little Applegate road and are doing a splendid job. The new road from Jacksonville to Ruch is now in first-class condition, but will still be better when graveled—which will then make it one of the best easy-grade mountain roads in southern Oregon. — Jacksonville Post.

HIGH SCHOOL GLEE CLUB DELIGHTS A LARGE AUDIENCE

The two glee clubs and the orchestra of the Ashland high school appeared before a large audience Friday night in a very successful program. All the members reflected great credit upon both those who took part and the director, Miss Leona Marsters.

The program opened with the "Hungarian Dance," by the orchestra, and it was very well rendered. The girls' glee club, consisting of 22 members, then made a very attractive appearance. The barcarolle from "Tales of Hoffman," with a violin obligato, was especially pretty.

A mixed quartet, consisting of Ethel Hazen, Vera Champie, Harvey Wood and Raymond Bowers, rendered several numbers, both secular and sacred, in a very creditable manner.

The greatest surprise of the evening came when the boys' glee club, consisting of 23 members, made an appearance, singing as a separate organization for the first time. Words of highest praise were heard for the manner in which their songs were presented. The "Sea Fever," which was repeated, and "Cotton Field Melodies," were especially well liked.

Leonard Pettit delighted the audience with two beautiful violin selections very skillfully played.

Part one closed with the "Minuet," first played by the orchestra, then danced by eight of the young people in costume. The effect was extremely pleasing.

The orchestra opened the second part of the program with the Anvil chorus from "Il Trovatore." It was played with such expression and finish as to do credit to the careful training the members had received.

A fitting climax of the program was the appearance of both glee clubs in chorus, making two rows extending entirely across the stage. The last numbers, "Anchored," and "Good Night, Beloved," were very harmonious and showed the good qualities of the two glee clubs when singing separately.

Mention should be made of the efficient accompaniment of Gertrude Brown for the orchestra, Margaret Johnson for the two glee clubs, and Miss Marsters for the special numbers.

RUSHING EQUIPMENT FOR CRATER LAKE HIGHWAY It is reported that all three of the contracting crews on the Crater Lake highway are bringing in equipment in haste and that the work will begin in the near future. Hill Bros. are putting in motors to run rock crushers and 200 horsepower will be utilized in these crushers which are situated near Elk creek. William Von der Hellen is putting in a 100-150 horsepower crusher one and a half miles this side of Prospect, and Obie and Stone, who have the contract from Medford to Kincaid hill, will be spreading crushed rock.

POSSESSION OF LIQUOR IS NOT BOOTLEGGING EVIDENCE The trial of Ernest S (Dud) Wolgamott, charged with selling liquor, came to an abrupt ending in the circuit court Thursday afternoon, when upon motion of District Attorney Rawles Moore, the jury was discharged and the case dismissed. This action was taken upon a ruling of the court that "possession of liquor could not be used as evidence of a sale of liquor." Another indictment of the same general nature was also dismissed.

"JUST AROUND THE CORNER" AT THE VINING THEATER

"Find the Woman" will be repeated at the Vining theater tonight and tomorrow will be presented the picturization of the wonderful story of Fannie Hurst's, "The Superman," which for the screen adaptation has been named "Just Around the Corner." It is replete with thrilling situations, and tells a story that holds the audience with a gripping interest from start to finish.

This story appeared in the Saturday Evening Post in 1916. Later it was included in Miss Hurst's first collection of short stories published by Harper & Bros., under the title of "Just Around the Corner." The story attracted wide attention and its publication helped to bring Miss Hurst into the forefront of short story writers in the book world.

the establishment of a better understanding on the part of the public of some of the difficulties met with by the carrier in the performance of his duties.

It is the desire of the department and its purpose, to provide adequate and convenient service, so far as may be possible, to all persons residing in rural communities, but this end can not be attained without the full co-operation of the patrons in the efforts of postmasters and carriers to serve them promptly, regularly and satisfactorily.

Whatever facilitates the work of the carrier is of direct benefit to the patrons, for the greater the ease and speed with which a carrier may cover his route, the earlier and better the service afforded.

So, patrons of rural delivery can greatly help themselves by helping their carrier, seeing to it that roads are kept in good condition and promptly opened after storms, by keeping the approaches to their boxes clear, and by promptly and willingly correcting any irregularities affecting their boxes when asked to do so.

The main purpose of the "Postal Improvement Week" is to impress patrons of the mail service as to how they may assist in expediting the delivery and dispatch of their own mail. Rural patrons can assist in this matter by placing stamps on their letters instead of placing unstamped mail in the boxes together with money for the purchase of the required postage. This delays the carrier and prevents the patrons from receiving their mail as expeditiously as they otherwise would. If necessary, however, to place money in a box, it should be put in a coin-holding receptacle, or be properly wrapped so as to be quickly taken from the box by the carrier.

Cash for the purchase of money orders should not be left in the boxes but should be handed to the carrier and a receipt obtained.
