Y.M.C.A. DINNER FRIDAY NIGHT IS HUGE SUCCESS

MANY GATHER AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH TO LEARN OF WORK

INSPIRING ADDRESS MADE BY W. W. DILLON

Period of Youth Most Important Is Message of Secretary; Boys Give Splendid Talks Following Banquet; Officers Are Elected.

"Individuals must be depended upon to reach society, and the time to reach the individual is in his youth," declared W. W. Dillon, interstate secretary for the Y. M. C. A. in speaking to 75 members of the Hi-Y club, fathers and mothers, following a banquet at the Presbyterian church Friday evening. "In the adolescent period, we must make an impression upon the mind of the young man. This must be done during his teen age. It is with this period of youth that the Y. M. C. A. deals with primarily." In closing Mr. Dillon stated that the two pressing needs of the organization were money and life.

Speaking with the apparent ease of practiced men, many of the young boys present responded to E. A. Meeker's requests for short talks on the activities of the summer camp. Mr. Meeker is chairman of the county executive committee.

George Johnson, the first boy to reply, told in detail the daily life of the Elk Creek camp. Each squad took its turn performing routine camp duties, while the boys, when pancakes were served, cooked their own breakfasts. Later, groups formed for Bible study. After lunch, they rested, reading or writing as they desired, then swimming was enjoyed. Later in the afternoon, various athletic games were played. Upon completing supper, the boys gathered around the large camp fire where they told stories, sang songs and staged stunts for entertainment. Donald Tryor, of Talent, in a direct and convincing manner, set forth the plans of the year, and also told of the father and son banquet held, at which time there were nearly 70 present.

Athletics of the Ashland boys were explained by Dale Leslie and Raymond Carson, who stated that in order to be eligible for any sport, the boy must attend Sunday school at least three times during the month.

John Galey explained the activities of the Hi-Y club, an organization consisting of junior members of the Y. M. C. A. in the three upper high school classes. The club stands for cleanliness in speech, habits and athletics, and for a higher standard of character. He stated that plans were being made for a campaign.

Responding to Toastmaster Meeker, several older men spoke briefly. O. F. Carson told of the benefits to be derived from the men's athletic class, especially the amount of interest shown in volleyball. He declared that there was a great need of something that would pull the men away from their businesses. Cash Wood, county secretary, spoke on the activities of the summer camp and awarded commissions earned as follows: Dale Leslie, Ashland, sergeant; Donald Tryor, Talent, first sergeant; John Galey and Herbert Doran, both of Ashland, first lieutenants.

Telling of the need of more play between father and son, Lester Newberry, of Talent, set forth the development of the junior boys through the Y. M. C. A. in its stand for the betterment of the physical, mental, moral and spiritual life.

John H. Rudd, interstate secretary, spoke a few words of greeting, in which he told of the work in various counties. He also paid a very glowing tribute to the county secretary, Cash Wood.

The retiring county committee-men, J. O. Rigg, O. F. Carson and G. H. Billings, were re-elected, and Lester Newberry, Talent, elected to fill the vacancy of I. C. Williams, also of Talent.

Members of the executive committee are: C. A. Meeker, Medford; H. W. Frame, Phoenix; E. C. Faber, Central Point; G. H. Billings and V. O. N. Smith, Ashland. A. S. Smith of Medford was selected to

This statement was made exclusively to an International News correspondent by Lloyd George as his campaign train was rushing to Glasgow. The train was bedecked with flowers, and the ex-premier was constantly making speeches.

WALTER PIERCE SPEAKS TONIGHT AT CHAUTAUQUA

ISSUES OF COMING ELECTION TO BE THOROUGHLY EXPLAINED

NEUTRALITY ATTITUDE ASSUMED BY TIDINGS

Partisan Campaign Does Not Interest Newspaper, Too Busy With Local Progressive Plans; Intelligent Voters Urged to Attend.

This evening the Chautauqua building is expected to have the largest crowd that has ever gathered in southern Oregon to hear a political address, when the Hon. Walter M. Pierce, of La Grande, candidate for the governorship of the state, will speak on the political issues of the coming campaign.

Mr. Pierce is not a stargazer to Ashland people, having talked to a large audience in Lithia park on Labor day. He is a most convincing speaker, and will talk straight from the shoulder tonight. Word has been sent to all Rogue River valley points, and every indication points to a large delegation from Medford, Grants Pass, Central Point, Phoenix, Gold Hill and Talent.

With Mr. Pierce, who arrived from Portland at 1 o'clock this afternoon, were Mrs. B. F. Irvine, wife of the editor of the Portland Journal, and Jesse Winburn.

At this time the Tidings wishes to announce that it is taking no sides in the partisan campaign going on in the state between democrats and republicans. It is too busy trying to get Ashland lined up on the progressive side, yet it is due Hon. Walter Pierce that the citizens of the city give him a respectful hearing. To cast an intelligent ballot, every voter should hear both sides, and then go to the polls and vote as his conscience directs.

What Mr. Pierce will say tonight will be worth hearing. He is a fluent speaker. Supporters of Mr. Pierce will be glad to learn more of his viewpoint upon certain issues, while his opponents will be given an opportunity to see the opposite side of the question. It is hoped that every citizen of Ashland will avail himself of this opportunity, coming upon the threshold of the November 7 election, and make arrangements for attending the address at the Chautauqua building tonight.

The evening was spent in games, after the various stunts were performed by the freshmen as they were initiated one by one into the intricate mysteries of the reception of their advent from the lower grades as betfits their station as young ladies and men in the first year of high school.

Sophomore students who did themselves proud in having charge of the affair, were: Emily Wentner, Thelma Perozzi, Kathryn Pittinger, Albert Cotter, Vernon McGee, Robert Wright and Orville Hall, with Misses Minnie Poley and Leona Marsters as chaperons. Refreshments, consisting of pumpkin pie and cider, were served in the domestic science hall.
