ATTEMPT TO CROSS U. S. IN DAY FAILS

ST. JOSEPH, Mont., The first attempt to fly across the United States between dawn and dark ended in failure today when Lieutenant Maughan was forced down nine miles north east of here with a broken landing gear.

The aviator abandoned the trip, but will return east soon for another try later on as he believes the feat is possible. When Lieutenant Maughan was forced down he had covered 1130 of the 2579 mile trip from New York to California.

He was very disappointed that he had failed, but was confident that he would be able to do it on a next attempt.

NOTICE TO WATER USERS
Water will be turned off upper system Wednesday, July 11, at 8 a. m., for repairs on pipe line in Ashland Creek Canyon. Draw water for domestic use for that day.

Do not use water for irrigation.

ASHLAND TO HAVE BUMPER WHEAT CROP

packed, and stored there. The association assumes the responsibility of finding a market for the produce, and last year shipped 29,098 crates of peaches to outside points, the shipments running from early in July to the last of October. Most of the fruit was sold on the coast, carload lots going to Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Klamath Falls and Marshfield. Besides this, some fruit is shipped east of the Rockies every year, and some to Canada. This year, the Ashland cannery will buy quite a quantity of early peaches and pears, providing another outlet for the supply.

Mr. Robbins, manager of the Fruit Association, stated that the Ashland peaches have always had an excellent reputation with the wholesalers, and that with the proper kind of advertising, would have a reputation with the users, nearly doubling the demand.

Nearly every known variety of peach is raised here, picking starting early in July and running till late in October. Just now, the growers are all busy picking the Alexander peaches, an early variety. The varieties used by the cannery will probably be Wheeler and Muir, in addition to a few other good packers.

Here from Mexico—
Mr. and Mrs. Bacton and family of Mexico City were in Ashland yesterday and the forenoon today. They had only planned on spending one day in Ashland, but stayed over this morning to visit the Lithia Springs.

Gov. Rev. P. Baxter.

GOVERNOR HALFMASTS FLAG TO HONOR DOG

AUGUSTA, Me., July 9.—Considerable criticism has been voiced here by the G. A. R. and other military organizations over the declaration of Governor Percival Baxter recently that he would esteem it an honor when "his time comes" to have the same Capitol flags that were lowered for his dog, Garry lowered for him.

Governor Baxter ordered the flags on the State House at half-mast when his pet dog, Garry, died.

"It was my desire and my plan to have the flags lowered during the period of Garry's journey homeward to the graves of his ancestors at my island home, and this desire was fulfilled and this plan executed.

"It may be that the comments upon my action will arouse our people to a new realization of their responsibilities to dumb animals. If this be so, one of my purposes will be accomplished.

"I firmly believe that when the men and women of this state and nation think through what I have done, they will see a lesson in the appreciation of dumb animals has been taught and that my act heightens the significance of our flag as an emblem of human achievement that has been made possible largely through the faithful service of dumb animals.

NEW CONTINUED STORY RECEIVED BY TIDINGS
The continued stories which the Tidings has been running lately, and which have proven themselves popular with many readers are to be a regular feature from now on. The "Haunted Valley" by Herbert Robinson is nearly finished now, and a new story named "Plunder" by Herbert Crooker has been received and will start running soon.

OREGON BUYS MANY U. S. CERTIFICATES

PORTLAND, July 9.—Oregon was second in the 12th federal reserve district in sales of government savings certificates during the first four months of 1923. Theodore Hardee of San Francisco, director of sales for the district, stated on arrival here Friday. He had just returned from a tour of Alaska.

Oregon's investment in savings certificates during the four month period amounted to $1,287,741.60. Hardee pointed out. He said Portland was the second city on this district with sales totaling $449,205 net cash for the same period.

"Alaska leads the United States in per capita investment in savings certificates and has done so for years," Hardee advised.

According to the visitor, Alaska will accord the president the most cordial reception of his entire trip. Everybody is on tip-toe to meet and welcome the first president, who has ever visited the territory.

"In these days of high prices and generally disturbed and excited conditions, I am very much gratified to read how strongly the president is sympathizing the vital necessity for individual thrift.

"Millions of dollars of hard earned money are wasted and lost annually in 'get rich quick' schemes. People are generally poorly informed on investment matters and the lure of the unusually large returns frequently results in their being victimized.

"It is the government's earnest desire that every man, woman and child—to the fullest extent of his or her ability—will actively participate in this great campaign of saving certificates, which has for its end the lasting prosperity of the individual as well as the nation.

SURVEY OF LASSEN PARK BEING MADE

REDDING, Calif., July 9.—D. R. Averill, Theodore Van Derner and E. F. Stanley, United States surveyors, arrived here yesterday to begin the survey of the boundaries of Lassen National Volcanic Park. D. R. Averill is in charge of the party, which will be composed of fourteen. Twelve of the fourteen will arrive from San Francisco tomorrow.

