MAKE THIS TRIP TO CRATER LAKE AND SHASTA

An illustrated talk on southern Oregon will be given at the Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening, July 25. Miss Mable Russell, the Ashland artist, will present a series of pictures portraying the beauties of Crater Lake, Lake of the Woods, Mount Ashland, Mount Shasta, and Ashland's Lithia park. This will be accompanied with a descriptive talk regarding these scenes, and a musical program will be rendered by some of the best local artists, including Miss Berna Haight, Miss Bernice Yeo, Mrs. Shortridge and others.

No admission will be charged, but it is intended that an opportunity shall be given for those who are interested in the promotion of this method of advertising southern Oregon's attractions in the auto campground to give evidence of their interest. It is the intention of the chamber of commerce to furnish more slides of the trip to Lake of the Woods, Klamath lakes and other points of interest as rapidly as possible, and this method is taken to interest the public in the project.

Monmouth—Highway south of here to be paved. Marshfield—New concrete hospital to be erected.

Trying To Save Human Lives By Teaching People To Be Careful

IMPORTANT and widespread results all over America are expected as an outcome of the educational campaign now under way to make the public more careful on railroad grade crossings. On the first of June under the direction of the American Railway Association in co-operation with all the railroads in the country the slogan "Cross Crossings Cautiously" began to make its appearance from coast to coast in places where the most people would be likely to see it.

The campaign will continue to Sept. 30. Railroad men are hopeful that the constantly reiterated warning to "Cross Crossings Cautiously" and the arresting picture posters—reproduced above—that has been distributed all over the country to the number of 1,200,000 will teach a lasting lesson.

In 1920 about 76 per cent. of grade crossing accidents involved automobiles. In 30 years the Nation's population has increased 68 per cent. Crossing accidents have increased 345 per cent. in fatal and 652 per cent. in injury cases. In 1920, 1,791 persons were killed and 5,077 injured; of the latter 116 died later.

There are two ways of reducing or preventing such accidents. The first is the elimination of crossings. This is impossible. There are about 252,000 highway crossings in the United States, the elimination of which would cost more than $12,000,000.

Grade crossings are being abolished as fast as possible but it will take, at the present rate, more than 200 years to dispose of all crossings if no more are added.

The American Railway Association and the railroads have decided that the solution of the problem can be found in public education.

The railroads, since the termination of Federal control, have been carrying on an intensive educational campaign to reduce accidents among their employees. In 1921 there was a reduction of 48 per cent. in fatalities and 42 per cent. in injuries among train and engine men, compared with the record of 1916. If people can be educated to be careful, care can become a habit.

"IT SAVED THE DAY FOR ME" SAYS KENNEY

Portland Man Says He Was So Worried He Was About Ready to Give Up Job When Tanlac Restored Him to Health.

"Yes, sir, Tanlac and nothing else is what kept me on the payroll," declared Byron Kenney, 464 East Ash street, Portland, Ore., a valued employe of the John Wood foundry.

"For over a year my stomach was in bad shape. I had little or no appetite, and was gradually growing weaker. My nerves were all upset, and many times I rolled and tumbled all night, unable to sleep. I had pains all through my legs and arms and was bothered a great deal with constipation. I was just about past going, and it looked like I would have to quit work."

"I got hold of Tanlac just in time to save the day for me. The aches and pains have all gone now and I feel brimful of new life and energy again. I have the finest kind of appetite and have gained eight pounds. Tanlac simply made me all over again."

LITTLE TALKS ON THRIFT

By S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift.

WHILE economic conditions throughout the world are gradually becoming stabilized there is still much unrest, and it is well to bear in mind the important part thrift must play in the stabilizing processes of this post-war era.

It is natural that the man who owns a home, who possesses a savings account or who has the products of his thrift judiciously invested, should be an avowed supporter of the orderly forms of law and government.

His every instinct is toward progress and up-building. He is against destructive tendencies because he recognizes in them a danger to his patiently obtained possessions.

It is also to be borne in mind that the man who is thrifty is prosperous, for the real meaning of thrift is thriving.

And the man who realizes that he is getting on in the world and has something back of him for the days of emergency and who sees his possessions, small though they may be, slowly increasing, is most apt to judge social and economic problems on a basis of fairness to all.

In all the efforts that are being made to bring about more equitable conditions and get the world back to normal conditions, the most important part assumed by the thrift should not be overlooked.

HELP WANTED. UNDER STRIKE CONDITIONS BEST EXPLAINED BY CHAIRMAN BEN W. HOOPER OF THE UNITED STATES RAILROAD LABOR BOARD IN HIS STATEMENT OF JULY 1ST, READING AS FOLLOWS:

"In this case the conflict is not between the employer and the oppressed employes. The people of this country, through an act of congress, signed by President Wilson, established a tribunal to decide such disputes over wages and working conditions which are submitted to it in a proper manner."

REGARDLESS of any question of the right of the men to strike, the men who take the strikers' places are merely accepting the wages and working conditions prescribed by a government tribunal and are performing a public service.
