"LOOMIS-FOR-MAYOR" MEETING WELL ATTENDED BY CITY VOTERS

OPPOSITION MOVE IS BLOCKED BY JOHNSON

Gathering Is Orderly as Crowd Hears Refutation of Charges Made by Speakers at Citizens' Mass Meeting Thursday Evening.

NOW, ALL TOGETHER!
Hail! Hail! the gang am on the run!
Hail! Hail! Charley's got the battle won!
Just stand by his guns in the thickest of the fight,
And go to the polls and vote 'er right.
And it's all over but the shout'n'.

Compliments on the splendid way in which the "Loomis-for-Mayor" meeting was conducted at the Armory Friday evening were heard on every side as the crowd of nearly 500 people filed from the building. O. H. Johnson presided at the gathering.

Standing out in contrast to the speeches of the previous evening was that of Charlie Loomis, candidate for mayor, who stated in no uncertain terms the planks upon which he based his candidacy, and the splendid, whole-hearted and gentle manner in which he spoke of his opponents, particularly Dr. W. E. Blake, made a deep impression upon those present.

He was followed by Dr. B. E. Smith.

In prefacing his talk, Mr. Sylvester Patterson stated that he hoped he would be pardoned for reading his maiden speech.

"I have been asked to say a few words in behalf of the city treasurer's office," he declared. "I have no criticism of Mr. Eubanks. I regard him as a very capable officer and a personal friend."

"I did not seek the nomination for the office of city treasurer. But last winter I made an appeal to our mayor and city council through our local paper, the Ashland Tidings, for a better and more beautiful Ashland; that we had an abundance of water going to waste, and that the water fund had taken care of the water system and retired bonds as they came due when the price of irrigation was $8 per acre per year.

"I asked this body of lawmakers to give the taxpayers of the city of Ashland an itemized financial statement of the water fund and the electric light fund for the last two years.

"The people are entitled to know how their money is being spent. But we never got it.

"Do you know why? I don't. Do you want to know?

"If I am elected city treasurer you will know. Here is what the city charter demands:

"Article 7, section 21, under special powers of the common council: 'At the close of each fiscal year, which shall be on the 31st of December in each year, the common council shall cause to be published within the city a full, complete and detailed statement of all moneys received by the city government during the preceding year, and on what account received and expended; classifying each receipt and expenditure under its proper head.' There is no way to avoid this if the charter is complied with.

"Article 11, section 2 of the city charter of Ashland, treasurer's powers and duties: 'He shall upon receipt of any sums of money credit the amount received to the proper fund or funds, and shall not under any circumstances apply any special fund to other purposes.' That is plain English.

"I have always tried to be a law-abiding citizen. Let us stand by the city charter or repeal it."

G. S. Butler announced his candidacy for re-election as a member of the park commission.

An effort to inject a long-winded debate by the opposition was frustrated by Mr. Johnson. Outside of this interruption the meeting was orderly throughout. The chairman took the stand that in as much as the meeting Thursday night was a citizens' mass meeting, at which time the principal speakers were Mayor Lamkin, W. M. Briggs, J. W. McCoy, E. D. Briggs and E. V. Carter, and that the meeting last night was sponsored and paid for by those supporting the Loomis ticket, they held the right to present their side of the question.

R. Greer, who also launched a repudiation of the charges of graft and extortion prices asked for advertising. Mr. Greer talked direct from the shoulder and did not mince matters. He emphasized the point that he was owner of the Tidings, and that his editorial columns were his, and that he would say in those columns anything that he desired to say, and that he would allow no one to dictate the policies he should adopt.

ASHLAND'S BEST HIGHWAY BOOSTER IS JUDGE GOWDY

One of the most ardent boosters for the Pacific highway in southern Oregon is Justice W. H. Gowdy. In fact, he is so much of a booster that it is his desire that every tourist shall be given an opportunity to view the scenic wonders en route.

In answer to roll call in justice court this morning, 23 men responded to their names. Tales of hard luck, of looking for work, "no savvy" and ignorance of wrong doing in stealing a ride on the Southern Pacific were related. Men appeared who stated they had come from St. Paul and Ogden, besides many points on the coast. In practically every case they disclaimed the possession of the monetary unit. All were ordered to take the paved route to the south and to avoid railroad property.

One man, the 24th to appear, declared that he did not like southern Oregon. Yet he was welcomed as an old friend by Justice Gowdy. Two weeks ago he was arrested and brought into court and released. In order that he might be given an opportunity to revise his opinion regarding this glorious portion of the state, he was sentenced to the county jail for a period of 30 days. J. W. Hatcher, chief of police, took him to Jacksonville today.

All of the men were arrested during the night by Special Officer Reynolds, who found them on the railroad right of way. They were charged with trespassing.

WISEHAUPT TO DELIVER EXTRA TALK TONIGHT

DEMAND STRONG BY THOSE WHO HAVE NOT HEARD "PEP"

SAYS INDIVIDUALS IN THREE CLASSES

Thick, Thin and Round Types Selected from Audience; Lecturer to Speak on "Why You Are Where You're At" Tonight.

"The difference between a clerk and a salesman is that the former is hired to wait on folks, and that is all he or she does—stand around and wait," Howard J. Wisehaupt, character analyst of Cleveland, declared at the third of his lectures at the Civic club building Friday night in his lecture on "Character Analysis in Business."

Three classes of individuals were identified by the speaker: the thick head, the active, businesslike person; the thin head, the deep thinker interested in the finer things of life, who is artistic, and the round head, the bluff, hearty type, who likes to chat while transacting business. Types from the audience were selected by Mr. Wisehaupt.

The cost in money to change employees was the gist of the opening portion of his address. He mentioned a great manufacturer who had declared in favor of a plan whereby the wage of every employee was raised to not less than a certain amount each day. This manufacturer has, in his various factories and assembling plants, 13,000 machines, each of which is operated by a man.

It was learned during a single year that 54,000 men had been engaged at different times to do the work, due to the fact that they quit and went elsewhere because wages were low. It was then decided to increase the wages, not from any philanthropic sentiment, but to avoid "breaking in" new men. It was stated by the manufacturer that it cost him on the average of $50 every time a new man was employed.

Because of the great amount of interest evinced in the lectures, Mr. Wisehaupt has consented to deliver another talk again this evening, at 7:30 o'clock at the Civic club building. For this special lecture he has selected "Why You Are Where You're At" as his topic. The public is cordially invited to attend this final public address. This is entirely voluntary upon the part of the "Pep" man, and is being given because many who desired to hear him were unable to do so because of counter attractions.

A large class has been organized to start work with Mr. Wisehaupt on Monday evening, and will be instructed in the principles underlying salesmanship.
