Fraternal Orders and Societies
 Advertising for fraternal orders or societies charging a regular initiation fee and dues, no discount. Religious and benevolent orders will be charged the regular rate for all advertising when an admission or other charge is made.

What Constitutes Advertising
 In order to allow a misunderstanding among some as to what constitutes news and what advertising, we print this very simple rule, which is used by newspapers to differentiate between them: "ALL future events, where an admission charge is made or a collection is taken IS ADVERTISING." This applies to organizations and societies of every kind as well as to individuals.
 All reports of such activities after they have occurred is news.
 All coming social or organization meetings of societies where no money contribution is solicited, initiation charged, or collection taken IS NEWS.

SOLOMONITES
 If the children of Ashland had votes, Charley Loomis would require no further support to be elected mayor.

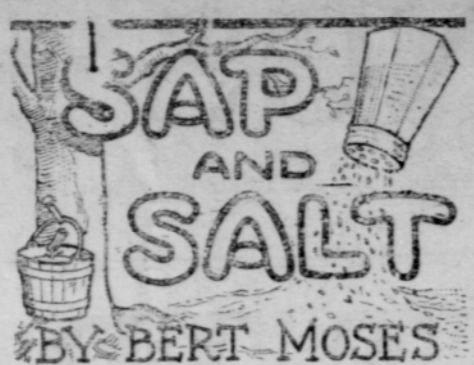

A wireless from Hornbrook says that by actual count there were 17 more people gathered at the depot to see the train breeze through that village with Vice-President Coolidge still in his pajamas, than turned out in Ashland, where he spent 20 minutes shaking hands and chatting with the people.

The entrance of Charley Loomis into the race for mayor gives the assurance that the election will result in the choice of the people, and not be a cut-and-dried affair. The day of hand-picked candidates to be elected without opposition has gone by. It went into the discard with party conventions. In some places the old method dies harder than in others. Ashland is one of them. But the doom of the oldtime method is no less certain, although mayhap, belated.

There should be some means devised for controlling the children who attend the band concerts in the park. A number of boys gathered on the lawn in front of the band stand last Thursday night, and their ebullient spirits, inspired no doubt by the excellent music, found vent in a great deal of unnecessary noise, and was disturbing and greatly marred the pleasure of the hundreds who had gathered to listen to the music. Boyish spirits will find vent, and this is said in no carping spirit that would curtail their enjoyment, but it does seem that the boys might, out of consideration for the enjoyment of others, curb their vociferousness during the actual rendering of the musical numbers.

A vast majority of the people of Ashland missed an opportunity this morning that will probably never occur again in their lifetime—an opportunity of personally meeting the vice-president of the United States, his charming wife and their two young sons. They are every-day folks, the kind that have the happy faculty of making you feel you have known them for years, and their manner of greeting left no doubt that they were honestly pleased at the evidences of hospitality shown them. It is true there were only a handful of citizens at the depot, but fortunately in this instance, the city itself is hidden from view, and the vice-president probably thought that the few people gathered at the depot was a fair representation of Ashland's population.

THE MAYORALTY
 The greatest need of Ashland at this crucial time in its history is a leader, and that leader should be the chief magistrate of the city.
 We must have a candidate for city executive who stands for progress in civic affairs. One who is not pledged to obsolete methods or wedded to the policy of sitting tight and watching the world go by. In other words a red-blooded leader, who not only has vigorous practical ideas of his own, but is capable of absorbing and making practical the visions of others. And, having such a mayor, we need a city council behind him, who will back him to the last ditch. In a city the size of Ashland, with its boundless resources and opportunities for development, it is essential that the head of the city government should be a man of such force of character as will enable him to stand in the forefront of any and every enterprise that will make for the advancement of Ashland.

We want a man who can take for his slogan: "On to Mount Ashland," and make good. Who can make of that enterprise not a dream, but a reality; who will bring to its fulfillment the wonderful scenic drive, which in its marvelous attractiveness, will be second only to Crater Lake, and would spread the fame of Ashland throughout the land.

Above all, give us a man of vigorous mentality, who wastes no time in telling others what to do, but says, "let's go!" who leads the way and knows how.

We want a man who will, irrespective of personal feelings, grasp the problem of giving us a tourist hotel commensurate with the wonderful assets Ashland has to give as an offset to the heavy investment required.

