Surprise Party—
One of the happiest affairs in the annals of Bellview neighborhood, occurred on Tuesday evening of this week.

The lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gottsche was invaded by a host of their friends who came on pleasure bent.

The latch string was out—the keys of the domicile given them, and these good friends took possession.

What a happy evening was theirs. Games, friendly visit and jollity reigned supreme until at a late hour, the most delicious ice-cream, cake, and coffee were served by the visiting hostesses and the guests of the evening did full justice to the satisfying viands provided.

Lingering goodnights were spoken and as the goodbys were said, all felt that this occasion would stand as one of those never-to-be-forgotten gatherings that would be uneffaced as long as memory lasts.

No need to add that Mr. and Mrs. Gottsche were surprised and altogether happy in this demonstration of the love and esteem in which they are held by their neighbors and friends, and to them it marks an unforgettable event.

Dinners Given for Guests—

Mr. George S. Klink of San Francisco, Supt. of Steamer Commissary of the S. P., is a house guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Wolf, of B. Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolf have been host and hostess at a number of very pleasant affairs for their visitor, among which might be mentioned two delightful dinner parties at which there were other distinguished guests.

On Tuesday of this week Mr. and Mrs. George A. Hunt of Medford were dinner guests to meet Mr. Klink and on Wednesday Mr. C. H. Collier of Oakland, California, and Mr. R. C. Bridge were special guests at dinner.

The dinner was charmingly planned and the enjoyment enhanced by the most thrilling after-dinner tales of the hunt for big game, from which Mr. Collier and Mr. Bridge have but just returned.

Mr. Collier and Mr. Bridge left San Francisco in their own car, travelling by motor to Vancouver, B. C. From Vancouver, they took a boat, going some distance north, where they engaged a car, and travelled, perhaps two hundred miles or more into the interior.

The hunt then began, and their efforts were rewarded in the bringing down of some fine specimen of big game. They have to their credit, bear, moose and elk and the six weeks' trip in the hunting grounds of the Canadian Rockies was to them, and to those who were privileged to hear their adventures (and there were adventures in plenty) a most thrilling and one not soon forgotten.

Mr. Klink will remain for some time with Mr. and Mrs. Wolf, before returning to his home in San Francisco.

Many Relatives Visit—
Miss Walter's return to Portland which has been noted in a recent issue reminds one of the fact that this has been a summer, made memorable in the Russell home and those of the Hill Clan by a family gathering of more than ordinary completeness.

At the time of the June reunion there were almost a hundred relatives gathered here from Seattle to far away Georgia, and during the summer others have come and gone, visiting in the different homes.

In the Russell home, where Miss Walter was a guest there have been forty-three relatives as guests during the past three months and Mrs. Russell counts it as the happiest of her life and filled with most wonderful memories.

Miss Walter has been here a few weeks and but lately returned to her home in Portland. She assumes immediately her duties as Y. W. C. A. secretary in Vancouver, Washington. While here she has been of much assistance in the S. S. institutes that have been held in a number of places lately.

She also appeared on the program at the county S. S. convention.

of its members.
The next meeting is at Mrs. Haberly's on Fifth St. with Mrs. Haberly hostess.

House Guests from Newport—
Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Ashcraft, Sr. have as house guests Mr. and Mrs. George Ashcraft and little daughter Eloise from Newport, Oregon, who have come home for a few days' visit.

This is Miss Eloise's first visit to Ashland and her numerous relatives will unite to make it a pleasant one. Mr. and Mrs. Ashcraft have a number of relatives and a host of friends that will see that their days are filled with all sorts of happy times.

Rainbow Class Have Party—
The Rainbow Class of the Presbyterian S. S. held a business meeting and social evening at the home of their teacher Mrs. H. W. Andrews, Thursday evening of this week.

The regular business of the class was disposed of earlier in the evening; the constitution completed and adopted and the election of officers for the ensuing three months occurred, resulting in Miss Esther Greer, vice-president; and Miss Esther Jackson, secretary.

Music, visiting and agood time generally occupied the time of the “party” part of the evening till refreshments were served and good nights said.

It was decided also at the business meeting that the regular time of this meeting should be either Tuesday or Thursday evenings depending on the school work.

This class have a very definite aim and have definite plans and expect to really accomplish results. This was the first meeting of the year and it was very important.

Those present were: the Misses Katherine Pittenger, Rosie Hake, Delphine Sackett, Pearl Wardle, Esther Counter and Esther Jackson. Mrs. J. R. Robertson, a former teacher of some of the girls enjoyed the evening with them.

House Guests at the Wardle's—

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Wardle are enjoying a visit this week from Mrs. Wardle's sister and her husband, and from her father.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Cline and Mr. W. S. Schaefer motored up from Sacramento, and will spend some time visiting their relatives here in Ashland.

Miss Pearl Wardle spent most of her vacation at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Cline, and only returned late in the summer.

The hours will be filled with plans for the delightful visit and they hope for sunny days to properly display Ashland's attractiveness.

October Shower—

The “October Shower” of books asked for in a recent issue of the Tidings met with a generous response immediately.

The first to respond were Mrs. T. K. Bolton, Church St. and Mrs. J. S. Howard of Bellview.

The copies given will help wonderfully but more are yet needed and the request is again made, that those who have copies of any of those particularly mentioned in a previous paragraph that they feel they can spare, the donation will be greatly appreciated by the librarian and by the pupil in need of the book.

Perhaps it was not clear that these books become a part of the library and would go on doing good to other children who perhaps will do this same collateral reading next semester.

Visitors from California—

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bird, who had been spending the past month in Washington at the home of Mr. Bird's brother stopped to visit at the homes of the different members of the Andrews' families en route north and also on the way southward to their home in Long Beach.

The Bird's usually visit in Ashland every year as they make their annual journey to Minn., the old home, and this was no exception to the usual order.

They spent Thursday in Medford at the Wheeler's and on Friday were at the home of Mrs. H. W. Andrews on Church Street.

Mr. Bird and the late Mr. Andrews were boyhood friends and the families have always kept in touch and had frequent reunions.

Bridge Club Meets—

The Bridge Club met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. T. P. Franco on Third Street. Mrs. Selma Gray was the gracious hostess of this evening. Three tables of bridge were played and the time was filled to the full with the most thorough enjoyment as seems the habit in this organization of congenial friends. Mrs. T. P. Franco's skill was rewarded in the securing of the first prize and the consolation was awarded to Mrs. F. R. Brown. At a late hour the most delicious refreshments were served by the attentive hostess. This Bridge Club meets regularly every fortnight and at the homes
