TALENT WATER FOR ASHLAND

City Commission Last Night Votes to Buy City's Supply From Irrigation Project

COMMISSION FORM OF GOVERNMENT ASKED

Warehouse Plans Ordered Drawn and Advertising for Bids for Construction to be Made

Two hundred millions gallons of water for Ashland, from the Talent irrigation project, or eight hundred acre feet of water was ordered to be purchased for the city by the council in its regular monthly meeting last night.

The decision to assure Ashland a volume of good water, from the source which is considered to be everlasting, was made after a written report of the probable sources of supply by City Engineer Walker, who recommended the Talent source as the most feasible, most direct and of unlimited duration. The city will enter into a contract with the Talent irrigation promoters for two hundred millions gallons of water each year for an unlimited time. This is the result of negotiations started last year. With the assurance of the completion of the Talent project City Engineer Walker decided that would be the best place to get the most water for the least expense. The resolution for entering into contract with the Talent company, specified the construction of the Talent reservoir must be started by 1924. Information from the development headquarters is the work will be started this winter, if at all practical, following the voting of the effected district.

The city council, after considerable discussion, decided to buy enough water for each year's use, to allow for considerable growth in the city of Ashland. In the meantime, there are many tracts of fine land which can very properly be put under irrigation close to and within the city's limits, from the surplus now. The council decided to exceed Engineer Walker's estimate of 600 acre feet of water, by a unanimous expression.

Commission Form Government

Dr. Brower presented to the council meeting the fact that he had a petition with two hundred names, requesting an election for a commission form of government for the city of Ashland. He asked the council to appoint a committee to investigate the commission form of government, and the charter for same for the city which has been prepared. After a short discussion of the best probable manner of procedure, it was decided to call a special meeting of the council, at which Dr. Brower's proposed charter could be discussed and that form of government given the council's undivided attention. The date for the special meeting will be announced later.

Warehouse

The proposition for building a municipal warehouse was acted upon after a general discussion as to the best kind of building to be erected. Estimates obtained from steel firms and architects, for a type of building suggested some time ago, one with a re-inforced concrete roof capable of sustaining another story, was found to be considerable in excess of first estimated cost. However, the council decided the necessity of a warehouse could not be delayed longer, and ordered plans and specifications prepared, and as soon as they are prepared that advertising for bids for construction of the building to be made immediately.

Mrs. C. W. Nims was appointed to library board, to take the place of Mrs. I. D. Leslie.

NO PEACHES SOLD ON SUNDAY

NASHVILLE, Ind., Oct. 3—John Dobbs has a fine peach crop. Motorists who drive by the Dobbs farm in large numbers on Sunday are tempted by the luscious peaches and attempt to make purchases. But Dobbs is not tempted.

"No, sir," he says, "I won't sell peaches or anything else on Sunday for all the money in the world. There are not enough automobiles in the world to haul money enough to get me to sell peaches on Sunday. It would be wrong. If all my orchard was piled as high as I could see with money I wouldn't sell a peach on Sunday. I wouldn't barter my soul for gold."

ASHLAND CARAVAN TO KLAMATH FALLS

Ashland's Chamber of Commerce to Invite Klamath Falls to Celebration in '24

On to Klamath Falls, is the slogan for Ashland, following the receipt of the invitations to help celebrate there Oct. 12 and 13.

President F. C. Homes, of the Chamber of Commerce, has appointed a committee of three, consisting of J. H. McGee, Louis Dodge, and V. D. Miller, to make arrangements for a delegation to Klamath Falls next week. It is hoped that a large number may be induced to take the trip in order to show our interest in the development of our sister city.

The development of the Klamath Falls country means the building up of all Southern Oregon with a larger home market, and a bigger Klamath Falls means a bigger Ashland, Chas. Howard, Ashland-Klamath Falls stage driver says the road is better now than at any time this season. Fifty miles of this end being macadamized and the recent rains having made the balance of the road much better. Special designations will be placed on each Ashland car, also each individual member of the caravan.

To Return Compliment

Ashland Chamber of Commerce will invite Klamath Falls to a great celebration in Ashland upon completion of Ashland-Klamath Falls Highway next season. One of the purposes of the caravan to Klamath Falls will be to extend an invitation to Klamath Falls to make a great occasion of the completion of the Green Springs Highway. Just when this will be accomplished is not definitely known, but it is the intention of the Chamber to obtain this information to plan for a real celebration of the event. President Homes and Secretary Fuller have signified their intention of joining the Caravan on October 11.

Professor Vining, president of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce, who is in Ashland today, states he expects to attend the Klamath Falls celebration next week and has been invited to assist in the staging of the big pageant.

ENGLISH "SOCIALISTS" FAVOR PREPAREDNESS

LONDON, Oct. 3—England has a Socialist organization that is not altogether and unalterably opposed to armies.

The Social Democrats Party has pronounced itself in favor of "Negative pacifism and no conscription."

And in favor of: "A democratic army for national defense.

"State production of armaments."

George Moore Bell, one of the leaders of the organization, says that while they "are not jingoists, they are not prepared to see their constitutional heritage, through which they hope to evolve a true social democracy, thrown away and subjected to the dominance of some autocrat of Europe."

HIGH SCHOOL WILL HAVE BAND

The High School Boys Band has been organized and is rehearsing regularly under the supervision of Carl Loveland. According to the director, prospects are as good and better than those of previous years for many old members, who are experienced and familiar with their work are members of the band, as well as several new members who have been added with the school year.

