MARSHFIELD HUNTERS NOT HAVING VERY MUCH LUCK

MARSHFIELD, Or., Sept. 8.—Hunters have not had their usual success so far this season, although some who stayed in the woods for two weeks, killed the limit of deer. In some places, deer are plentiful, one of these localities being the Tloga country. One party which had killed but seven deer, and were waiting for the last day to kill the eighth to bring in fresh meat, saw 22 fawns and does during their last day of hunting. All hunters in isolated sections reported finding many carcasses of deer that had been killed by panthers. One party of hunters saw a herd of 15 elk and another man was chased back to camp by a militant bull elk.

O. A. C. PLANS MIXED CHORUS OF 200 VOICES

CORVALLIS, Or., Sept. 8.—A mammoth mixed chorus of at least 200 voices is planned by William Frederick Gaskins, director of the college of music, for the school year. This will make it possible to develop much good talent for the glee clubs, which will be picked in February.

The membership in both the men's glee club and the Madrigal club, the women's glee club, will be increased from 24 to 32, when the students are picked from the mixed chorus in February.

The mixed chorus will give a public entertainment after the first of the year.

COMMISSION DESIGNATES NEW STATE HIGHWAY

SALEM, Or., Sept. 8.—To connect the Roosevelt Coast highway with the California-Oregon line, the California highway commission has designated a stretch between Crescent City and the boundary line between the states as part of the so-called "7 per cent system."

This announcement was made by the Oregon highway commission, which states the action of the California commission was at the request of the Oregon commission. The California designation is in Del Norte county and covers a distance of about 20 miles.

BANKER DONATES PARK SITE TO ROSEBURG

ROSEBURG, Sept. 8.—J. H. Booth, president of the Douglas County bank of this city, and a brother of the state highway commissioner, today deeded 6.8 acres of land lying along the highway more than half a mile, bordering the South Umpqua river, to the state, the land to be used for a park site.

The land is south of Vandyne creek, about 15 miles south of Roseburg. There is a beautiful grove there, making the property ideal for park purposes.

DEVOTED TO BLIND PONTIFF

Living Buddha, Made Sightsless by Disposition, Commands Veneration of Millions of Followers.

The living Buddha has a double personality. He is clever, penetrating, energetic, but at the same time he indulges in the drunkenness that has brought on blindness. When he became blind, the lamas were thrown into a state of desperation. Some of them maintained that Bogdo Kahn must be poisoned and another incarnate Buddha set in his place; while the others pointed out the great merits of the pontiff in the eyes of Mongolians and the followers of the Yellow Faith. They finally decided to propitiate the gods by building a great temple with a gigantic statue of Buddha, according to "Black Magic of Mongolia," by Ferdinand Ossendowski, rendered into English by Lewis Stanton Palen in Asia Magazine. He never ceases to ponder upon the problems and well-being of the church and of Mongolia, and at the same time he indulges himself with useless trifles. A retired Russian officer presented him with two old guns, for which the donor received the title "Tumbair Hun"—"Prince Dear-to-My-Heart." On holidays these cannon were fired, to the great amusement of the blind man. Motor cars, gramophones, telephones, crystals, porcelains, pictures, perfumes, musical instruments, rare animals and birds, elephants, Himalayan bears, monkeys, Indian snakes and parrots—all these were collected in the palace of "the god," but all were soon cast aside and forgotten. The blind pontiff is regarded with the deepest reverence. Before him all fall on their faces. Khans and hutukuts approach him on their knees. A drunken blind man, listening to the banal arias of the gramophone or frightening his servants with an electric current from his dynamo, a ferocious old fellow poisoning his political enemies, a lama keeping his people in darkness and de-ceiving them with his prophecies and fortune telling—he is, however, not an entirely ordinary person.

TO REVIVE DOMESTIC WEAVING

Movement in England to In a Measure Restore System Which Preceded Modern Factory.

A short time ago an Indian came into Lancashire from a training school in Paris and promised a huge order to anyone who could invent a single hand-spinning spindle with an automatic feeder of raw cotton. This was to be used to help crush the factory system of India by a revival and extension of hand spinning, and with it, domestic weaving.

The idea should not be impossible, but the difficulty of providing the mechanism is to make it light enough in weight to be easily moved about, also to make it cheap enough for any poor householder to purchase. India has about 2,000,000 hand looms employing 5,000,000 or 6,000,000 men, women and children, consuming more than 250,000,000 pounds of yarn.

In England the art of domestic weaving has been practically lost. It was superseded nearly 100 years ago by the rapid advance of the automatic loom and the factory system. But there has been a suggestion recently that some attempt should be made to reintroduce domestic weaving on a more modern plan than that which has been pushed out. Domestic hand-loom weaving may still be found in isolated places and it has also been taken up by disabled soldiers.

Hopes to Bring Rain by Wireless.

Sir Oliver Lodge, England's veteran scientist, knows how to play on the imagination of his countrymen. On his seventy-first birthday he casually announced that much of his time is devoted to wireless research work, but for the time being he shall keep the results of his experiments dark. He believes that there is a great future for broadcasting.

Being asked what he thinks is the cause of England's protracted drought—last year was the driest of all recorded English summers, and there has been some duplication of it this year. "The atmosphere wants electrifying," he said. "Some day, I have no doubt, a method will be found to electrify the atmosphere to produce rain at will. It is one of my dreams of the future."

The Nth Degree.

Armond is learning to count. He doesn't seem to be enjoying his lessons, however, and after he has painfully and slowly enumerated one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, he stops, and no amount of coaxing can get him to go further, although Polly, his year-and-a-half-old sister, counts nobly on to one hundred.

The woman therefore feels highly flattered, for one night recently, after she'd told the wee lad a bedtime story, he flung his arms around her neck and said: "Oh, such a lovely story! I love you to the end of the numbers."—Chicago Journal.

Helium From Beryl.

A distinguished English physicist, Professor Strutt of Cambridge, has discovered a notable quantity of helium in beryl sent to him from New Hampshire. A remarkable fact in this relation is that the mineral appears to be absolutely without radio-activity. As is now generally known, helium is a product of radioactive minerals. Professor Strutt, surprised by the result obtained, states that it seems likely that here is a case of rayless change of atomic constitution, and it may lead to further unexpected discoveries.—Exchange.

Get to the heart of this quality talk

What makes cigarette quality anyhow?

Chiefly it's a matter of tobacco quality—the kinds and grades of tobaccos used.

The extra enjoyment you get from Chesterfields is due to just that thing—finer tobaccos of better grade than in any other cigarette at the price.

The good taste of your first Chesterfield will prove it.
