MALAY CHILDREN GO TO W. C. T. U. HOME

Those familiar with the Malay Tragedy, in which it became necessary to send both parents to the Asylum, leaving the little ones homeless will be very interested and glad to know that after several weeks of effort, provision is now made for them to enter the W. C. T. U. Home at Corvallis, and five happy little children left today on the early morning train en route for the Home.

After the father and mother were removed immediate effort was made to care for them with five girls Mary, aged fifteen, Besout separating them, and now the six, eleven, Madaline, ten, Josephine, eight, and Janie, four, are happily placed, where motherly care will be afforded food and raiment furnished and good school advantages given.

Through the efforts of the Red Cross the children were outfitted comfortably and a lunch was provided by Mrs. Schwein for their journey. The cakes were added by the O. E. S. and five little girls, anticipating with pleasure, their new home and school life.

Nothing in the way of usable clothing or money or food sent to the Home will help in the care of the helpless children, the first sent from Jackson county to this Home.

NO MORE CONCERTS SAYS BAND LEADER

The Band Concert of Wednesday evening which was undoubtedly the best and most varied of the season was also the last one according to Director Carl Loveland as next week the band has been secured to play at the Jackson County Fair and will be unable to give their regular concert.

The varied program offered Wednesday was especially good with Andy McCallum featuring in a Cornet Solo, which was very good and appreciated by every one who attended. The singing of the Lithian Octette with their original words of "Yes we have no GOOD liquor" a parody on "Yes we have no Bananas" was received with great applause and speaks worlds for the work of these songsters who had been together only a few times.

The playing of the old soldiers on their fife and drum tunes was patriotic to the extreme and received rounds of applause.

STATE CHAMBER HAS BOOSTERS CAMPAIGN

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 7.—(Special)—"Six Million Dollars for Advertising the Pacific Coast" is the title of a folder being mailed by the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce today to 8000 representative business men of the State.

The bulletin points out that every large city on the Pacific Coast has raised a fund for the exploitation of the potential resources of their territory, and that all the rail lines serving the west are spending literally millions in national advertising.

"This is Oregon's opportunity to cash in," says the message to the business men of the state.

When you support the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce you are helping to take advantage of the greatest advertising and publicity movement in the history of the Nation."

The thirty first annual convention of the Southern Oregon Soldiers and Sailors Association will be closed this evening with the program which the Ashland American Legion is putting on for the veterans of the Civil War and

The Petticoat Rule Extends to the Lady Herself

We won't forget the first dress we saw which followed this entirely new line—a skirt finished with one big flounce and topped with another: A shudder surged through us, a shudder of sorrow, for we thought the poor dear lady was living one of those night mares in which you emerge from the Ritz in your petticoat.

But then it really was the Ritz, and as she regarded herself with a quite alert satisfaction, we decided it must be all right. And it is. This sketch, just sent to us from Paris by Henri Crenage, the fashion expert, and gradually appearing models in the smartest shops, prove it.

The frock shown is of white braided Frostkrepe. The bodice swoops deeply on the right side and is gathered at the waist on the left in a covered buckle of the same material as the elongated collar—the Frostkrepe, not braided.

The two big flounces (pilot edged) are shirred fully to the skirt, and are of white Crepe Chenette. A very young frill of the same finishes the sleeve and runs up the cuff for a few inches.

Although only the edges show, it will have to be taken on faith that the broad sun hat is gracefully trimmed with a great white organdy bow on its upper deck.

their Auxiliaries which have been attending the convention here this week.

During the program yesterday the Association presented the schools of Ashland with a large American Flag with the understanding that it should be given to the school which needed it most.

The program tonight closes the week's convention but the meeting here next year will be much better planned and prepared for than the one this year, according to the officers as the meeting place is decided on and it is nearly a certainty that it will be held the first week in September next year.

The veterans plan to break camp early tomorrow morning and it is expected that the camp will be practically deserted by tomorrow evening.