Enthusiasm is rampant and comment has been endless upon the ability of the director to produce harmony from the youths who have had no experience than that gained here. The high school is proud of their band and it is an institution which is growing in the esteem of the students.

Officers have been elected and the band will probably make its first public bust next Saturday when Ashland and Grants Pass football men meet on the local field.

EDDYVILLE, Ky., Oct. 3.—Prison Guard Hodge Cunningham, of the state penitentiary here, was killed and three other guards wounded in a battle today with convicts armed with automatic revolvers and barricaded in prison buildings. Three life termers still are in possession of the dining room and kitchen. Four gas guns and equipment of the Louisville police department are coming to help subdue the mutiny, while government engineers are constructing armor plate shields to protect the guards in their effort to rush the convicts in their stronghold. Hundreds of citizens with shotguns, rifles and pistols have surrounded the prison to prevent escape of the barricaded men, and all other prisoners are locked in their cells. The wife of Monte Walters, charged with being the ring leader, is believed to have smuggled the weapons to the convicts.

STING OF SNAKE-POISONED YELLOW JACKET IS NEARLY FATAL

WESTERVILLE, Cal., Oct. 3—George Swift, a miner of Mumford Bar, has won the nickname of "Yellow Jacket George" and considers himself lucky to be alive to answer to it, as result of a sting of a yellow jacket while on the trail from the American River to this place.

Swift was stung behind the right ear. He paid little heed until, in a few minutes, he was in the grip of a fainting spell. He fell unconscious shortly after. He was found by other miners and was rushed to Auburn.

A physician advanced the theory that the yellow jacket which stung Swift had been eating from the body of a rattlesnake, as the poison effects apparent all over Swift's body resemble those resulting from rattlesnake venom.

Swift's case recalls that of a Last Chance man several years ago, who was stung by a yellow jacket, one of a swarm he saw feeding on a snakes body, and died within twenty minutes.

The yellow jackets are numerous in the mountains this fall.

ENGLISH GIRLS FOUND MYSTERIOUSLY KILLED

SHEFFIELD, Eng., Oct. 2.—The whole community is puzzled at the death in a lake here recently of Ada Stone, 16, and Mary Wilks, who left their chums hilariously at 9 P. They left their coats and hats neatly arranged on the banks of the lake.

The new order is "Palms down!" It was first heard when gunmen held up, or down, members of the S. G. Independent Political Club recently. After taking $3,000 from their victims' pockets the holdup men forced the club members to sit on the floor while they made their exit.

Lithians Entertain

The Lithians entertained at the Hotel Ashland this noon with a dinner to the wives and other guests. Reports of the Lithian Octette on the state fair were given, and very much enjoyed for their wit. Professor Vining made a very sensible and laudatory talk of five or six minutes to the Lithians on "Town Boosting." None of the Lithians, single ones, presented a wife at the luncheon as they were invited to yesterday by E. D. Miller.

Ignorance isn't bliss when a man has to make his mark in the world because of his inability to write his name.

TRIGONIA TEST WELL MAY BE GOOD ONE

Visit of Several Ashland Men to Well Yesterday Gives Great Hopes For Oil

"It looks good" was the expression E. E. Phipps used this morning as to the oil test being drilled near Phoenix, called the Trigonina well, after a visit there yesterday with other Ashland men who are interested in the development.

The well is down 2,380 feet, drilled thru the cap rock and just into the sand, with a strong flow of sulphur water, oil and gas. The water stood in the well better than half full, with considerable oil on top. The next step in the well's history will be under-reaming for eight hundred feet, and running of pipe to case out the water, after which the well will be drilled in, and if entirely favorable may be shot later to break up the sand bed and allow an oil flow.

MMAMMOTH WILL START SMELTER NEXT MONTH

KENNETT, Cal., Oct. 3—The Mammoth Copper Co.'s smelter, which was shut down in May, 1919, will be started up early next month. This is the prediction made by O. J. Eggleston, general manager, who says 300 men are on the payroll now. The work of repairing at the mines and smelter and putting the transportation system in shape has been going on for over two months.

Ore extraction has been resumed at the Mammoth Mine, but only in a small way. Capacity production will not be undertaken until the smelter is ready to start. The smelter has three furnaces. The bagged, an all-essential factor in handling the smoke, is being put in better shape than ever before, for during the period of shutdown important improvements have been made. The gravity tramline from mine to smelter is now ready for service.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 3—After spending two days in a five-foot ditch, with all four feet stuck up in the air like an old-fashioned four-post bed, "Jim," a flea bitten bay horse, is today back at the home of his owner.

The animal was snaked out of the ditch with an automobile wrecker. "Jim's" owner, Joe Robinson, a negro, says "Jim" is as much a member of the family as one of the pickaninnies and declares he had searched the city over for the horse before he was found in a sewer ditch in an alley.

FINE CONCORD GRAPES

Amos Dahuff, 440 Palm Avenue, pleased the Tidings office this morning with a small basket to very fine concord grapes, grown on his home lots. The grapes are fine quality, good size, and of delicious flavor. This is one more demonstration of what concords, as well as tokays, will do in Ashland valley's fertile soil. "A DAY IN SISKIYOU"

The Chamber of Commerce has just received the balance of the last edition of the beautifully illustrated book, "A Day in Siskiyou," written by Frank J. Hanley, former governor of Indiana, well known statesman and author. This is the most elaborate publication concerning any part of the state of Oregon. While dealing with Ashland, especially and the surrounding community, it is of interest to every lover of Oregon. With the exhaustion of this supply it will be impossible to obtain any more of these books, as the plates have been destroyed. The low price at which these are offered makes it certain they will not last long.
