BIG GAINS IN OUR EXPORTS TO SOUTH AMERICA

By O. P. AUSTIN - STATISTICIAN THE NATIONAL CITY BANK OF NEW YORK (FROM THE WEEKLY TRADE RECORD ISSUED BY THE NATIONAL CITY BANK)

Exports from the United States to our neighbors in South America show remarkable gains in the new fiscal year which began with the month of July. This is the more remarkable because of the fact that the fiscal year ending with June had shown a reduction of more than 60% in our exports to that continent. Every month since the opening of the new fiscal year, according to the Trade Record of The National City Bank of New York, has shown big increases in the value of exports to South America despite the fact that most of the merchandise leaving the country is going at lower prices than a year ago. In fact, the value of the exports sent from the United States to South America in the 3 months of July, August and September, 1922, totals 36% more than in that same period of last year, while the total value of the exports to North America in the same period showed a decline of 11% to Europe a reduction of 19% and to Asia and Oceania no change when compared with the same months of last year. The South American market therefore is the one in which our exports show big gains in the new fiscal year, 1922-3.

Briscoe Has Wreck—

Superintendent G. A. Briscoe, while en route to Eugene with a party of Hi-Y boys to attend the Older Boys' conference, met with an accident about six miles this side of Roseburg, information regarding the affair being learned when the party returned from the Willamette valley Sunday. The machine was proceeding nicely down the paved highway, when suddenly the machine swerved on the highway and started back to Ashland. Before the car could be stopped, it went over a bank. None of the occupants were injured, and all attended the convention. Six machines were observed in the ditch at various points during the return trip.

Those present were: John F. Leggett, teacher of the class; Dr. R. L. Burdick, class president; Mrs. Grace Putnam, vice-president; and James Putnam, Mrs. J. R. Elder, Miss Ethel Reid, Mrs. Anna Parr, and Mrs. R. L. Burdick. Visitors present were the three Elder children, Mr. Parr and Mr. Jackson. Mr. Jackson gave several readings that were highly appreciated by all. Refreshments were served and all had an enjoyable evening. This class was organized a short time ago with 4 members, and their slogan is "25 members by January 1, 1923."

fact that manufactures form the bulk of the materials which they buy from us. And it is in the exportation of manufactures that we are most concerned in considering the future of our export trade. All the world comes clamoring to our doors for our foodstuffs and raw materials especially bread and meats and cotton, of which our surplus is constantly growing less with our increase of population, but it is in manufactures that we must make our fight in world markets. On the other hand, we clamor at the doors of other countries producing tropical foods and manufacturing materials such as coffee, cacao, india rubber, wool, nitrates and other of the natural products of South America, and as it happens that our South American neighbors have not yet become manufacturers in any large degree the interchange between the two continents is a perfectly natural one, for we of the United States are now the largest manufacturing country in the world. So it is interesting to see that the quantity of cotton cloths sent to South America in August, the latest month for which details are available, was 50% more than in the same month of last year; newsprint and book paper more than doubled that of the same month last year; galvanized iron sheets

Will Return to Washington—

Mrs. Bessie Buchanan will return this week to Clarkston, Wash., after a few days visit with her father, C. B. Haney, east of town. Mrs. Buchanan also had other relatives in Ashland that she visited while here and all join in wishing that her stay might have been prolonged.

Sea Lions Invade a Lighthouse.

The keeper of Bride's island light, below Cape Flattery, has appealed to the federal authorities in Tacoma for weapons and help. No sooner does he open his door than sea lions force their way into the house and make free with his possessions. At night they surround the place, barking for admittance, until sleep is impossible. One big fellow amuses himself by climbing the exterior steps to the light, to plunge headlong into the sea. To kill one would only attract more, for the smell of putrefying meat is an irresistible attraction.—Scientific American.

Invents "Ideal" Explosive.

A Minnesota inventor has compounded an explosive which has demonstrated remarkable qualities in recent experiments. While appearing to have great disruptive powers if closely confined, as in a shell or drill hole, it can be exploded only by means of a blasting cap or electric detonator. It is reported to give off no noxious fumes, that it will not explode when heated to 212 degrees Fahrenheit, that it will not freeze, and that it cannot be accidentally exploded by shock.

Early Crusaders Used Stills.

Few prohibitionists, says the Scientific American, are aware of the shocking fact that the vogue of the still in Europe was due to the original Crusaders, who took kindly to this eastern recreation and brought back with them recipes and methods that made the still as popular an institution as the royal jester—and doubtless helped along democracy by making it hard at times to distinguish the king from the clown.

Sequence and Consequence.

As showing how the combination of drink and driver works out, we give the terse report of Ben Quinn, an Indian of Kansas. He said: "First mile too slow took drink of booze; next mile faster, took another drink, last mile very fast, took another drink; then saw bridge in road, turned out for it." Ben is now in the hospital with a broken arm.—Boston Evening Transcript.

DEDICATION FOR CLUB BUILDING HELD SATURDAY

hoped would be used freely by that organization.

Mrs. O. Winter was then called on for a brief history of the early days of the Civic club, and a general outline of what was accomplished by the early members.

Miss Chamberlain was presented a beautiful bouquet of roses and a platinum bar pin, by members of the Civic club in recognition of her untiring efforts toward obtaining the building.

The Civic club song was sung by Mrs. J. C. Knapp, assisted by some of her pupils in the conservatory, this being the first time that the song has been rendered in public.

A playlet entitled "The Winburn Way," was then put on to thank Jesse Winburn for his help in completing the new structure.

The playlet was written by Mrs. John Dill and was put on under the direction of Miss Isabella Wattenbarger, Miss Zipora Blumenfeld and Miss Leona Marsters. Those taking part were: Josephine Barber, representing the "Spirit of the Community Club House"; Elbert Greer, as the "Club Woman"; Doretha GeBauer, as "A Lecturer"; Mary Louise Gill as representative of the baby clinic; Jack Nims and Evelyn Miller, as tourists; Jennette Balis, as the business girl; Gladys Hamaker, as a Red Cross worker; Oma GeBauer, as an elderly lady; Gale Hamaker, as a mother; Ellen Gale, as a W. C. T. U. member. All of the characters came to the platform and offered a word of praise for the fine new building, after which four little girls, representing butterflies, came on the platform and danced about to show their appreciation. The butterfly girls were Jane Sugg, Yvonne Shepherd and Miriam and Portia Conover. At the completion of the dance by the little folks, each one taking part in the play presented Mr. Winburn with a bouquet of carnations. Mr. Winburn responded when called on for a speech and showed that he was greatly affected by the praise which was heaped on him. He said: "I never was so happy in all of my life, and am only sorry that I did not do more."

Miss Hazel Handy, society editor of the Oregon Journal, was called on for a few words and responded by giving great praise to this community and said that in the future she would never hesitate to boost for Ashland. This brought the dedication to an end, but all were invited to stay for tea, which was served in the dining room. The building was opened to the public in the evening.