PARENT TEACHERS ASSOCIATION MEET

Plans to raise funds for the building of a play shed at the Junior High school went forward with great impetus yesterday at the meeting of the Parent Teachers Association held at the Civic Club House.

Through the obligations pledged by the members of the association, $300 will be raised as the immediate quota needed for the erection of the building. There is at present $100 which is to be used in addition to the larger sum for this purpose, and the society is wondering where the remainder of the $1800 can be raised with speed and accuracy.

The Civic Club is in union with the Parent Teacher Association will sponsor the annual reception given for the teachers of all local schools. September 14 has been set as the date for the function. Sponsors of the affair will be announced later as all prominent school leaders are included.

The High school division of the Parent Teachers Association will be organized September 17, 1924 at the High school building. According to the president, there has never been an active association at the high school and because of the amount of work that can be converted by this division, much new undeveloped area lies before the officers.

Coach Walter Hughes gave an interesting talk on the constitution in honor of Constitution Day at the program yesterday afternoon. A piano solo by Miss Mary Baley was also given with unusual interpretation.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

SEASIDE ENTERTAINS LEGION CONVENTION

SEASIDE, Ore., Sept. 7.—This city by the sea is the mecca of thousands of visitors over the week-end with the state convention of the American Legion scheduled for September 6 and 7 and 8.

From the time that George R. Wilbur, of Hood River, state commander, raps for order Thursday morning at the opening business session until the last reveler has quieted late Saturday, the convention promises to have "something moving" all the while.

Delegations from over the entire state will be present in addition to the numerous week-end visitors who frequent the resort.

A special added attraction is the queen contest. Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, mermaids from various sections of the state will compete for three large trophies. Awards will be made on the following basis: form, 50 per cent; carriage, 15 per cent; costume, 25 per cent; and appearance, 10 per cent.

A big military parade will be held Friday morning under the personal direction of Adjutant General George A. White. Exact rifle matches will be held at Port Townsend and are open to members of any legion post, club or organization in the state. Medals and cups will be awarded to winners.

The Madri Gras celebration will be the grand finale of Saturday night and every conceivable noise producer is expected to make its appearance. Concert and septettes, music and entertainment will add to the color of the celebration.

Dr. Kate Waller Barrett, national president of the American Legion auxiliary, will be one of the distinguished visitors and principal speakers. Mrs. E. Stewart of Roseburg will preside over the auxiliary.

PROGRAM PREPARED FOR FAIR OPENING

Everything is in readiness for the Jackson County Fair, which opens Wednesday, September 12, for a four day exhibition of livestock, and agricultural products from a wide area and a four day racing and amusement program in addition to the exhibits. Ten thousand seven hundred dollars is the amount that has been spent this year in bettering the fair grounds and buildings that accommodated 23,000 people at the Jackson County Fair last year.

Seven racing events each day including harness races, running races and motorcycle and auto events will crowd the card for the racing fans. The harness entry list is crowded to such an extent according to Fair officials that the barns will have to be enlarged to house the horses if any further entries are made and already this year $1100 has been spent in enlarging the barns. A horse show will be a feature of each evening program and some of the finest horses on the coast will be shown.

EXPERT TO EXAMINE CHAUTAUQUA HALL

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chautauqua Association Tuesday it was decided to have C. R. Fountain of San Francisco who is one of the best Acoustical experts in the nation come and examine the Chautauqua building to see if there is any method by which the building can be improved so that a talk made from the platform can be heard throughout the building.

Mr. Fountain will be extended an invitation by the Board and it is possible that he may be here in the next week or two to examine the building.

The election of officers which was scheduled for the meeting Tuesday night was put off because of the fact that there was a rather small attendance and another meeting will be held in the near future subject to the call of Rev. Oldfield the President of the Association for this purpose.

The idea of turning the Chautauqua building over to the city was brought up at the meeting and discussed rather fully but no definite action was taken but according to the officers of the Chautauqua Association all life members and others interested should be out at the next meeting as definite action will probably be taken at that time.
