DEAD BODIES OF PARENTS FOUND BY SCHOOLGIRL

KLAMATH FALLS, June 9.—Little Cynthia Jackson, when she came from school on Wednesday, found both her parents stretched across the bed, dead, the mother with two bullet holes in her head, the father also shot through the head, and a 32 calibre revolver lying on the floor. The child, who is only eight years old, ran back to school and told her teacher of the tragedy, and the latter notified the police.

The family were living in a cabin at Yainax on the Indian reservation. Jackson and his wife had been divorced, but patched up their troubles and had gone to living together again, without the formality of a second ceremony. When the little girl came from school on Tuesday afternoon, she found her parents quarreling, and in fear, went to a neighbor's, where she remained all night. She went to school on Wednesday, as usual, and when she returned to her home in the afternoon found both her parents dead.

The theory of the coroner is that in the quarrel Jackson shot his wife and then sent a bullet into his own brain.

There was much confusion, and amidst the smoke, fumes and incense, one gathered the opinion that the prevailing costumes for feminine participants was the same as that first worn by Eve.

One young woman was refused admittance because she wore the regulation evening gown. She remedied the defect by shedding her gown. Most of the attelers had prepared floats, one of which carried 13 young women, entirely nude, and five real Ethiopian models, attired after the fashion of the jungle, were in another float.

MANY TO GO TO ENCAMPMENT NEXT WEDNESDAY

The clerk of the 484th company is being kept busy enlisting men, as the prospects of the two weeks encampment beginning next Wednesday, are unusually attractive this year.

Fort Worden, Washington, near Victoria, B. C., is the site of the encampment this year. The entire coast artillery battalion will be quartered in tents, by request of the officers of the various organizations, and a healthier, more educational, and more attractive outing could not be found.

The company has three experienced cooks, an old reliable mess sergeant, experienced officers, and is bound to take off many of the honors of the encampment. This year, all men who play instruments of any kind, are asked to take them along, so there will be plenty of music in camp.

There are many good positions open in the company yet, and it is urged that parents see that their boys go with the local outfit. Much is paid out each year by parents for the education of their boys, but it would be difficult to find two weeks so brimful of sightseeing, educational work and enjoyment of the fellowship of others, than at this encampment.