Having found such a man, give him at the polls such a majority as will make him know that he has a united constituency behind him. With that kind of timber in our municipal make-up, we will go far; without it we must slough along in the rut in which for, to these many years Ashland has wallowed. We hold our destiny in our own hands. Let's see what we can do with it, to the end that we may bring Ashland into its natural heritage.

There are a great many people in Ashland who believe that Charles L. Loomis measures up to the requirements and in electing him mayor, that the city can be assured of an honest and vigorous administration of municipal affairs. There are few men in the city who has more friends, for, notwithstanding his physical handicap, he possesses to a marked degree the faculty of radiating sunshine from his very presence. Coupled with this is a strong mentality and a powerful and compelling personality that in public office is bound to carry him far. It would be a difficult matter for the citizens of Ashland to select any of their number with better qualifications for acceptably filling the office of mayor.

THE FOREST FIRE
 I am more powerful than the combined armies of the world.
 I have destroyed more forest wealth than all the wars of the world.
 I spare few trees, and I find my victims among young forests and old, the tall and the lowly; deer, birds and the timid wild creatures of the forest fear me.

I loom up to such proportions that I cast my pall across the sun, hiding the glorious mountain peaks for days and days.
 I send up in billowing smoke thousands upon thousands of future homes in one brief, hot summer.
 I lurk in unseen places in the forest, avoiding the watchful eye of the forest patrol and fire lookout.
 I laugh at the forest rangers in red glee as the little flames, children of mine, race through the tall tree tops.
 You are warned against me, but you heed not.
 I am relentless, I am everywhere, in the forest, in the camp fire, at the sawmill, with the fisherman and tourist; the incendiary is my friend.
 I bring waste and blackness to the green mountainside, floods to the cool, clear streams; I dry up the little bubbling springs; I clear out the fish and drive away all wild life; I turn a cool forest camp into a desert waste.
 I bring ruin, disaster and death to prosperous towns, to counties and states.

 I rob children of schools, and pile up taxes on the shoulders of their parents.
 I destroy, consume, scritch up and wipe utterly away the forest wealth, leaving nothing but white ashes and the skeletons of trees.
 I am the worst enemy of present and future prosperity in the north-west.

POSTPONING THE TARIFF
 The idea that congress is planning to postpone the passage of the pending tariff bill until after the close of the present session is featured in the papers as a suggestion rather than as a fact. It is a part of the propaganda against tariff revision put out with the idea of hypnotizing congress into postponing tariff revision.

There is, we are certain, no purpose on the part of the majority in congress to postpone action on the tariff. The situation is too critical, both from an economic and from a political standpoint. The members of congress know that if a tariff measure is not passed at the present session, a very substantial proportion of the majority party in congress might just as well be looking around for someone to take the leashes of their Washington residences off from their hands on the 4th of next March.

Veterans Begin Repayment To The Bonus Commission

SALEM, Or., Aug. 12.—"All going out and nothing coming in," has been the rule in the state bonus commission up to Saturday of last week. This can no longer be maintained, however, for on Saturday the first repayment on a loan arrived at the commission's office. Frederick Jensen of Portland obtained a loan of $3000 three months ago, being the fifth actually paid. He was the first, however, who elected to make his payments quarterly, and a money order for $45 arrived at the office of the commission two days before it was due. Of this amount, $30 is credited as interest, and $15 applies to reduce the principal. The second payment in the form of a cashier's check arrived this morning from Edgar Franz, of Hood River, and was for the same amount. Nine more payments come due during the month of August, and in September, with a paddy increasing number in the succeeding months.

While the law does not require it, said Major Brumbaugh, secretary of the commission, we are mailing out notices of payments due in ample time for the borrower to make his arrangements for the payment. On our notice we call attention to the fact that personal checks in payment cannot be accepted, and request that remittances be made by money order or bank draft made payable to the state treasurer. Personal checks sometimes necessitate a fee for their collection through the bank, which we are unable to pay under the law, and for that reason the ruling was made that personal checks would not be accepted.

With the close of today's business, the commission has approved 18,063 claims for cash bonus amounting to $4,147,938; has approved and rixed the amount in 2347 loans aggregating $5,327,000, and has approved for payment $42 loans amounting to $2,009,500. Loans are being paid now at the rate of approximately $1,250,000 a month. The amount of funds remaining from the first sale of $10,000,000 in bonds, it is estimated, will be exhausted about October 1. The commission has authorized the sale of an additional amount of $5,000,000 early in September for delivery on October 1.
