CHARGE VISITORS SMALL FEE

Admission to State Museums and Palaces of France Now Matter of Stated Price.

Visitors to the state museums and palaces in Paris are now required, reports the Daily Telegraph correspondent, to pay an entrance fee. The fees vary from 1 franc at the Louvre to 50c at the Petit Triannon, and the first day's experience yielded very encouraging results. Although the Louvre was open only in the afternoon, the receipts for the day were 3,000 francs. Three hundred francs were taken at the Luxembourg, and the Cluny museum and the Arc de Triomphe each took 350.

The director of the National museum estimates that during the 200 days a year on which an admission fee is charged—that is, allowing two free days per week—the receipts at the Louvre will average 2,000 francs a day. Few people, he said, object to paying the small fee, but it will relieve the taxpayer of a great part of his burden for the benefit of state museums. A proposal is being considered to charge for admission to the gardens of Versailles on the days when the fountains are playing, as the spectacle—always a great attraction to visitors—costs 30,000 francs to 35,000 francs a day at the present price of coal.

MANY USERS OF TELESCOPE

Dealers Report Practically a Steady Demand for Glasses in All Months of the Year.

"We sell telescopes all the year round, but the demand for them is greater in summer than in other seasons," said the salesman in a New York optician's shop. "Perhaps that is because it is easier to remain outdoors and study the stars on a summer night than it is when the weather is colder.

"Also, in summer people buy telescopes for other purposes than to study the stars. Folks on the seashore get them to look at passing vessels, at the clouds and other things. We sell some also to those who live in the mountains and use the telescope for lookout purposes. But of course, the greater number of telescopes, especially the high-power glasses, are bought for the study of the heavens.

"Annually we sell an average of 200 telescopes for amateur use. They range in size from the hand glass, with 1-inch lens, to the glass that is supported on a tripod and has a lens 3 to 3 1/2 inches in diameter. Larger lenses than the 3 1/2 inch size are seldom bought by amateurs. They are for professional use."

"Jinxes" Were Numerous.

A number of seaway passengers aboard the Adriatic, which caught fire from an explosion on Thursday night, said yesterday that there was a number of signs attending the sailing of the ship which were construed as "jinxes" by the sailors. Among these were:

The ship lost an anchor in the Mersey; Nearly hit the Holyhead-Dublin ferry; The birds refused to fly aboard the ship.

And the explosion occurred very close to the spot where the Titanic went down in 1912. The story is being told of the elderly man who was nearly panic stricken and when asked jocularly what he was afraid to die for, said in a shaky voice, "I've been trimming people all my life!"—New York Sun.

Denatured Alcohol.

Denatured alcohol is grain alcohol made unfit for use as a beverage. Completely denatured alcohol is made by adding 10 gallons of wood alcohol and a half gallon of benzene to 100 gallons of ethyl alcohol. This is free from government tax and may be bought by any one for use as fuel or light.

The denaturing must be done when the alcohol is produced and in bonded warehouses used exclusively for the purpose and for storing denatured alcohol, and is done under the supervision of the government. The grain alcohol may be made from grain, corn, potatoes or similarly starchy products, but the conditions under which it must be produced make it impracticable except for well-equipped factories.

Easy to Prevent Goiter.

"Simple goiter is the easiest of all diseases to prevent," wrote Doctor Marine, the great specialist in this disease, some time ago. Iodine is known to be necessary to the normal function of the thyroid gland. Goiter is an expression of deficiency of iodine in the thyroid, and the elaborate experiments made recently by Dr. O. P. Kimball on the school children of Akron, Ohio, furnish conclusive evidence that administering a minute quantity of iodine every day acts as a preventive in such regions where goiter prevails.

In the Airy Days.

We have always held that Charley Wooster broke the western record when he broke prairie one summer in the early '70s, togged out in blue denims, going barefooted and wearing a silk tie, but the Atchison Globe tells of a man named Paswell who in 1890 came into possession of a clawhammered suit sent in a "relief" box from Boston and wore it all summer for every day on the farm. He wore his overalls to church.—Nebraska State Journal.

ORANGE OWL PLEDGES SUPPORT TO ANDY GUMP

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Oct. 24.—The Orange Owl, college humorous publication, has pledged its entire support to Andy Gump in his race for congress. The Owl has adopted Andy's slogan, "100 per cent for the people," and will expound his principles of statesmanship to the student body of the college.

By breaking a stringent rule that no political campaigning be done by student publications in the college, the Orange Owl is demonstrating the confidence it has in Gump's popularity.

FORMER ASHLAND WOMAN DIES IN STOCKTON, CALIF.

Word has been received of the death Sunday noon of Mrs. G. W. Pennebaker in Stockton, Calif. The funeral will be held in that city.

Mrs. Pennebaker was a former resident of the city, leaving here about 10 years ago. Before her marriage she was Miss Tillie Reeser. She is survived by two sisters in Ashland, Mrs. Charles Abbot and Mrs. C. E. Hooper; two sisters and a brother in Portland, Mrs. D. C. Herrin, Miss Margaret Reeser and Horace Reeser, and a sister, Mrs. Harry Carpenter, who now resides in California. A husband and six children are left to mourn her loss.

MISS TURA WILLET HOLDS CHARMING BIRTHDAY PARTY

The home of Miss Tura Claudia Willet was the scene of a very pretty dinner party Monday, the motif being the seventh birthday of the young hostess. In spirit with the nearness of Halloween, the decorations consisted of candles, jack o' lanterns, while the little folks, with their yellow caps, sat around the table, giving an added delightful touch to the occasion. A large birthday cake, bearing seven candles, furnished the light during the dinner.

The invited guests to the dinner were, Patsy Herrin, George Smith, Karlock Johnson, Jack Enders, Vera Grace Plummer and Miss Hays. The Misses Ilene and Mildred Johnson assisted with the dinner and entertaining.

MAN SUFFERS BROKEN LEGS IN FALL FROM HAY WAGON

Jesse Smith suffered a very severe injury Sunday, when he fell from a load of hay which he was driving across the new irrigation ditch on the Benton Bowers place. He fractured his left ankle and his right knee in the fall.

The hay had been loaded on the wagon on the far side of the ditch, and there was no crossing over the ditch except at a place where the wagons had been driven back and forth previously. This was none too good a crossing, and the load of hay was top heavy and tipped over, hurling Smith on the stones which had been taken from the ditch in its construction.

Smith left the hospital only two weeks ago and has not been in the best of health.

Apple Show Date Set—

Additional support and premiums by the merchants of Medford have definitely settled the question of an Apple Show to be held in that city, November 4 having been designated as the opening date.

A want ad will sell it.

Corn Show Successful—

F. E. Upton, of Central Point, won the sweepstakes prize cup offered for the best showing of corn at the first Southern Oregon Corn show, which opened in Medford Saturday evening. Displays of the product were excellent, and consisted of corn grown under irrigation and without irrigation. All prize winning corn will be sent to the Pacific International Stock show at Portland.

Aged Lady Fined—

Taken into custody late last week and listed on the justice court docket as Jane Doe Kittle, an aged German woman, about 60 years old, was fined $500 on a charge of selling intoxicating liquor. The arrest was made by S. B. Sandefer, who destroyed a large quantity of moonshine and wine. Her home is near this city. In commenting upon the case, Justice Taylor stated that it was only on account of her age that a jail sentence was not imposed.
