MOTHER, HOW CAN WE?

One of the items in very small space in the daily newspapers a day or so ago was headed "Would End War," in telling the hope of American War Mothers in convention at Kansas City, Missouri. But Mothers, how can we?

There are brutal, bullying nations in the world, just the same as bullying, brutal boys. Mother may not like to see her son come home all black of eye, busted nose and wrecked teeth, from combat with the town bully for the privilege of retaining his rights and freedom of action which the bully has tried to suppress; but she glories in her son's spunk and prowess. Fighting by boys potentially is charged with the element of murder, even. And, in war death and misery assuredly is certain to some if guns, bombs or gas are exploded. As long as some nations persist in being bullies, not to say oppressors, or violators of sacred treaties, just so long will war always be the possibility and probability of humanity's fate periodically. While the American Mother deplures war and grieves at the loss of sons, yet she glories in valor and bravery of these sons, in maintaining and preserving the inalienable rights gained to America by the sacrifices made by the heroes of the Revolutionary War, and since. None can blame the American War Mothers for wanting to end war, and desire that a "treaty of justice" and fair dealing among all nations should be written. In time to come Mothers will have preached this gospel of justice to all the world and converted the ignorant and brutal, greedy and avaricious, the tyrant, despot and oppressor to the economic and social advantages of prolonging life, and the real essence of universal comity in "love thy neighbor as thyself." In the meantime, Mother's, the love of vice against virtue, dishonesty against truth, brutality against kindness, goes on. As all these emotions are vested in animosity, men and women are on one side or the other for evil or good, battling continually. Sometimes its a small war of police or county or federal officers against bandits and murders. Then again it spreads to nations.

MAY BE AN ACCOMPLICE

We don't know into whose inkspot the Medford Tribune dips its "Quill Points" but, the angles to be studied in the following, "curves of another man's wife delight him, but he wants his own wife square," are worth deep thought. It has something to do with the divorce records. Use some introspection and see if the case hits home.

LAUGH WITH US

Dr. Abernethy, the famous surgeon, was a man of few words, but he once met his match—in a woman. She called at his surgery in Edinburgh and showed him a hand badly inflamed and swollen. The following dialogue, opened by the doctor, took place:

"Burns?"
"Bruise."
"Poultice."

The next day the woman called again, and the dialogue was as follows:

"Better?"
"Worse."

Two days later the woman made another call, and this conversation occurred:

"Better?"
"Well, Fee?"

"Nothing," exclaimed the doctor. "Most sensible woman I ever met."—Exchange.

HAD A SHOT, BROTHER

"The Portland doctor, who has discovered a drug that banishes Fear," exclaims the Medford Tribune, "ought to pour out a good big shot, for that section of the press of the state that wrote spineless editorials on 'The Value of a Smile' and 'The Glory of the Dying Year' when the fundamentals of Americanism were, and are, imperilled by the Ku Klux Klan frenzy and fanaticism." Come down to Ashland Monday night brother, there is to be a Klan lecture. It may be the chance of a life time to get theinspiration to thrill the nation with an editorial.

It is far more pleasant to preach than to practice. That's why the minority practice.

Mrs. T. J. Coleman and Mrs. Ralph Pollock visited Ashland friends yesterday from Medford.

