The little machine was fully equipped and came from Los Angeles over the Pacific Highway.

TEACHER CAUSE OF STRIFE IN YREKA

YREKA, Calif., July 10.—When the board of directors of Siskiyou Union High School asked for the resignation of Leroy B. Peckham, instructor in mathematics, English, history and other studies at the Fort Jones Branch of the Siskiyou Union High School, they started something.

Armed with petitions signed by more than 250 pupils and parents of the Fort Jones district, several score representatives of the Scott Valley City appeared in Yreka Saturday at a board meeting and demanded that the request be withdrawn. Peckham, they said, had been at Fort Jones three years and had proven entirely satisfactory to the student body and to the parents.

Decide to Retain Peckham The evidence of a number of people was taken. District Attorney Charles E. Johnson was asked to be present by the board and counsel was retained by the friends of Peckham. The meeting started Saturday morning at 9 o'clock and continued throughout the afternoon. At a late hour in the afternoon, the board announced that the members had decided to retain Peckham. The dismissal of Peckham was the part of a "general house-cleaning" that has been made in Siskiyou Union High School District. At Yreka only three of the fifteen teachers employed last year were retained.

EMIL ENNA PLEASURES ASHLAND AUDIENCE

(By H. G. Gilmore) A second visit of Dr. Emil Enna composer-pianist to Ashland furnishes us with an opportunity of enlarging upon a few thoughts uppermost in the minds of all students intend upon achieving a distinctive success in the handling of music of a meritorious and elevating character.

First of all to correct a popular misconception of music as applied to the piano and organ, let it be said that in consequence of entirely different technique the accomplished organist as represented in the person of Sir Erderek Bridge, and Paderewski, whose brilliant playing made him the idol of the pianistic world, proclaim the secrets of the two distinct schools of study.

Another misconception chiefly on the part of parents and guardians is that any sort of a piano and a teacher to match will do for that tender plant known in some quarters as Anna Maria and in others as trusty Jane Sophia.

The program included music of the most exacting and meritorious character, where, the masters hands move with remarkable alertness, and furnishing very convincing evidence that there is yet a musical prophesy in Israel. Besides a number of the Doctor's own compositions played directly and in response to encores, the program proper included masterpieces by Arthur Foote, "The Swan Morning Dawn" by Jean Siebellius, "Spin-Spin" a Swedish Folk song and many others.

The concert was given under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association and Mesdames, E. A. Woods, Louis Dodge and John H. Fuller deserve no little praise for the energy put forth to make the concert the marked success it proved.

As on the last occasion of his visit Dr. Enna was received with rapturous applause and he leaves Ashland for his California summer trip with the consciousness of having made many delightful friends in our go-ahead city.

LEGION TO SUPPORT WORLD COURT PLANS

INDIANAPOLIS, July 10.—President Harding's plea for American entrance into a world court will be supported by the American Legion. It has been announced at national headquarters of the veteran's organization in Indianapolis. The legion's action was authorized in a resolution adopted at its last national convention recommending the establishment of a tribunal to adjudicate disputes between nations.

Defining the attitude of world war fighters, Alvin Owsley, legion national commander, in a recent address delivered at Sioux Falls, S. D., said: "Let no man say this American Legion has not inaugurated a great movement for world peace. We have the honor of seeing the present administration adopt the legion's idea of a world court plan. There must in the end be some such tribunal and Americans cannot fail to see the fallacy of appealing to war for the vindication of international justice. I hope with all my being for the time when there shall be some such a tribunal."

Commander Owsley in the same address indicated that the legion would continue its fight for exclusion of immigration for a period of five years.

"When did it become a moral privilege for a man to leave his country when that country never needed him as it does now?" he asked. "Let them remain at home and work a while longer for their home country, so those countries may be enabled to pay their debts to America."

Asserting that lack of immigration restriction is responsible for the fact that there are ten million illiterates in America, the legion leader said: "We need a sweeping Americanization program to take care of these vast numbers already within our boundaries, but as long as the flood gates of immigration are open we shall never be able to get a start on this problem. If I had it within my power, there would be a law every man enjoying the privileges of this land and living under the radiance of the American flag who attempted to start any bolshevism or communism would be deported."

The Roseburg club was taken and according to Chairman Fuller the new country club building and grounds are ideally located and planned out.

First Meeting Success Chairman Fuller stated that this is the first attempt to coordinate the many Chambers of Commerce of southern and western Oregon, and was very well pleased with the amount of business which was accomplished at this initial meeting. He explained that the meetings of the future will no doubt develop the plans very much more fully and intends to make the organization a real aid to the chambers of commerce which belong to the organization.

EVOLUTION THEORY MAY BE COMMONPLACE

DELEWARE, Ohio, July 9.—Prediction that history will repeat itself and that "tomorrow evolution, like Galileo's astronomy, will be the commonplace of everyday thought" and that religion will not have suffered, was made by Dr. E. J. Rice, professor of zoology, Ohio Wesleyan University here, and well-known student of the theory of evolution.

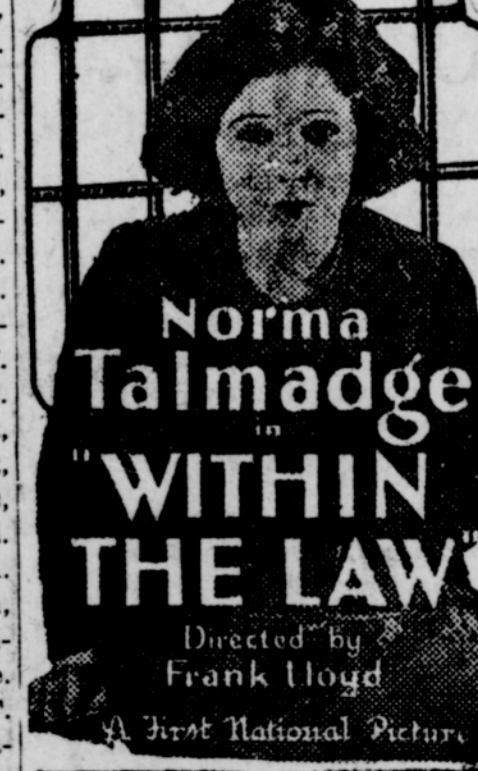

"Nature to the scientist must be no God or all God," asserted the professor, discussing the question: "Does Evolution Conflict with Christianity?" "The evolutionist, or other scientist, cannot accept the supposedly orthodox view of an occasional God, active in the creation of the first flowers and the first man, but leaving the origin of the flowers and the men of today to 'nature.'"

"But the scientist has no quarrel with the doctrine of the divine immanence, which finds in the divine will the only efficient causation in nature, recognizing what are called secondary causes as only convenient symbols to express the method and order of divine activity," said Dr. Rice.

"In this day of the world's desperate need of religion I cannot look with equanimity upon any movement which tends to split the forces of the Church rather than to bring them into harmony, or upon any attempt to read essentially religious men out of the Church because of non-essential differences in scientific or theological belief."
