What Constitutes Advertising
In order to allay a misunderstanding among some as to what constitutes news and what advertising, we print this very simple rule, which is used by newspapers to differentiate between them: "All future events, where an admission charge is made or a collection is taken IS ADVERTISING." This applies to organizations and societies of every kind as well as to individuals.

All reports of such activities after they have occurred is news.

All coming social or organization meetings of societies where no money contribution is solicited, initiation charged, or collection taken IS NEWS.

Modesto's Rival

(Editorial)

The Bellevue district is standing at a point today where it may turn about and start a forward movement such as has never been experienced in the history of this portion of the Rogue River valley.

Water may now be had on every acre in Bellevue, if the citizens of the district will get together and work toward this end. This district can be converted from a dry and semi-arid acreage to a prosperous community, with the land making from six to ten times the profit that has been made on the ground during the past few years.

A few figures as to what has been done in the once practically arid Modesto valley may prove interesting

Table with 3 columns: Item, Before Irrigation, After Irrigation. Rows include Number of farmers, Average size of farm acreage, Population, Land value, etc.

Total value farm property $3,376,735 $35,572,350

Average annual gross value of farm output 578,000 8,785,000

Operating cost to produce 227,000 4,392,500

Available for profits, living, replacements, etc. $ 351,000 $ 4,392,500

Four facts should be noted in the above table; namely, the increase from 81 to 2025 farmers in the district; the increase in population from 3500 to 24,000; the advance in the value of farm property from $3,376,735 before the water was available to $35,572,350 after irrigation was in full swing, and that the amount available for profits, living, replacements, etc., increased from $351,000 to $4,392,500, making a total of $4,042,500 brought into the district above that brought in before irrigation. This in itself should be sufficient evidence to the people of income which the association has. The budget for 1923 is $40,000, hence a generous and general purchase of seals is imperative.

Ninety-five per cent of the proceeds from the sale of seals is kept right here in Oregon to extend the educational and preventive work and to build up a general health program, much of which centers about the children of the state. Only five per cent of the proceeds go to the National association.

LAW NOT COMPLIED WITH, SAYS REVENUE COLLECTOR

PORTLAND, Nov. 27.—"Many organizations entitled to exemptions from tax on admissions are not complying with an important provision of the revenue law by which that exemption can be obtained," said Clyde G. Huntley, collector of internal revenue, today. "In order to secure this tax exemption, it is necessary for the organization desiring the same to file with this office, several days in advance of the date of the entertainment, an affidavit claiming exemption and establishing the right of the beneficiary to be relieved from the payment of the tax."

Failure to make formal application and receive exemption from payment of the admission tax in advance of the entertainment, makes the person or authority giving the entertainment liable to a penalty of not more than $1000. If this failure is willful, the offender may be fined $10,000 or imprisoned for not more than one year, or both.

Organizations entitled to this exemption upon compliance with the provision of the revenue law referred to by Collector Huntley include religious, charitable and educational societies or institutions, the American Legion, societies for the prevention of cruelty to children and animals, agricultural fair associations, and community improvement societies, and then only when all of the proceeds of the entertainment inure to the benefit of any one or more of the organizations enumerated.

VELVET JACKET WAS SYMBOL

Worn by Stevenson, According to Writer, as Protest Against the Tyranny of Fashion.

Thus gallantly he appears in my mind's eye when I pause in rereading one of his books and summon up a fantasy of the author—Robert Louis Stevenson, gentleman adventurer in life and letters, his brown eyes shining in a swarthy face, his lean, long-enduring body adorned with a black velvet jacket, Henry Van Dyke writes in Scribner's.

This garment is no disguise, but a symbol. It is short, so as not to impede him with entangling tails. It is unconventional, as a protest against the tyranny of fashion. But it is of velvet, mark you, to match a certain niceness of choice and preference of beauty—yes, and probably a touch of bravura in all its wearer's vagaries. 'Tis like the silver spurs, broad sombrero and gay handkerchief of the thoroughbred cowboy—not an element of the dandiacal, but a tribute to romance. Strange that the most genuine of men usually have a bit of this in their composition; your only incurable poseur being the fellow who affects never to pose and betrays himself by his attitude of scorn.

Of course Stevenson did not always wear this symbolic garment. In fact the only time I met him in the flesh his clothes had a discouraging resemblance to those of the rest of us at the Authors' club in New York. And a few months ago, when I traced his "footprints on the sands of time" at Waikiki beach, near Honolulu, the picture drawn for me by those who knew him when he passed that way, was that of a lank, barefooted, bright-eyed, sun-browned man who dandered along the shore in white-duck trousers and a shirt wide open at the neck. But the velvet jacket was in his wardrobe, you may be sure, ready for fitting weather and occasion.

EASY WAY TO CRACK NUTS

Scientists Recommend Use of Liquid Air as Best Means of Getting at Delectable Kernel.

Liquid air for cracking nuts is the latest application of science. Science and invention relates that experts at the national bureau of standards in Washington were appealed to for a method of breaking the shells of chichu nuts without damaging the kernels. They found that it took a weight of nearly a ton to crack the shells, and that after that effort the meat of the nut was broken in many small pieces.

Then they applied liquid air to the problem. They did not freeze solid a piece of rubber and use it as a hammer, as is done in the classic stunt of physics, but they simply immersed the nuts in liquid air for 30 seconds and cracked them easily without damage to the kernels. Now the physicists are trying to find out whether this method can be applied commercially on a large scale.

All of That.

When my small daughter became interested in our ages I laughingly told her that I was sixteen and daddy twenty-one. After she learned to count she added a year as the birthdays came around.

One day while she was playing at a neighbor's the woman of the house said: "Mary, do you know how old your mother is?"

Mary answered: "Nineteen."

"Oh, she is older than that, Mary, I'll bet she is twenty-six or twenty-seven."

Mary came home and told me of the conversation. After my resentment of my neighbor's inquisitiveness had subsided I was amused at the unintended compliment. I am thirty-five.—Exchange.

Gains 25 Pounds and Feels Like New Person

"Tanlac has actually built me up 25 pounds in weight and I am now enjoying wonderful health," declared Mrs. Mamie E. Doud, of 648 Hayes street, San Francisco, Calif.

"A severe attack of influenza left me in awful health. My appetite was so poor that nothing appealed to me, and the little I did eat caused terrible spells of indigestion, bloating and heart palpitation. I had dreadful pains in my back and rheumatism in my left knee which ached and pained me so bad I could hardly bear my weight on it. I felt so miserable that life hardly seemed worth living.

"But Tanlac has rid me of my troubles just like it was made especially for me. I eat heartily and enjoy my meals now, and I never have an ache or pain; in fact, I simply feel like a new woman."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.
