LITHIANS TAKE CAVE MEN INTO PEACE POW WOW

GRANTS PASS AND ASHLAND GATHER ABOUT FESTIVE BOARD

"Cave Men" from the Valley Guests of Chamber of Commerce—Plan Unification in Exploiting Southern Oregon.

The most successful get-together meeting ever held in southern Oregon took place last evening at the Hotel Ashland, when some 30 "Cave Men" from Grants Pass were invited into a peace meeting by the "Lithian" tribe of Ashland.

A number of "Lithian" braves were assembled in front of the hotel to greet the "Cave Men" as they arrived and escorted them into the interior of the "peace hall," where they were each introduced and a short history of their brave deeds related, after which they were given a sumptuous feed.

W. H. McNair, president of the local chamber, made a short talk and turned the meeting over to Mr. Fuller to act as toastmaster. Rev. Kohler gave the address of greeting and theoretically passed the pipe of peace and followed up with a word of congratulation to the visitors on what they had to offer, both commercially and scenically.

O. E. Blanchard, president of the visiting chamber, made a rousing talk, emphasizing the co-operation plan and asking that southern Oregon work together to get a railroad to the Pacific coast, and thereby get the advantage of the water shipments and saving thousands of dollars annually to the agriculturist and shippers of the valley.

His plan would also include the construction of the road on east through the counties touching the south boundary of the state, which would open up the greatest timber country of the entire world and afford them an outlet by way of the sea through the Rogue River valley. This would also bring much taxable land into being and would help the tax situation of the state materially.

Rev. Oldfield made a hit with his recitations, which were given in a Norwegian dialect, of which the genial minister is a master. Henry Enders Jr. made a short talk, relating some of the experiences he encountered recently at San Francisco, when he attended a meeting in regard to terminal freight rates. Prof. Vining gave a fine talk and expressed the good feeling that existed between the two communities, and finished his talk with an imaginary legend of the Marble Caves of Oregon.

The dining room was beautifully decorated with Oregon grape, cedar and a variety of flowers and blossoms, the entrance to the room being arranged to represent the entrance to a cave. Several stalagmites made with lithia gas were on exhibition and created considerable interest. The ice cream furnished for the occasion was frozen with lithia gas, ordered from a Portland firm which manufactures all of its ice cream in this manner.

10-YEAR PEACE PACT IS PROPOSAL OF LLOYD GEORGE

GENOA, May 12.—The first great constructive step in the international economic conference came when Lloyd George laid the foundation for his long-heralded ten-year non-aggressive pact to preserve the peace of Europe.

In an official statement issued from British headquarters today, announcement was made that the British empire delegation accepted the Russian reply as a satisfactory basis for European peace.

The British will formally propose a truce based upon the existing frontiers and speeding up the work of the conference commissioners and the formation of a definite reconstruction program.

"The appointment of a commission now seems the practical way to carry on the study of the Russian problem, though it is much more difficult now than if we had done so in the first place, said the British statement.

MILLS ISSUE ULTIMATUM TO LUMBER STRIKERS AND PUBLIC

Declare Fulfillment of Contracts Makes Operation of Mills Imperative, Even if They Remove the Factories from Klamath Falls.

KLAMATH FALLS, May 12.—Threats to move their plants from here to points in California unless the lumber strike is settled was contained in a statement of the Big Lakes Box company and Algoma Lumber company made public here yesterday.

The necessity for fulfilling contracts was the reason given A. J. Vove, manager of the former company.

A publicity campaign, in which their views on the eight hour question are set forth, is being conducted by the lumbermen in connection with the circulation of a petition subscribing to the nine hour day, which business men are being asked to sign.

In Ashland's Auto Camp

These sunny days have put a new spirit in camp life. The old ones are moving on, and new ones are coming in, and everybody is feeling good. A great many have been here before and are glad to note the improvements in the park, and many of those leaving promise to be here again on their way home later in the season.

N. P. Shular and party, formerly of Ashland, but now making their home in the Illinois valley, are here enjoying an outing in the auto camp. Two cars, one a Ford and one a Dodge, have come together all the way from Arizona, using exactly the same amount of gasoline.

Quite a number of those coming recently are seeking a new location, and ask many questions about real estate values. They are struck with the beauty of the Rogue River valley, and want to locate in southern Oregon. It behooves the citizens of Ashland to give these people a hearty welcome.

Those arriving last evening are: Mr. and Mrs. George Gorsche, Portland; Brown brothers, Gilray, Calif.; N. P. Shular, Illinois Valley, Or.; G. J. Gray and party, Tacoma; Chas. King and family, Bremerton, Wash.; F. B. Jones and family, Bremerton, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Littlejohn and H. C. Warmoth and family, Jerome, Ariz.; Chas. Bernard and party, Beaverton, Or.; Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Vane, San Francisco; J. C. Oldfield and party, Los Angeles.

