Dorothy Jardon, Grand Opera Star, Invents Audience Test

Famous Singer Finds Public Preference Is For Popular Ballads

From grand opera to vaudeville may not sound like progress to the uninitiated but Dorothy Jardon of Chicago Grand Opera fame has a different notion. When she entered vaudeville, admiring music lovers raised a cry of protest. They said Miss Jardon was throwing herself away and cited the grand opera opportunities she was giving up. "They kept my mail heavy and my life miserable," Miss Jardon laughs. "They just wouldn't understand. But to be honest at the risk of being considered eccentric, I must go on record as regarding vaudeville and grand opera of equal importance artistically." Soulful Themes "Operatic roles are wonderfully satisfying, but there's no bigger thrill than that of putting over a heart stirring ballad like 'Wake Up Little Girl, You're Dreaming' or 'Why Should I Cry Over You' to a great audience. "For after all, everybody must admit that more music lovers prefer ballads than grand opera. And why shouldn't they have what they want? "Take 'Why Should I Cry Over You.' It's the kind of melody every love sick youth gets miserable happiness out of soulfully singing in the parlor at twilight. "Instinct Guides Music Tastes "Besides, even in vaudeville, I sing songs from 'Thais' and 'Zaza.' But I'll tell you one thing—though there's applause aplenty for the aria, there's a positive thunder of approbation for the ballad that follows. "I don't believe in 'educating the public.' Instinct guides in musical taste and should do so—that's my sentiment."

MR. AND MRS SHINN GUESTS OF WEDNESDAY CLUB

The Wednesday club of the Presbyterian church entertained last evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Shinn, who are soon to leave for Bellingham, Wash. The parlor of the church was a bower of beauty with festoons of Japanese lanterns and masses of autumn flowers. The officers of the club, Madam Wilson, Whittle, Wick and Winter acted as hostesses and received the guests who came with a spirit of good fellowship, which spirit prevailed during the entire evening. The club presented Mrs. Shinn with a handsome handbag, in token of their love and esteem for her years of faithful service and good will. Mayor Lamkin spoke for the church and expressed the appreciation of the congregation for the place Mr. and Mrs. Shinn have held in the church during their ten years of residence here. Mr. Shinn responded in the same happy vein. Members of the Christian Endeavor society, who were holding their business meeting and social in the Junior room, appeared and sang a group of songs while refreshments were served. Everyone was delighted with the evening's entertainment, and many good wishes go with Mr. and Mrs. Shinn.

LUMBER PRODUCTION REACHING HIGH MARK

DORRIS, Calif., Aug. 12.—The high water mark in the lumber production in the vicinity of Dorris and Macdoel will be reached this season, providing operations continue at the present rate unhampered the remainder of the summer and fall. Sawmills are running ten hours in most cases at full capacity. Only in the local box factories does there seem to be difficulty in obtaining a full crew of capable hands. Approximately 300 men are employed by the mills and factories in this district. This estimate is not exact and is probably under the actual number, as production has been constantly increased since figures were obtained. Another mill three miles northeast from Dorris will be started in operation within the next week. Clark brothers will have charge of the mill for Goldeen and Tarlow of Portland, who are the owners.

Is a Womans Time Worth 20 an Hour

"Women will make themselves more appreciated," says a recent writer, "if they will place some value on their time." If you value your own time at only 20 cents an hour, for example, you will see your washday problems in a different light. The average family washing and ironing requires 10 to 20 hours work. Add to this the necessary supplies, current, water, and a dozen other incidentals, and you'll discover that not only can you save your health and time, but you can actually have all this work done our way for no more than it is costing you now. Try this more modern, more economical method of washing and see how much better it will make you feel in every way. Phone us today. Ashland Laundry Co. PHONE 165