To Strengthen Panama Canal Defenses

WASHINGTON.—Various means of strengthening the defenses of the Panama canal are suggested in an official Navy department critique, prepared as a result of a study of last year's maneuvers in Panama bay. "In drawing up their estimates," says the critique, "both commanders considered the possibility of blocking the canal by an attack in force on the Pacific side defenses and locks." This situation, coupled with other acts developed during the maneuvers, led the naval experts to reach rather definite decisions as to the future needs of national defense in that quarter. The official critique concludes as follows: "Some of the benefits to be gained from this problem can be summarized in certain conclusions as follows: "There are certain well-defined weaknesses in the Panama canal defenses—these are: "Susceptibility of certain vital parts to damage by bombs carried by aircraft. "Grouping of the coast defense artillery too close together to prevent attacking vessels which have once gained control of the sea and air from reaching positions that will permit firing on the Miraflores locks. "Lack of sufficient aircraft in canal defenses to insure immunity from attack by enemy bombers should a base be obtained within striking distance. "The need for improving our fleet communications, both radio and visual. "The necessity for balancing our fleet by the addition of: "(a) Scouting cruisers. "(b) Destroyer leaders. "The necessity for having a sustained speed of at least 12 knots for: "(a) Fleet submarines. "(b) All auxiliaries that will accompany the fleet. "The necessity for more maneuvers of this nature for fleet training. "The necessity of denying to any possible enemy a base within aircraft striking distance of the canal. "The desirability of studying the question of establishing by suitable treaties, aircraft base or bases at points within striking distance of the canal. "The necessity for looking ahead as to the probable and possible developments in submarines and aircraft."

NEW ACCESSORIES REFLECT THE TREND OF FASHION

EVERYTHING in clothes points to a dressy season ahead—even tailored frocks have taken on decorative features, in metallic braids and metal touches in embroidery, that seem to have strayed from their logical sphere of usefulness. Jewelry is universally worn, especially costume jewelry, and all other accessories of dress find themselves in demand. Elaboration is the theme that runs through all melodies of the mode and it is reflected in accessories and in lingerie. In the latter there are new and unfamiliar forms of decorative embroidery, but the little embellishments made of ribbons—the narrow, colored, metal-edged ribbons, are the first decorations to be broadcasted. They are made up in rocco effects and are novel, inexpensive, pretty. They may be planned on with tiny safety pins and changed from one garment to another and they make irresistible finishing touches to dainty combinations, night dresses or camisoles like that shown in the picture. This alluring affair is made of narrow pink satin ribbon and val lace in alternating rows, stitched together and set on to a wash satin body. Ribbons also inspire many new accessories, including a majority of girdles and sashes for afternoon and evening costumes. Satin ribbon, in three tones of yellow, is used for the girdle shown, made of many petals. Light yellow, old gold and Eldorado orange combine to make this rich affair which may be studded with tiny roses made of ribbon or of gold tissue. This girdle is beautiful in many other colors as fuchsia, green or blue. Another girdle, at the top of the group of accessories pictured, is made of silk, covered with beads in several colors. The lightest beads form disks centered with brilliant cabochons. America is importing many beaded novelties from Europe, among them bags of small, glass beads, painstakingly put on to a foundation. One of these bags is shown at the left of the picture.

FAMOUS FRENCH RECIPES
Peach Punch
PARIS, Oct. 6.—The country of good wines and other drinks also makes a mild peach punch which can be freely taken by American teetotalers.
First cut into halves and stone twelve ripe peaches. Put into a pint of boiling water, cover and withdraw from the fire. In a moment peel the peaches, mash them and pour over boiling water. Cover and let stand for thirty minutes.
Pass through a large sieve without pressing them very much and add about two-thirds pound of sugar, the juice of a lemon and a pint of water. Mix well and pass through a smaller sieve.
Put on ice until ready to serve. The French chef says a dash of maraschino adds much to the drink.

RENO GARAGE MAN HEAD OF THEFT RING
RENO, Nev., Oct. 5.—With the arrest recently of Gilbert Smith, local garage owner, and R. Robson, the Reno police believe they have captured the head of a state-wide automobile theft ring.
Smith is charged with grand larceny and Robson is held in connection with the case. Chief of Police Kirkley says Smith has confessed and that a complete body-building plant, bills of sale, dies for changing number on engines and parts of several machines were found in the garage. The plant is believed to explain the disappearance of several automobiles in this section in the past year.

Could This Happen to You
An automobilist injured a man with his car. The injured man demanded a large sum in damages. The automobilist considered his demands unreasonable and refused to pay.
The next day the claimant filed suit against him for $25,000 and attached his bank account and property until it was settled.
It cost the automobilist $15,000 and court costs to remove this attachment!
A $15,000 Travelers Automobile Policy would have saved this man all that worry and expense!
