SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 27.—A reconciliation between Prof. John Tiernan and his wife blew up when Mrs. Augusta Tiernan suspected that the professor had returned from affinity land, where he married another woman, only to avoid pressure of a bigamy charge.

Mrs. Tiernan telegraphed her attorney to drop proceedings and to have the professor's cross bill against her divorce suit dropped. Whether John and his "Gussie" will be reconciled, Mrs. Tiernan said, on whether John's latest marriage to Mrs. Blanche Brimmer, of Iowa, was consummated.

J. H. Doran, who has had charge of the local auto camp ground during the past summer, has just returned from a two weeks' trip to the northern part of the state, where he delivered a few of his lectures.

Mr. Doran appeared at the University at Eugene on his trip and gave his lecture on anthropology, which he gave on several Sunday evenings in the camp ground here. The same lecture was also given at Reed college, Portland, and in both places the professors as well as the students were quite enthusiastic, and an open discussion was entered into, with many questions being asked in regard to the various pictures which Mr. Doran used in connection with his talk.

The congregation of the Fourth Presbyterian church, Portland, listened Sunday evening to a very interesting lecture by Mr. Doran along a different line, and were well pleased with his discussion.

LIMA, O., Nov. 27.—"The business woman of today should do away with strongly scented perfumes, take off her silly clothes and dress in a sensible fashion that will keep her mind on business, and must stop making dates with every Tom, Dick and Harry who happens to enter the office," declared T. C. Gruenbaum, president of a local business college.

Gruenbaum said he did not object to a mild brand of perfume, affording a faint odor of daintiness, and just enough powder to keep the shine from the nose.

PROCLAMATION BY PRESIDENT WANTED BY SENATOR WELSH

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The president should issue a proclamation against alleged "outlawry" by the Ku Klux Klan, if the investigation of alleged charges against the organization are found true, Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts, democrat, said in a letter to Attorney General Daugherty today.

Walsh said he "confidently looked for immediate aggressive action" by the department of justice. He cited as a precedent a proclamation against the Klan by President Grant in the 70's.

MEDFORD PLANNING POST SEASON GAME

Medford high school is becoming very optimistic, and is already casting forward eyes toward the state championship in football. Talk has begun of a game with Corvallis high school, which is rated as the best in the Willamette valley. The only objection seen by the red and black fans is a defeat by the hands of Ashland on Thanksgiving day. If Medford is successful in the return game, an effort will be made to arrange a post-season contest.

Principal Campbell, of the Medford high school states that the entire question rests on the permission of the state board to play post-season games for the championship. He declares that no matter who wins the Thanksgiving day game, Medford or Ashland, that he would like to see the question of the state championship definitely settled among the high schools of the different districts regardless of Medford's chances at the title.

Pretty French Girls Seek Husbands

Madinettes in the Place Vendome

PARIS, Nov. 27.—Saturday was France's "Leap Year Day," which comes once a year for the madinettes—the little workers whose nimble fingers are indispensable to the Paris dressmakers. Crowned with the "Bonnet de Sainte Catherine," they joyously paraded the boulevards in search of husbands.

Saint Catherine is the patron saint of old maids. All girls having passed the age of 25 are eligible to the bonnet—a sort of bouffant cap—but it seems that the enthusiasm of the day is contagious, and many girls not yet 20, try their luck in life partners by also donning the symbol of maidenhood.

Dancing, singing and laughing, the girls, arm in arm—eight or ten in line—surround the first "prospect," asking him to make his choice. Many gay Lotharios are in their seventh heaven, while the retiring young men hide their blushing countenances behind the newspaper stands.

To refuse to be kissed simply isn't done. A man daring to say no, not only receives the disdain of the maidens but he also loses the sympathy of the crowd—many of whom would take his place gladly.

It is a day of complete happiness for the girls.

Several hundred friends gathered at the church to pay their respects to the man who, for four score years, had been a man of God. Many beautiful floral offerings were received.

Rev. E. V. Stivers, pastor of the First Christian church, eulogized the deceased minister in the sermon. Rev. C. F. Swander, Portland, and Dr. E. C. Sanderson, president of Eugene Bible university, assisted in the services.

The remains were sent to McMinnville, where interment took place Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

J. F. Place left Sunday morning by auto for Oakland, Calif., where he will spend Thanksgiving with his parents.

We are behind the Winter Fair, December 5 to 8. Are you?

Harry Yeo, who returned from a trip to Eugene Sunday morning, reports that the foggy weather was prevalent all the way to the University city.

Several fast boxing bouts were on the card, which opened immediately after the close of the business session earlier in the evening. Interspersed with the boxing and the feed, raffles were held at which time various commodities were disposed of, including sugar, hams, etc. There were 60 turkeys given out during the evening, as high as four of the birds being won by one man.

Accordingly, the police were at hand when the train arrived at the station and went through all the coaches, but found no one wearing the clothing given in the description by wire, but two girls answering the general description were on the train who answered the questions put to them in such a manner as to throw the officers off the track for the time. However, after a hurried telephone call to Klamath, a more detailed description being obtained, it was found that the girls interviewed were the ones wanted.

Rather than risk the chance of the girls getting by the Medford officers, the local officers mounted a motorcycle with a side car and speeded to Medford, where they arrived before the departure of the train and took the girls in charge, bringing them back to Ashland.

The parents of the girls were informed of their presence here and will arrive today to take them back home.

There is $20,000 in the budget for drainage purposes, but as only $10,000 is available at this time, the most important drainage problems will receive first consideration.

Drainage problem, though not considered a difficult one, has been the object of much study by the directors of the Anderson-Cottonwood irrigation district for some time. A tour of inspection of the entire system has just been completed by the directors for the purpose of deciding where work will commence first. As a result Engineer Harry S. Riddell has been instructed to make plans and specifications of the drainage items and submit them to the state engineer and the state bond commission for approval.

WARTIME ROMANCE FINALLY CREATES 'STRANGE' FAMILY

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—One of the strangest families in the history of America is likely to be created with the admittance today to America of Nancy Jordan, of London, and Francis, her three-year-old son. Frank Warren, Kansas City lawyer, and his wife, Mary, have agreed to adopt the child.

Warren met Miss Jordan in England while overseas with the military forces during the war. He sympathized with her. Warren told his wife about the affair and the latter began corresponding with Miss Jordan. Warren and his wife were divorced.

Miss Jordan will not be permitted to leave Ellis island until she posts bonds providing for the education of the child. Mrs. Warren is now eager to take Miss Jordan and her child to her own home and adopt the baby.

Several hundred friends gathered at the church to pay their respects to the man who, for four score years, had been a man of God. Many beautiful floral offerings were received.
