Elderly People Accommodated by Services in Mornings; Instances Of Cures Ane Given; Four Ministers and Wives in Healing Line

Dr. C. S. Price, the hard-working evangelist, appears to be the most sought-after person in Ashland today. Callers begin coming before he is dressed in the morning, and before many people are out of bed, he has gone to some home to pray for the sick. While he is away from the hotel, notes are left for him, entreating that he visit the home of some shut-in and pray for divine healing. The last requests of this nature are received after the evening meetings and it is sometimes after midnight before his day's work

MODEL BUNGALOW TO BE OPEN FOR INSPECTION

Another fine bungalow has just been completed and will soon be ready for occupancy. This building was constructed for Millard W. Grubb, and is one of the finest in the city, both from the point of beauty and from the point of convenience and service. The contract called for first class material and workmanship, and it certainly was filled in all respects; the material being supplied by the Carson-Fowler Lumber company and the workmanship being done by J. H. Thatcher and A. E. McFarland. The house is on the corner of Second and B street and the central location will make it a most desirable home.

> "Shall the common council adopt a policy of opening up Ashland creek canyon and watershed to further extension of roads and scenic drives, with strict camping and picnicking prohibitions, or shall further development of roadways, except such as are needed by the municipal work of the city, be discouraged?"

It was decided by the council to put this resolution on the ballot after considerable objection had been raised by citizens in regard to the way the council had handled the canyon situation during the past to the closing of the canyon to pic-nickers, while others declared that would encourage any more people to watershed. While some of the members of the present council will probably retire on January 1, 1923, the settlement of the question of the development of the canyon is one that they desire to have settled by vote of the people, which will give their successors in A. Roni, in the eastern part of the office a basis to work on. A special meeting of the council ported his 16 year old son, Waino, will be held Saturday night, at which time it is hoped to have a full attendance of the members, when certain matters of interest was confiscated and Roni locked in will be taken up.
