SECRET OF PROSPERITY:—As long as he sought the Lord, God made him to prosper.—2 Chronicles 26:5.

AN ANECDOTE OF PRESENT PERTINENCE

Senator Ferris of Michigan, being neighbor to Henry Ford, speaks with courtesy, if not with conviction, concerning the latter's presidential candidacy. Michigan Democrats are not for Ford, the Senator thinks; they are for McAdoo. But he goes on to say that if Mr. Ford would announce himself a member of the Democratic Party he could no doubt get the Michigan delegate.

ROUGH ON SPEEDERS

The Bikedag, which is the Swedish parliament, has determined once and for all to put an end to automobile speeding. There is to be no nonsense about it, and, by a clever scheme, offenders are to be made selfconvincing.

How the matter was settled was picturesquely told on the golf links at Chevy Chase by a Republican Senator, one of the group that afterward nominated Harding at Chicago. Talking with a Democrat who happened to be playing with him, he said very frankly, "Hoover's a fine man. We thing very highly of him. He has done everything that the party organization could ask of him. We asked him to say that he always had been a Republican and he has done so. We asked him to say that he would accept the Republican nomination if proffered, and he has acquiesced. We asked him to make it clear that under no circumstances would he accept the Democratic nomination and this he has announced. Having done all that we asked him to do, he doesn't interest us any further and we need not bother with him any more."

They did not "bother." Seventeen votes marked his accomplishments in the convention of the party to which he gave his adhesion. We have no desire to advise Mr. Ford nor to advance his interests, but the anecdote is not without pertinence to his case.—Christian Science Monitor.

EVEN YEARS

It is a fatality for a President of the United States to be elected in the multiple of twenty years? Five presidents of the United States, elected in such years, have died before completion of their terms. They were:

- William Henry Harrison, elected in 1840. Abraham Lincoln, elected 1860. James A. Garfield, elected 1880. William McKinley, elected 1900. Warren G. Harding, elected 1920.

Lincoln filled out the first term for which he was elected in 1860, but was assassinated in but little over a month after his second term began. McKinley had served one term and had been reelected in 1900, falling by the assassin's bullet a few months after taking the oath the second time. Garfield served but a few months before Guiteau's bullet found him.

Harding is the third to have died from causes other than deliberate assassination. Harrison was the first Sworn in on March 4, 1841, he died April 4 of that year. Zachary Taylor was the next to go. Elected in 1848, and taking office March 4, 1849, he died July 9, 1850.

Harrison, Taylor and Harding, each had a tremendous burden of political responsibility to face. The trials to which each was subjected may have shortened his life. Three presidents have been assassinated by deliberate action. Can it be said that three presidents have been assassinated by the presidential office?

HONOR OUR LATE PRESIDENT

The last of the mortal remains of Warren G. Harding, late president of our country, will be consigned to a grave tomorrow at his old home, Marion, Ohio. President Coolidge has issued a proclamation declaring the day an occasion of mourning, a day on which every American citizen is asked to pause, at least for a few minutes, and pay tribute to the departed chief.

At exactly the same hour of the suspension of business in Ashland business houses and factories will close all over the nation. The wheels of industry will cease their mad whirr, and a nation of a hundred and ten million people will pause in sad reverence for the friend and leader who sacrificed his life in his country's interests. Peace to the ashes of Warren G. Harding. May the giver of all good gifts reward that gentle kindness and affection he so freely lavished on America and American citizens.

Mrs. Dennis and grandson Dennis Espy, came down today to do some shopping. They will return this evening.

Guests at the Day's—Mr. and Mrs. Tunis Creech and children, John and Julia, of Salem, have been guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Day, since last Thursday.

Mrs. Creech was born in Grinnell, Iowa and lived there during her young girlhood, a neighbor of Mrs. Day.

Mrs. Day had not seen her for twenty-three years, Mr. Creech is a druggist at Salem their home town, and Mrs. Creech is supervisor of schools.

They have had a lovely visit with their friends, but on account of the shortness of their vacation they left Tuesday morning for Crater Lake on their way home.

They returned in the evening, Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Elhart, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Weren, and Mr. J. O. Riggs camped at the A. C. Spencer ranch overnight.

They spent the day at Lake of the Woods and returned to Spencer's ranch and stayed Sunday night, returning the next day to Ashland, thus getting the real camp spirit.

A Mystic Circle Meet—Another of the delightful doings of the Mystic Seven (whose name may be a state secret) happened Tuesday night, at Miss Margaret McCoy's home, known to the initiated as "Rocky Lodge Tavern."

The "slumber party" began early in the evening by a game of tennis. Then they all went to the clubhouse for a while; later attending a show, before their return to "Rocky Lodge Tavern" where the young hostess had a thrill for her guests by having the "slumber party" part of the evening staged on the back lawn, in the shadow of a great oak that added much to the spookiness of the affair.

