

Hillah Nobles Are Sight to See They Wield a Wicked Snickersnee Wear Gorgeous Suit; My How Cute

(By Dorothy Bennett in San Francisco Examiner.)

The Hillah Temple from Ashland, Oregon, which is the first to come to San Francisco, was stopping traffic in front of the Alexander hotel, because they were wearing the most gorgeous uniforms that ever gave my eyes a treat.

They all had red fezzes and yellow velvet jackets, and bright red trousers and white leggings, and medals pinned on the yellow velvet, and—my goodness, real swords, that looked awfully long and dangerous. "I wonder what they're carrying round swords for?" I thought, standing next to a stately Shriner in all his glory. "They look pretty, but—"

Then the stately Shriner suddenly yelled out a greeting to a friend of his, who'd just come out and was posing for his picture, and the friend drew his long sword and waved it fiercely.

"Don't carve him," I said pleading, "remember, you're the first Temple that's come to San Francisco and you're supposed to meet and greet all the others as they come in. And if there isn't anything left after you've finished fighting, how'll you greet the rest?"

This touched the fierce Shriner and he looked thoughtfully at his sword and then put it away, while he told us all that he'd have mercy this time. The Shriner ladies, with their white fez hats, all heaved a sigh of relief, and then another howl went up.

"Gee, does somebody else need a referee, too?" I said, and Mrs. Rickert, one of the Shrine ladies, said no, they'd just caught sight of a honeymoon couple from their old home town, and were saying hello to them.

Every minute some automobile draped in red, yellow and green, dashed past, and Hillah Temple would yell at the driver most friendly and loud, and the driver would grin and wave his hand at us. And the passerby would look and look at the beautiful uniforms and swords of Hillah Temple, which was posing for pictures and inviting everybody to come and pose with them.

The oldest Shriner, Mr. Weisenburger, who carries the banner in parades and such, was in one picture with the rest of the patrol, and Captain Chapman, when the youngest Shriner slid in, with his eyes big and round, scared that they'd shoo him away, he being about ten years old, and not a Shriner yet, but only having ambitions that way.

The Shrine women, standing on the side lines and encouraging their husbands in this great ordeal, were scared they'd shoo him away, too, but they didn't. They let him take hold of their swords, and showed him the badges and pins on their velvet jackets, 'til he was dizzy with joy, and his eyes got bigger and rounder, and he couldn't say a word.

Then the corner "cop" strolled by, getting an eyeful of their costumes, and they must have thought he was a long-lost friend from the way they surrounded him. You'd have thought he was a whole police department including the patrol wagon, out for a parade, they were so nice, and the "cop" blushed and walked on, smiling very wide and carefree.

"We're going to welcome all the other temples," said Captain Chapman, "because we're the first one to get here."

"Yes," I said, tearing my thoughts away from the diamond decoration on his jacket and thinking that the practice welcome they gave the "cop" showed perfect form.

"Yes," he said, gathering his patrol up for another picture.

"Wait till you see them in the parade," said Mrs. Rickert, proudly. "They've been practicing for this for a whole year, drilling and all."

"I can hardly wait," I said, watching them all lined up, so handsome and bright-colored.

You Are Choosing Today

between spending a little for paint now or spending heavily for repairs later

YOU can't escape the choice. Either your buildings are well protected by paint or they are rotting and will require repairing or rebuilding within a few years. We have been making the best paints for 73 years. They are scientific in formula and preparation. They meet the weather conditions in the West. They contain the finest materials—PIONEER WHITE LEAD, pure linseed oil, pure zinc, and pure colors—combined scientifically in exact proportions with long-time skill. Check the costs. Find out how much more it will cost to repair or rebuild your property than it will to protect it with paint. Rotting buildings are a waste and an extravagance. When you paint use the best paint. It costs less in the long run. It spreads more easily—saves labor cost. It covers more surface per gallon than "cheap" paint. But most important, the best paint serves you five or more years longer than "cheap" paint.

When you look at a 30 x 3 1/2 USCO at $ 10.90

OUR tire dealer is naturally enthusiastic when he shows you the 30x3 1/2 USCO at $10.90. To him USCO has always represented a tire value that he felt more than justified in offering his customers. At the $10.90 price he can hardly be blamed for putting it to the front as the value he would most like to be remembered by.

USCO has always sold as a quality tire of known standards and performance. Today at $10.90 it fixes the worth of your tire dollar at a new maximum by reason of its own distinguished values.
