HARDING CALLS ON SHOPMEN TO RETURN TO WORK

WOULD PUT SENIORITY RIGHT UP TO DECISION OF RAIL LABOR BOARD

Agreement of Strikers and Railway Executives to Abide by Rerouting of Labor Board Forces Both to Acquiesce in Plan of President.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—President Harding has called upon the striking railroad workers to return to work immediately pending a decision by the railroad labor board on the controversy over the question of seniority rights.

The president addressed telegrams to Bert Jewell, chairman of the railway employees, and to Dewitt Cuyler, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, notifying them of his action as follows:

"Mindful of the pledge of both executives and the striking workmen to recognize the validity of all decisions of the railroad labor board, I am hereby calling on the striking workmen to return to work immediately, and calling upon the carriers to return them to work, and am calling upon both workers and carriers to take the question in dispute to the railroad labor board for hearing and decision, and a compliance by both with any decision rendered."

The new plan of the president was made public immediately following a conference between the president and the striking shopcraft leaders. The strike leaders left the White House, admittedly "favorably impressed" with President Harding's proposal.

KLAMATH IN ROW OVER SITE FOR NEW AUTO CAMP

KLAMATH FALLS, Aug. 7.—Another row has broken out here in the attempt to establish a second auto camp. The chamber of commerce has been at work on a scheme to purchase a piece of property in the residence section on Conger avenue, at a cost of $7500. The protest comes from the residents of that section of the city, who declare the establishment of a camp at that point will depreciate the value of the adjoining residence property, and that in any event the proposed site is altogether too small, 250x300 feet.

There is an auto camp already operating on the Linkville side of Ewauna lake, ample to accommodate the tourists, but business men complain that it is too far away from the business section of the city for them to derive any benefit from the tourist traffic. The location of the camp on the proposed new site would compel the tourists to drive through the business section in order to get to or away from it, and this would give the business houses a chance at the traffic, coming and going.

Struggling about the room in an effort to shake off her assailant, Mrs. Cole managed to reach an electric light. She switched this on, and as she did so, the intruder loosened his hold on her neck and, holding his arms across his face to hide his identity, ran from the house.

CLERMONT FERRAND, France, Aug. 7.—Optimism over the future of motorless flying prevails at Camp Mouillard, where the "glider" contests under the auspices of the First International Experimental congress of Motorless Airplanes will begin today and continue until August 20.

The builders, pilots and officials living in the canvas city near the top of Mount Combegrasse, are sanguine that machines propelled by man power or merely by the wind, are destined to make as much progress in the next 20 years as the gasoline motor planes have achieved since the Wright Brothers made their test flights at Kitty-Walk, N. C.

The swimming party given Sunday afternoon at Sap and Salt by Mr. Jesse Winburn was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. The younger people of the party enjoyed the fine new swimming pool to the fullest, while the older ones looked on in envy. An excellent luncheon was served late in the afternoon.

Mr. Wilson and daughter, of Medford, furnished entertainment in the way of songs, with Madame Tracy-Young presiding at the piano. Mr. Wilson recently composed a new Oregon song, which was sung during the afternoon and was greatly enjoyed. Music was also furnished by the boys' band in charge of Mr. Loveland. The shorthorn breeders of southern Oregon are expecting to take advantage of the Jackson county fair to put some of their best stock before the public. A catalog of the animals that will be offered for sale will probably be made up, showing the pedigree of the animals and the name of the owner.

FATE OF EUROPE IN THE BALANCE AT CONFERENCE

POSSIBILITY GERMANY MAY BE SAVED FROM FINANCIAL COLLAPSE

U. S. Is Not in Thirteenth Inter-Allied Conference Which Hopes to Solve Complex Problem by Effecting Anglo-French Concord.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The thirteenth inter-allied conference since the Versailles treaty was signed, opened today with every possibility that it would decide the future fate of Europe.

Upon the outcome of the conference hangs the future of Anglo-French concord and the possibility of Germany being dragged back from the verge of bankruptcy.

The conference has a complex problem to deal with. That Germany is on the brink of financial collapse is a foregone conclusion, and it is certain to be hastened if the demands of France are not modified. England has gone on record that she is willing to let up on the reparation demands, which Germany is admittedly unable to meet. Lloyd George has made it clear that British action depends to what extent the United States is willing to forego its claims against the allies generally, and herself in particular.

The United States is not officially represented at the conference, nor will it be, according to the statements made by Secretary Hughes, so that the European governments will be left to work out their own means of salvation.

ASHLAND SCHOOLS TO OPEN MONDAY SEPTEMBER 4TH

The first semester of the regular annual session of the Ashland schools will open Monday, September 4, 1922.

The caretakers of the buildings and grounds are overseeing various improvements in and about their respective grounds and buildings. The high school assembly and main halls have received a new coat of kalsomine, and the roof of the Hawthorne building has been given a new covering of paint, while many of the desks in the class rooms have been revarnished.

Superintendent Briscoe is particularly anxious to have every student start in school on the first day of the term, for those who start at a later date not only make a hardship for the teachers, but are themselves placed at a great disadvantage by having failed to get some of the primary and necessary instruction, which is given at the beginning of every subject, thus slowing down the progress of the whole class.

All beginners should be ready to start in on the first day of school, the same as members of other classes, for the beginner, who starts late, is at an even greater disadvantage than the pupil in advanced classes, no matter how much home instruction he may have had, or how bright he may be. Parents should remember that the phonetic system which is taught to beginners now is entirely different from the system taught years ago, and only a teacher is able to give the child the right start with this system.