After a peaceful night's slumber, another surprise awaited them in that a regular camp breakfast was prepared outside, on a camp stove.

Much merriment and appetites in proportion, prevailed at this feature of the party.

Those who compose this perfect number are: the Misses Katherine Parsons, Mabel Trott, Nellie Hake, Gertrude Brown, Edith Robison, Pauline Plummer and the hostess, Margaret McCoy.

To this group is added Miss Lucy Picken, who was a participant in Tuesday night's fun.

Miss Picken is duly adopted and a bona fide member till she returns to Alabama.

Leave for Newport—Mr. H. B. Plummer and family leave for their outing by auto this morning. Mr. Plummer has arranged his business so they may all have their vacation together.

They have taken a cottage at Newport, where they will enjoy the pleasures that come to those who sojourn at the seaside.

Picnic in Park—The Past Matrons of the order of the Eastern Star had a most enjoyable picnic dinner in the Park Tuesday evening.

The ladies had invited their husbands to enjoy with them the delicacies prepared. There were perhaps, twenty present to do justice to the satisfying dainties.

It was given in compliment to Miss Gertrude Engle, who leaves so soon for her work in the south.

Dinner Party—A very delightful affair occurred Sunday, when Miss Gertrude Haan entertained Mrs. Mary Dunn, Mrs. Elizabeth Van Sant and Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Adams, for dinner at her apartment at Mrs. Van Sant's on Oak street.

The dinner was at two o'clock and the guests spent the afternoon with their young hostess.

Party for Mrs. Bush—The Art club, of which Mrs. Bush is a charter member gave one of the loveliest parties of the season in compliment to her Monday night of this week, at the clubhouse.

There were a few intimate friends of Mrs. Bush's invited, other than the club members.

The banquet was a very elaborate affair; the tables beautifully arranged and decorated; the viands most delicious.

A delightful surprise was afforded the honored guest, in the presentation of an engraved gold "Eversharp" pencil by her friends.

The pencil was hidden in the artistic centerpiece of beautiful flowers.

At the auspicious moment, Mrs. Lamkin, feelingly, and in well-chosen phrase, presented the token of their love and esteem, to Mrs. Bush.

The evening hours were enlivened in playing cards until the lateness of the hour indicated goodnights and farewells be said.

The Art club was organized in 1915 and was originally a part of the Civic club. There are five of the charter members now belonging; Mrs. Bush being one. She is their club treasurer, at present.

Those who were present to enjoy the lovely evening were: The guest of honor, Mrs. Bush, the Mesdames Harrison, Lorena, McNair, Emma J. Murphy, Thelma Hughes Moorhead, guests of Eva M. Hughes, Euranina Miller, Maude Ruger, Mable Jordan, Lulu Franco, Della Brown, Anna Meyer, C. B. Lamkin, Eula S. Creech, of Salem, guest of Sue M. Day, Sue M. Pracht, C. H. Pierce, Sam McNair, J. E. Thornorton, J. W. Shortridge, Minnie R. Barron, C. Baughman, L. Schwein the Misses Nell Purvis, Blanche Hicks, Maude Ingersoll Hawley, Gertrude Biede, and Ruth Osmond.

Dinner Party—Mrs. Frank Jordan was hostess at a delightful dinner party Tuesday evening; Mrs. Elizabeth Bush, Elber Bush and Auten Bush, guests of honor.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Porter, from Clairmont, California were also guests to enjoy this gracious hospitality.

Mrs. McNair Entertains—Mrs. Elizabeth Bush was the inspiration for another delightful dinner Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Sam McNair on Seaside Drive.

Mrs. Bush leaves for her future home in Los Angeles the latter part of the week and there are a series of lovely affairs being given in her honor.

The guests of the evening other than Mrs. Bush and her sons, Elber and Auten were: Mrs. and Mrs. Frank Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Hal McNair and son Jamie.

In Portland—Mr. and Mrs. Stearns and son Bobby, left Sunday for Portland where Mr. Stearns will find much to interest him during Buyers' Week.

Mrs. Stearns will spend part of the time of their vacation in visiting relatives and friends in Albany.

They will return home in a few days.

SHASTA INDIAN LAND IS TO BE SOLD IN OCTOBER

REDDING, Calif., Aug. 8.—The Bureau of Indian Affairs announces that sixty-six Indian allotments in Shasta county will be sold to the highest bidder in this city on October 6.

The allotments vary in size from 80 to 160 acres. They lie mostly in the eastern part of the county. Some are valuable for farming and some for the timber. Persons wanting a full description should write for particulars to W. S. Kreigh, the Indian agent in Redding.