NEAR TO DEATH IN SNOWSTORM IN SISKIYOU

McCLOUD, Calif., May 12.—Near death from hunger and exposure, Ben Glen and Harry Glen, cooks at the McCloud River Lumber company's camp No. 1, were brought here by a rescue party after having been lost in the woods for two days following a sudden snowstorm.

The men were out walking Sunday when the storm blew up. They lost their way and when they failed to show up at the camp, a rescue party was organized Monday morning. The party searched all that day and night, continuing Tuesday, when the pair were found late in the afternoon near Hambone Well in a critical condition.

The men had nothing to eat for two days and one of them was without a coat. From the description of the country they gave it is believed they wandered about 50 miles or more through the woods.

REDDING, May 12.—The Mountain Copper company, of Kennett, and the Balaklala Copper company of Coram have brought second suits against Shasta county to recover taxes paid under protest.

The attorney for the companies filed the complaints yesterday in the United States district court in Sacramento.

The Mountain Copper company sues for the recovery of $9450 paid under protest in 1921, and the Balaklala for $4366.46 paid the same year under protest.

REV. B. C. MILLER WILL ARRIVE IN ASHLAND TODAY

The Rev. B. C. Miller, of Springfield, Oregon, will arrive in Ashland this evening on train 53 for a few days' visit. Rev. Miller has been called by the local Baptist church, and while he has not accepted the call, he is here to look over the city and meet the members of the congregation. He will deliver the morning and evening sermon at the Baptist church Sunday, and the members of the church are hopeful that he will see his way clear to accept the pulpit permanently.

FROST DAMAGE NOT WIDESPREAD IN TEHAMA

RED BLUFF, Calif., May 12.—While a killing frost was reported in this section Tuesday morning, H. J. Andree, local observer for the United States weather bureau, said today he had not so far heard anything to indicate how much damage was done to the crops in Tehama county. In a few scattering cases it was stated early vegetables were hit, but it was not believed the loss will be widespread.

HOT SPRINGS DEVELOPMENT IS UNDER WAY

LEASE IS SIGNED AND WORK BEGUN FOR OPERATION OF RESORT

Big Swimming Pool, Bath Houses and Dancing Pavilion in Course of Erection on Site of Jackson Hot Springs.

Work was started this morning on the construction of the Hot Springs as an all-the-year-round resort. The deal for the lease of the 20 acres on which the springs are located was closed yesterday, when J. C. Ottinger signed a lease of the property from the owner, J. C. Jackson.

This is one of the most important steps in the development of Ashland resources that has taken place in a long time, and it is proposed to push the work so that the Springs can be thrown open to the public during the present season. The land on the south and east of the Pacific highway along Bear creek will be cleared at once to make room for the erection of bath houses, of which at least six will be in operation within the next couple of weeks, equipped with shower baths and other conveniences. It is proposed to build a cement wall around the springs proper, where they bubble from the earth on the north side of the highway, and the water will be piped to the bathhouses.

Perhaps the feature that will have the greatest appeal to the people will be the immediate erection of a swimming pool, built of concrete, which will be 45 feet wide, 90 feet in length, and oblong in shape. This will be enclosed so it can be heated and used throughout the winter months.

Mr. Ottinger will make his home at the Springs and in the plan which he has laid out, he has embraced the erection of comfortable home quarters, so that he will be on the ground at all times, for the proper supervision of the resort which he hopes to make the most popular in southern Oregon.

Provision is made for a large dancing pavilion, open in summer and enclosed in winter, and a restaurant will be operated in connection with the other attractions. Ground will be cleared for an extensive auto camp for the parking of the cars of visitors to the resort, and as speedily as possible, tennis courts will be laid out and later, perhaps, provision made for a baseball diamond and golf links.

A little later, provision will be made for "mud baths," the curative properties of which it is claimed are equal to those of the famous Hot Springs of Arkansas, which resort it is expected the Ashland Hot Springs will one day rival.

EXCURSION RATES PUT ON FOR ELKS' PROSPERITY WEEK

PORTLAND, May 12.—The Southern Pacific company, through John M. Scott, general passenger agent, has announced open round-trip rates from all points on the system in western Oregon, Eugene and north to Portland during the entire period of the Elks' Golden Jubilee, May 15 to 21, inclusive. Prospects of a much larger crowd coming to Portland that week than had been anticipated is responsible for the recent order. Heretofore these one and one-half fare rates had applied only to Elks and their families.

Similar rates have been announced from all points on the Oregon Electric lines. That company will run special trains, particularly on the day of the parade, so that persons living in the Willamette valley may return home at most any hour at night.

DUAL CELEBRATION TO BE HELD IN RED BLUFF

RED BLUFF, Calif., May 12.—The board of supervisors has voted to have the Tehama county court house in Red Bluff opened for public inspection between the hours of 10 a. m. and 3 p. m., June 7th, when a big celebration will be held here over completion of the structure, as well as that of the East Side state highway from Los Molinos to this city.