A carload of horses, tents and camp equipment for the party arrived here from Needles two months ago.

The party will leave Redding Friday morning and will commence work at Manzanita Lake.

D. R. Averill says the task ahead is to re-establish monuments of the section corners on the boundary of the park. That region was sectioned in 1880 and 1882. Many of the corners have been obliterated. All the corners that are not otherwise well marked will be marked by iron pipe three inches in diameter and three feet long set in concrete. On top of each will be a brass plate designating the corner.

In a similar manner all the corners of the fourteen parcels of privately owned land within the park will be monumented.

The work will take about six months, it is estimated. The survey is made under the direction of the general land office for the forest bureau.

Lassen National Volcanic Park lies in four counties—Shasta, Tehama, Plumas and Lassen. For the greater part, including the volcano itself, is in Shasta county. It is sixteen miles in longitude and twelve miles in latitude, but of irregular shape.

WOMAN MURDERER WILL BE ELECTROCUTED IN AUGUST

NEW YORK, July 9.—Mrs. Anna Buzzi, convicted of the murder of Frederick Schneider, a wealthy contractor, was sentenced to be electrocuted during the week of August 1, but showed no emotion of any sort when the sentence was pronounced.

That Ashland is bound to remain the leading tourist city of Southern Oregon, irrespectively of a contrary desire on the part of some other folks.

That Ashland is the logical point for the registration of out-of-town state tourists entering Southern Oregon.

That A. J. Kaiser says that in California there is a never-ending discussion over the antics of Miss Juanita Miller, but that nevertheless, she is interesting.

That a camel has nothing on W. M. Wright, of the Ashland Laundry, when it comes to walking.

That H. O. Anderson, of Mt. Ashland Egg Mash fame, is frequently seen carrying garden tools, but never using them.

That one of the most beautiful entries in the parade on July 4th was the float of the Baptist Sunday school.

That the Tidings circulation still continues to grow.

That for some reason Ashland residence property is highly desired by a Los Angeles resident.

That I would like to be the editors in Hood River this week.

That Carl Loveland forgot to bring the program for the band concert.

That a lot of the fellows are wishing they could attend summer normal.

That there is one engine in the Southern Pacific yards that has a whistle all its own.

That I have ceased to worry about where the tourist come from.

National Meet at Portland—
The National Christian Endeavor meeting will be held at Portland next year, as at the convention in Des Moines held last week it was unanimously voted to give it to Portland, this being the first unanimous vote of this kind.

COMING EVENT
Council Meeting, Tuesday, July 10.

OBSERVATION

(By Lithianius)

Since telling you of my last observations I have observed:

That the observer confused the names of Fred Wagner and Fred Holmes and gave the former credit for the excellent introductory speech. I hasten to apologize and make the correction, and it was a mighty good speech.

That those who attended the C. O. P. Co., warehouse opening at Medford Friday night had an excellent time.

That it is not good policy to drive around town after night with only one lamp.

That bald-headed men had better wear bathing caps when going swimming in an open air tank.

That the Vining had a packed house Saturday night.

That one of the Chevrolet delivery autos of the Ashland Laundry has no respect for porch posts.

That Henry Ford is creating an uneasiness among a lot of politicians.

That Ashland is bound to remain the leading tourist city of Southern Oregon, irrespectively of a contrary desire on the part of some other folks.

That Ashland is the logical point for the registration of out-of-town state tourists entering Southern Oregon.

That A. J. Kaiser says that in California there is a never-ending discussion over the antics of Miss Juanita Miller, but that nevertheless, she is interesting.

That a camel has nothing on W. M. Wright, of the Ashland Laundry, when it comes to walking.

That H. O. Anderson, of Mt. Ashland Egg Mash fame, is frequently seen carrying garden tools, but never using them.

That one of the most beautiful entries in the parade on July 4th was the float of the Baptist Sunday school.

BODY OF BALLOONIST FOUND AT PORT STANLEY

loons and pilots would represent the United States in the International Balloon race which will be held in Brussels later this year.

Lieutenant H. E. Honeywell, who was the winner in the race, said that he had encountered the same storm which caused the death of the two pilots, above lake Erie, but by throwing ballast overboard, managed to escape the danger. The Lieutenant later remarked that it would have been impossible to have escaped if he had been caught by the full force of the storm, as the balloon of Lieutenant Roth and Null evidently was.

All of the balloons entered in the race safely escaped the storm with the exception of the naval entry No. A-6698, which the two dead men were piloting and all hung up good records.

WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR WEEK GOOD ON PACIFIC