Visiting Here—Miss Johnson of San Antonio, Texas, who will teach next year in a high school near Missoula, Montana, stopped off at Ashland recently to visit Miss Marie Andrews of Fairview street, and left yesterday afternoon. Miss Johnson and Miss Andrews have been doing special work at Berkeley this summer and recently returned.

F. A. Milheim, a Seattle business man, was in Ashland today attending to local business interests.

EASED HER COUGHING SPELLS "I had an attack of Grip that settled in my throat and caused a bad cough. When I coughed hard I could not stop and had to gasp for breath. It was surprising how quickly Foley's Honey and Tar eased those terrible coughing spells," writes Esther Adams, New York. For Coughs, Cold, Croup, Asthma, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough and Hay Fever use Foley's Honey and Tar. Contains no opiates. Sold everywhere.

OLD FRIENDS MEET IN PICTURE PRODUCTION

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8.—Several years ago, when the motion picture industry was in swaddling clothes, John Francis Dillon, the well-known director, was an usher in the old American theatre on Broadway, New York, and Elliott Dexter, prominent screen leading man, as a member of that theatre's stock company.

Naturally there was quite a bit of reminiscing when these two met recently, at the United Studios, Hollywood, on the stage where "Flaming Youth," is being produced for First National, with Dillon directing and Dexter playing one of the principal parts.

O. C. Gray, with his wife and children, from Ft. Bidwell, California, were Ashland visitors yesterday.

BOY BELIEVED DROWNED WHILE SWIMMING RIVER

RED BLUFF, Calif., Aug. 4.—Search is being made for the body of Owen Cuey, 15, of Huntington Park, Los Angeles, who is believed to have drowned while attempting to swim across the Sacramento River at a point half a mile north of here yesterday.

Cuey, with Percy Garrison, a chum, left Los Angeles on Tuesday for Union, Oregon, and expected to find employment on a cattle ranch, owned by Cuey's brother-in-law, Fred Spain. They were traveling afoot, aided by the "lifts" from tourists.

Arriving in Red Bluff yesterday the boys decided to go swimming. Garrison succeeded in crossing, but missed his companion. He searched over the river for an hour and then reported to local police.

The local belief is that the boy encountered a snagwhirl, of which there are many at this point, and drowned. Garrison says he thinks his chum had a cramp, as he was the better swimmer.

O. C. Gray, with his wife and children, from Ft. Bidwell, California, were Ashland visitors yesterday.

SOME HARD FACTS ABOUT SOFT MONEY

When a farmer takes his product to market and sells it for say, a dollar a bushel, he is dependent upon the honesty of two measures—the dollar and the bushel.

The other day a crossroads storekeeper got sent to jail for manipulating a trick bushel basket with a false bottom that would slide up and down in a way that was grand, gloomy and mysterious. When using it to measure stuff he bought from a farmer, he'd secretly shove the bottom down until it held at least a bushel and a quarter, but he would only credit him with a bushel. The buying power of the farmer's product was thereby depreciated by about twenty per cent.

Finally the farmers thereabouts got wise to the fact that this way they could get what was coming to them was to enforce a reliable standard of measurement. So they put a good stiff jail penalty on using a fake measure, laid for that storekeeper with the trick basket and sent him to prison.

Politicians in Europe have been manipulating the other measure—the money measure—in much the same way. Some of them in America want to tamper likewise with the dollar. Here is about the way it would work out. Suppose, when the farmer brought his product to market, the basket measure was honest enough and he got a dollar bill for each bushel. He'd take his dollars home and save them. Perhaps he planned to buy some land next to his own for a thousand dollars, and figured that in a year or so he could make it.

But meanwhile the politicians start to manipulate the base of the currency. They would change it from the gold standard to a fiat money plan—from a gold guarantee to the mere say-so of the government that a piece of paper was worth a dollar. The farmer wouldn't be watching the money-policitors. He would be too busy raising things. At the end of the year he has his thousand dollars. He takes them to the landowner and says, "I'll buy your land now—here's a thousand dollars."

But the landowner would say, "That is paper money—my land is worth one thousand dollars gold—the government has printed so much paper money folks haven't much confidence in it. But I am willing to take a chance if you will give me a dollar and a quarter in paper money for each gold dollar's value of my land—in other words, I'll give you my land for $1,250 paper."

Soft money would be only another way for the money-policitors to hand the farmer the same dirty deal as the basket manipulator. In the first case the farmer unknowingly gave a bushel and a quarter of his product, and in the second case he would have to give a dollar and a quarter of his money, for a dollar's value in return.

In Germany they have carried the manipulation of the mark so far—Well, it seems hardly believable, but if they did the same thing to the dollar, it would take over ten million in paper money to buy that land. The primary producer can raise his prices, but not fast enough to equalize this drop in the gold value of unsound money. That is where the catch comes in.
