Copco Dam on Klamath River Nearing Completion; Will be Done by Nov. 1

Work on the Copco project, which was begun the first of the year, will be completed by November 1, it is expected by the contractors. This will practically finish the work, although there will remain a few details to be finished.

Work now in progress will add 20 feet to the crest of the dam, completing this structure to a height of 132 feet above the original stream bed. The power house building is being extended and a second generating unit added, which will give the power plant a total water wheel capacity of 37,200 horse power, and a generating capacity of 25,000 kilowatts.

The present work will require the placing of 11,000 cubic yards of concrete, using 65,000 sacks of cement. A large proportion of this cement is being furnished by the Beaver Portland Cement company, from their plant at Gold Hill, Ore. Reinforcing steel to the amount of 150 tons will be utilized in reinforcing the concrete structures, while 250,000 board feet of lumber will be used, the most of this being for construction of forms for concrete work.

The upper portion of the penstock, which is the pipe used to carry the water from the reservoir to the water wheels consists of a reinforced concrete section 14 inches inside diameter. The remainder of the penstock is a 14 inch steel pipe. One hundred and forty-five tons of steel plate, 9/16 inch in thickness, are required for the construction of the steel pipe. These plates are shipped in pieces about 5 inches by 14, cut and punched to fit, and are then riveted together on the job.

Six cast iron electrically operated gates will regulate the flow of water into the penstocks. Each will have a clear opening of 4 feet 3 inches by 9 feet, and will weigh 47,000 pounds each.

All freight is being hauled from the Southern Pacific main line at Thrall, Calif., over the California Oregon Power company's railroad to Copco, a distance of 14 miles, by means of a single two and a half ton truck, and three trailers, all mounted on flanged wheels which run on the railroad rails. Some 5,000 tons of freight will be handled in this way during the present season.

Illustration of concrete section of new penstock. The first opening from the left, ten feet in diameter, makes provision for the installation of a third unit. The next opening to the right, 14 feet in diameter, is to be combined with the steel penstock pipe for unit number two, 18,600 h. p., now being installed. The two steel pipes to the right are the ten foot penstocks at present in use for unit number one, also 18,600 h. p. The height of Copco dam is 132 feet, which gives an operating head of 125 feet for the above generating units.

BOGS KILL 12 SHEEP; STOCKMAN GETS PEEVISH

KLAMATH FALLS, Sept. 25.—Does played havoc with a shipment of 500 lambs in the local stock yards recently, killing or severely injuring 12, according to Charles F. De Lap, well-known stock dealer. The lambs had been shipped by train from Chiloquin and were unloaded here to be moved to the Ankeny ranch near Merrill. De Lap figures the loss at $7 per head, or $84. Future shipments, De Lap said, will be protected by men armed with shotguns.

WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR WEEK

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The weather outlook for the period September 25 to 30, inclusive, is forecast as follows: Pacific coast states—Generally fair weather in California; unsettled weather and occasional rain in Oregon and Washington; normal temperature. Northern Rocky mountain and plateau region—Generally fair weather and normal temperature, but with probability of local rains in middle of week.

CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY AND CHILD'S RECOVERY

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Spencer celebrated their 51st wedding anniversary last week, and were surprised during the day by Don Spencer and family and the Misses Mary and Esther Spencer. The purpose of the trip to the ranch was to show Mr. and Mrs. Spencer that their little grand-daughter, Alice Spencer, had been healed by divine power. The youngster recently suffered an attack of diphtheria, combined with septic sore throat, which left her joints stiff. She was taken to Dr. Price on Saturday a week ago, and was completely healed.

GOLD NUGGETS ARE FOUND IN ROAD BY WORKMAN

ARMSTRONG, B. C., Sept. 25.—A road laborer, on new gravel, picked out several pretty pebbles. They later turned out to be gold nuggets. It is believed the gravel came from a municipally owned pit, and prospectors are busy seeking the deposit.

Will Attend Conference—

Mrs. Louise Perozzi will attend the conference of the republican state committee in Portland tomorrow, where she will attend as the Jackson county member of the executive committee. She will stop for a short visit with her daughter, who is attending the University of Oregon at Eugene, on her way home.
